

PUNJAB POLICE RULES

VOLUME 3

CHAPTER 21

Preventive and Detective Organization

21.1. Principles of the Criminal Law and Police Organization. - The Criminal law of India and the Police organization, which is based upon it, are both founded on the principle that public order depends essentially upon the responsibility of every member of the community within the law to prevent offences and to arrest offenders. The magisterial and police organization is set up to enforce, control and assist this general responsibility. This fundamental principle must be thoroughly understood and borne constantly in mind by police officers of all ranks, but more especially by gazetted officers and upper subordinates.

Instructions as to the general relations between police officers and Magistrates are contained in Chapter I of these Rules and some further detailed instructions are placed in this chapter. The ideal to be aimed at in respect of relations with the public is that every police officer, of whatever rank, should be regarded by every law-abiding person as a wise and impartial friend and a protector against injury to his person and property. In proportion as this ideal is approached, the police will receive the information and assistance which they need, in order to combat crime successfully. When confidence and co-operation are lacking, private persons and village officials resort to connivance at crime and to seeking redress for their own losses through treaty with criminals; the police are isolated in their efforts to prevent and detect offences, and can hope for but a small measure of success.

The proper relations between the police and the public in a district depend primarily upon the personal attitude of the Superintendent, and the example set by him and enforced upon his subordinates. The most important duties of a Superintendent are to know the people of his district and to know what his subordinates are doing. Such knowledge can only be gained by the fullest personal accessibility, activity in touring, thorough and intelligent supervision and a sympathetic interest in the life of the district and the facts and difficulties of the work of his own men. He must inspire confidence in his subordinates, as well as in the public. While alert to check tyranny, dishonesty and other abuses by his subordinates, he must be as accessible to them as to non-officials, and ready at all times to help them in their difficulties and support them against the evil influences, which they have to face. This should be the attitude of all supervising officers. They should ensure direct access to themselves unimpeded by their subordinates, and must be ready to give a patient hearing to all complaints and grievances, but must avoid creating any impression of spying which would destroy the confidence and undermine the authority of their officers.

21.2. Ilaqa Magistrate Relations with. - The relations between the Ilaqa Magistrate and the police officers with whom he has to deal should be both cordial and intimate, and every opportunity shall be taken to keep him informed of the state of crime in his ilaga. Conferences between magistrates and police officers, at which difficulties on either side can be discussed and remedies devised, should be encouraged; police officers coming in with chalans should take the opportunity of obtaining an interview with the Ilaqa magistrate and discussing with him the state of crime in their jurisdictions; and prosecuting officers, who form a valuable link between the investigating officer and the magistracy, should be instructed to pass on to magistrates any information of interest or importance regarding criminal matters on which they may be aware. When a magistrate visits the local area of a police station, the sub-inspector should make an effort to attend at his camp and should offer his assistance as well as discuss with him all matters concerning crime. It is, however, not intended that, in such cases, the Sub-Inspector should leave important duties in order to remain in attendance throughout the tour.

21.3. Zaildars, Inamdars, Headmen and village watchmen. - (1) The conditions of appointment and removal, and the duties and remuneration of zaildars, inamdars, and headmen are set forth in the Land Revenue Rules (see Land Revenue Rule 9) with which gazetted and upper subordinate police officers should be familiar. While these village officials have many duties besides those connected with the suppression of crime, capacity to assist the criminal administration is one of the factors considered in making appointments, and failure in this duty is a ground for removal from office or forfeiture of emoluments. In the case of headmen, definite duties in respect of reporting and preventing offences are prescribed by the Criminal Procedure Code, and the Land Revenue Rules (see Land Revenue Rules 16 and 20) require them to attend the summons of all officers having jurisdiction in the estate in which they are appointed; to assist all Government officials in the execution of their public duties; to supply information; to assist, if so ordered by the Collector, in the provision on payment of supplies or transport to Government officers on duty, and generally to represent the people of their estates in their relations with Government. Zaildars and inamdars are required by the Land Revenue Rules to report to the police heinous crime and the presence in the jail of bad characters; to assist in prevention, investigations and arrests; see to that headmen perform their duties properly; to notify all orders of Government in their jails and to obey all such orders as require their personal obedience to exert their influence to secure within their jails prompt obedience to all orders of Government; to abstain from interference in litigation, except under orders of Government; to assist all Government officers in the execution of their duties, to supply them with information and to attend them when they visit their jails.

(2) It is the duty of gazetted police officers and inspectors to take particular note of the work of zaildars, inamdars and headmen. These officials should be encouraged in the performance of their duties and suitably rewarded when they do well; serious or persistent neglect of duty should be brought to the notice of the Superintendent, and by him to that of the District Magistrate. In the periodical inspections of police stations mention shall always be made of the degree of assistance received by the police from the zaildars and other village officials of the jurisdiction, and of particularly meritorious work or noteworthy dereliction of duty on the part of individuals.

(3) Gazetted officers should, from time to time, record remarks in the books kept for the purpose by zaildars and inamdars regarding the extent to which such officials fulfil the purpose of their appointment in so far as the police are concerned. Notes may also appropriately be made by gazetted officers in the police station minute book (Register No. 13) and in Part IV of Village Crime Books regarding particular zaildars, inamdars and headmen.

(4) The village watchman, or chaukidar, is a village servant whose chief duty is the watch and ward of the village. He is required to carry reports for the headman, to assist him in tracing offenders and to make arrests as authorized by law. He is responsible to the District Magistrate for the due performance of his duties.

Chaukidars are also the agency for the reporting of births and deaths occurring in the rural tracts. For the purpose of recording vital statistics they attend at the police station within the jurisdiction of which their villages are situated at certain appointed times, and these occasions are made use of to disseminate items of news and orders connected with the preventive and detective duties of the village officers.

The rules regarding the appointment, dismissal, powers, duties and responsibilities of watchmen are framed by Government under Section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act of 1872.

21.4 Duties of Police under local and special laws. - Many of the most important and most frequently exercised functions of the police derive from local and special laws. In some case powers so derived have been specially referred to in different chapters of these rules, but, irrespective of such references, a knowledge of the provisions of all local and special laws, more or less comprehensive according to the duties of his rank, is required to every trained police officer.

The constitution of the Police Force itself rests on a special law, the Police Act (V of 1861). The administration of the Excise Act, in co-operation with officials of the Excise Department, is one of the most important of the duties of the police. Under this Act, all police officers of and above the rank of head constable are invested with the powers of excise officers 1st class, and all constables with those of excise officers, 3rd class. The control of crime, especially in rural areas, depends largely upon the Punjab Laws Act, the Registration of Habitual Offenders Act and the Criminal Tribes Act. The Arms Act contains cognizable offences of first class importance, and imposes on the police important duties in connection with the inspection of licences. The Cantonment and Municipal Act impose very extensive and varied duties upon police officers serving in areas to which they apply in relation to the enforcement of bye-laws of all sorts. The powers and duties of the police in relation to fires also emanate from the Municipal Act. The same Act, together with the Hackney Carriage Act, Indian Motor Vehicles Act, Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act and certain sections of the Indian Penal Code give to the police all their powers in relation to the control of traffic. The Indian Extradition Act governs the dealings of the police in respect of criminals with Indian States. Many other Acts give powers or impose duties in respect of arrests, custody, search and inspection in relation to particular classes of offence.

21.5. Absconders and Harbourers. - (1) A vital factor in both the detection and prevention of crime is the execution of the law in respect of absconding and harbouring. The provisions of the law are adequate to prevent both these offences but their proper and comprehensive administration demands the constant attention of Magistrates and supervising police officers. The absence or prevalence of absconding and harbouring are among the acid tests of the efficiency of the criminal administration. Instructions as to the taking out and execution of warrants when persons, whose arrest is required, are not immediately found, are contained in rule 26.5. This is the first essential. Under Section 87, Code of Criminal Procedure, any Court may at any time issue a proclamation against a person for whose arrest that court has issued a warrant. All that is necessary is that the court should be satisfied, not necessarily by evidence, that the said person "has absconded or is concealing himself so that such warrant cannot be executed". The court may further at any time after proclamation "order the attachment of any property, moveable or immovable, or both, belonging to the proclaimed person". The period of thirty days mentioned in Section 87, Code of Criminal Procedure, is that within which the absconder is called upon to surrender, it imposes no delay on the issue of attachment orders. The issue of a proclamation under Section 87, Code of Criminal Procedure, renders liable to the penalties of Section 216, Indian Penal Code, any one who gives to the person proclaimed any assistance of the nature described in Section 52-A, Indian Penal Code.

(2) The action prescribed in rule 26.5 for obtaining a warrant of arrest shall be taken by the police immediately they have grounds for making such arrest. Every reasonable efforts to execute such warrant shall then be taken. If such efforts fail, the court which issued the warrant must be satisfied that the warrant cannot be executed; evidence of the guilt of the wanted man in the offence under investigation is not required. When a proclamation order has been obtained, the police are bound to publish that order as required by Section 87(2), Code of Criminal Procedure. Immediately this has been done the requirements of Section 87(3), Code of Criminal Procedure, shall be complied with. Thereupon, the person wanted becomes a "proclaimed offender" and the rules in Chapter XXIII regarding the entry of such person's name in the surveillance register, list of proclaimed offenders, notices to village headmen and watchmen of all places where he has connections or which he is likely to visit etcetera shall be forthwith complied with.

(3) The procedure of search under warrant and proclamation shall be carried out in every case in which a wanted person cannot be immediately arrested without warrant by the investigating officer. Discretion may be exercised by both the police and magistrates whether to proceed with attachment of property under Section 88, Code of Civil Procedure. In every case, where there is danger of more crime resulting from an absconder remaining at large an attachment order shall be immediately applied for. The police are not authorized to carry out attachment, but it is the duty of the prosecuting branch to see that the necessary orders issued from the court without any delay, and of the officer conducting the investigation to take steps to prevent the improper alienation of attachable property by fictitious mortgage or sale. For this purpose lists of such property should be made, as part of the investigation, and attached to the police file of the case, and the village headman concerned should be directed to report any attempt at alienation or removal pending the issue of attachment orders. The lists of property prepared by the investigating officer, attested by competent witnesses, should be put into court with the application for an attachment order.

(4) To prevent harbouring, without which no absconder can remain at large, thorough publicity in regard to the issue of a warrant and subsequent proclamation order is essential. If this receives proper attention, the defence of ignorance is denied to the person who can be proved to have rendered any sort of assistance to an absconder.

21.6. Reports and records. - In order that continuity in the method of administration outlined in rule 21.1 may not be lost owing to changes of personnel, the proper maintenance of those reports, records and notes which review the history of the criminal administration of a district, or from which information regarding individuals and past events may be obtained, is essential. The details given below shall, among others, find a place in this note-book, each successive Superintendent adding to and revising, in his own notes, the information on record; and Deputy Inspectors-General shall, at their inspections, examine the books and comment on the adequacy or otherwise of the notes recorded. Noteworthy features in the monthly statistics shall be commented upon, and references shall be made to the progress and development of any special measures for combating crime. The briefer a report is the better, if it includes all that is necessary to show an intelligent comprehension of the meaning of the facts and figures and of the salient features of the year's work. The object of the report is to state what has been done rather than to suggest what should be done. Matters of the latter nature should be reported in separate official letter. Any such comment or suggestion which is considered necessary in the annual report should be as brief as possible, especially where the matter is complicated or controversial.

At meetings at which inflammatory speeches are considered likely, arrangements shall also be made to have official and non-official witnesses present who may be available in the event of the prosecution of any of the speakers being undertaken.

When meetings are obviously of importance in connection with a particular form of agitation or when the speeches at them appear to be actionable, a detailed report shall be sent immediately to the Assistant to the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, with a list of the official and non-official witnesses present. All public meetings can, therefore, be attended by police reporters, but as the right of entry may at times be questioned or even forcibly resisted by the organizers. It is important, when such tactics are apprehended, that a sufficient body of police in uniform should be deputed to discourage opposition. Recourse may also be had to the procedure enacted in Chapter III of the Punjab Criminal Law (Amendment) Act III of 1932.

21.20 Reports of fairs and festivals. - (1) Every Superintendent in whose district any fairs or public assemblies of importance are to take place shall, on the 1st December in each year, submit a list of such fairs and assemblies for the year next ensuing, with the date or dates on which they will be held, to the Inspector-General for publication in the Police Gazette.

To this end such officers must know the persons who take the lead in such matters, and the attitude towards them of men of influence. As soon as any such movement shows signs of developing on lines which are likely to cause animosity between sections of the people and breaches of the peace, or to be otherwise clearly subversive of law and order, the Superintendent, in consultation with the District Magistrate, shall take such action as may be most appropriate to the occasion; but when the activity is political rather than communal and no orders of Government cover the case, ordinarily, a reference should be made to Government before measures to check it are set in motion. Police officers of all ranks are required to refrain absolutely from personal participation in political or communal affairs; they are not concerned with the merits of such controversies, but solely with the maintenance of the public peace. In the category of personal participation, however, acquaintance and maintenance of touch with communal leaders is not included. Relations of this kind may help Superintendents and other gazetted police officers to prevent the development of communal trouble and the occurrence of open disputes, and may enable them on occasions to bring leaders together with salutary results for the settlement of minor causes of friction, with which the District Magistrate need not be troubled in their initial stages.

(4) Whenever a licence is granted for a procession there shall, if possible, be a plan of the route on the back of licence. All licences granted shall be in Form 21.22(4).

(5) The Superintendent shall not grant a licence for an important public religious procession of a novel character or on an occasion when public feeling is excited, without taking the orders of the District Magistrate.

(6) When a procession other than one of regularly exercised custom is allowed to take place any sums necessary to defray the cost of barriers, additional police and the carriage of such police shall be deposited with the Superintendent by the managers of such processions before the licence is granted.

21.23. Press advertisements. - (1) The newspapers press shall be used as a medium both for advertising police regulations affecting the public and for enlisting the assistance of the public in the investigation of crime.

In both classes of publicity referred to in this rule, press advertising shall be supplemented, when considered advisable, by posters for affixing to notice boards and leaflets for wholesale distribution. Advertising shall be in English or vernacular or both, as may be most appropriate in each case.

(2) The charges for the publication of Government advertisements in newspapers shall be met from police contract contingencies. With regard to the printing of posters and leaflets the instruction contained in rule 11.57(3) should be followed.

The Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, shall decide in each such case whether he can comply with the request of the Superintendent of Police.

21.28. Status of Criminal Investigation Department Officers in investigations. -

(1) The Criminal Investigation Department has no separate jurisdiction and can only investigate under the cover of a First Information Report registered at a police station having jurisdiction. The Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, may decide to take over the control of any particular investigation himself or to depute one or more of his officers to work directly under the control of the Superintendent of Police of the district concerned. In either case the latter officer has the right to be kept fully informed of the progress of the investigation. All case diaries written by officers of the Criminal Investigation Department shall be forwarded to the gazetted officer of the Criminal Investigation Department under whom they are working through the Superintendent of Police, advance copies being sent direct if so ordered.

(2) When dealing with cases in conjunction with the district police, officers of the Criminal Investigation Department must bear in mind that it is indispensable to gain the confidence and goodwill of the local police and to avoid giving cause for jealousy.

(3) When good results are obtained full credit must be given to district police officers for any share they may have had in the work and, when results are unsatisfactory, care must be taken not to criticise the local police unfairly.

(4) All recommendations, made by officers of the Criminal Investigation Department for rewards for exceptionally good work done in cases wholly or partly investigated by officers of the Criminal Investigation Department shall invariably be submitted to the Deputy Inspector-General through the Superintendent of the district concerned who may add any recommendation or remarks he may consider necessary.

21.29. Criminal Investigation Department - no control over district police. - Officers of the Criminal Investigation Department shall have no control or executive authority over the district police except in an emergency and within the powers vested in them by their rank in the provincial police force.

All matters affecting the discipline of or rewards to, and complaints against, the district police, shall be referred by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, to the Deputy Inspector-General of Police of the range concerned.

21.30. Prosecution of cases investigated by the Criminal Investigation Department. - The consent of the Deputy Inspector-General, Criminal Investigation Department, shall be obtained before an officer of the department is presented as a witness in court. Criminal Investigation Department officers shall advise and assist the district in-investigating and prosecuting officers in the conduct in court of cases in the investigation of which they have shared.

21.31. Rules of the Criminal Investigation Department. - The full rules of the Criminal Investigation Department are contained in the Manual of that department.

21.32. Circumstances in which Criminal Investigation Department can assist investigating officers. - The Criminal Investigation Department is in possession of special apparatus and its officers include those accustomed to the handling of certain branches of police technique. Investigating district police officers and Superintendents of Police should remember, therefore that the Criminal Investigation Department is in a position to give assistance in circumstances such as are described below :-

- (a) the reconstruction of faded writing;
- (b) the examination of arms and bullets used in crime;
- (c) the examination of minutiae such as hairs, pieces of skin, dust, etc.;
- (d) the solution of ciphers;
- (e) the examination of forged documents, counterfeit coins and moulds;
- (f) the photographing of important documents;
- (g) the interrogation of suspects from other provinces;
- (h) the connection of local suspects with suspects of other districts or provinces;
- (i) when an opinion on handwriting is required to assist the investigation;
- (j) where invisible inks are suspected to have been used.

Such matters shall only be referred to the Criminal Investigation Department in important cases when other evidence sufficient for the purpose of the case concerned is not forthcoming. In important cases the Criminal Investigation Department will enlist the aid of scientific persons outside the police department.

The department is also ready, when circumstances permit, to assist district police officers with technical advices on the spot as to the discovery and preservation of clues at the scene of crimes and can sometimes loan apparatus and qualified operators thereof for these and similar purposes.

21.33. Officers of Criminal Investigation Department to report to Superintendent of Police. - Ordinarily, when an officer of the Criminal Investigation Department is sent to a district to take up enquiries, and invariably, when he is sent to investigate a case, he will take within him a letter addressed to the Superintendent of Police, or senior officer present at headquarters, describing the nature of the work on which he is sent and, when necessary, asking for his assistance. When directed to do so he will also call on the District Magistrate.

21.34. Organization of police in towns and cities. - (1) In each district the Superintendent of Police shall issue standing orders regulating the point and beat duty to be carried out in each town and cantonment for which police establishment is provided. These orders shall be in accordance with the principles set forth in rule 2.2(2) and shall be revised as often as may be necessary to meet variations in the local incidence of crime, development of new residential or commercial areas, increase in establishment and the like. The division between the investigation and clerical staff and the watch and ward staff shall be maintained as far as is practicable, though inter-change of duties should be made. Men, even though qualified, should not be employed on the investigation staff while posted to the watch and ward staff, except in cases of emergency, as such employment must detract from the efficiency of the watch and ward system.

- (2) The success of a system of watch and ward in a town or city will depend on -
 - (a) the discipline of the men on beat the patrol duties;
 - (b) the extent to which the men have been instructed in their duties;
 - (c) the amount of supervision exercised by supervisor officers. Superintendents of Police must therefore arrange that, in addition to the standing orders referred to in the above rule, head constables and constables are frequently questioned so as to ensure that the training they have received in the lines school and at the Police Training School is not forgotten but put into practice. Each constable on beat or patrol duty should continually have in mind the specific duties required of him.

21.35. Central Investigating Agencies. - (1) In order to assist the Superintendent of Police and his Supervising staff in co-ordinating the preventive and detective work of the District Police and in order to act as clearing house for criminal intelligence for the use of investigating officers in the district and in other districts a Central Intelligence Agency shall be established in each district. This body shall be formed from the establishment sanctioned for the district for the prevention and detection of crime. Officers of different ranks shall be selected for service in the C.I.A. in the light of their intelligence, efficiency and practical experience of preventive and detective work in a police station. In order to promote co-operation and the inter-change of ideas between the C.I.A. and police station staff no officer shall ordinarily remain more than two years at a time in the C.I.A. No officer shall be appointed to the C.I.A. who is not well educated and who has not an unblemished reputation for honesty.

The functions of the Central Investigation Agency are :-

- (a) The preparation of crime maps relating to offences against property classified under the methods employed by the criminals.
- (b) The receipt, consideration and filing according to classification, of information received from investigating officers.
- (c) The comparing of the data collected under (a) and (b) and the communication of any deduction therefrom to the investigation officers concerned.
- (d) The preparation of a crime index of cases from the materials collected under (a) and (b) classified according to: (1) methods employed by the criminals, and (2) various clues provided by the criminals such as nick-names used; special clothing worn; peculiarities of the culprits noticed by witnesses; special weapons used; special signals used etc. etc.
- (e) The preparation of a crime index of criminals. This shall normally be in two parts-
 - (i) an index of names of known criminals classified according to their methods of operating;
 - (ii) an index of known criminals classified according to their peculiarities of appearance, gait, speech, nicknames, etc.
- (f) The provision of information by means of which the Superintendent of Police may be assisted in controlling the crime of his district, forestalling outbreaks of crime and directing preventive operations.
- (g) The publication of weekly Criminal Intelligence Gazette.
- (h) To co-ordinate and guide the efforts of police station staff throughout the district in securing the arrest of absconders and proclaimed offenders and in locating absentee bad characters, criminal tribesmen and other untraced persons and to maintain close co-operations with the C.I.As of other districts in this work.

- (i) When information received from records or otherwise indicates that a series of cases, whether in the jurisdictions of one or of several police stations, is the work of the same criminal or of a gang to co-ordinate or, under the orders of the Superintendent of Police, direct the investigation of such cases.

The primary function of a Central Intelligence Agency is to assist station house officers and their staffs. The A.C.I.A. can only afford assistance effectively, if it is continuously supplied by Station House Officers with detailed information about the movements of bad characters and peculiar features of cases. Information so received shall be examined, compared, and classified by the C.I.A. Information of general use of Station House Officers and neighbouring districts and deductions from it shall be disseminated as speedily as possible through the C.I. Gazette or, in case of urgency, by special circular. Information which is of value to a particular police station only or clues in local cases shall be communicated immediately to the particular officers or officer concerned, who shall be held responsible for making proper use of it.

The C.I.A. shall be in charge of one of the District Inspectors. A room shall be provided for it in the office of the Superintendent of Police which is conveniently situated in relation to the rooms of the Superintendent of Police and Gazetted Officers. These officers and their readers and officers of the prosecuting branch and all Station House Officers and investigating officers visiting headquarters shall make a practice of visiting the C.I.A. room regularly, studying the records of crime and criminals which are concerting measures for the better control of criminals through the agency of the records and machinery of the district Police.

All investigating officers in the district shall be encouraged to visit the room where the Central Investigating Agency functions when they visit headquarters and to discuss their cases with the personnel of the Central Investigating Agency.

The Police Station

22.1. Officer in charge of police station. - (1) The officer in charge of a police station is ordinarily a sub-inspector. Within the limits of the police station jurisdiction the sub-inspector is primarily responsible for the effective working, management, good conduct and discipline of the local police, for the preservation of peace and the prevention and detection of crime. The due performance of all police duties, the exercise by the police of the powers granted them by law, the correctness of all registers, records and reports prepared by them, and the direction, instruction and efficiency of all police subordinates in the station jurisdiction are matters for which the officer in charge of a police station is essentially answerable.

(2) It is the duty of the officer in charge of a police station to acquire detailed and accurate local knowledge, to secure the whole-hearted co-operation of his zaildars, inamdars, village headmen and chaukidars, encouraging them to give him information, to assist him in this work and to range themselves loyally on the side of the administration. Through them and his own subordinates he is required to keep a strict watch over all known bad characters, and he shall communicate all intelligence of moment to his superiors and to other police stations without delay.

(3) Within the limits of his charge he is the chief investigating officer, and as such he shall conduct all investigations in person, so far as circumstances permit. His responsibility in this matter must be carefully maintained. Should it be necessary, owing to the absence of the sub-inspector or any other cause, for a subordinate to undertake an investigation, the sub-inspector shall satisfy himself by perusing the case diary and questioning the investigating officer that the investigation has been fully and properly conducted, shall remedy what is defective, and take over the investigation as soon as he is free to do, so except in a case originally investigated by an assistant sub-inspector where he will be guided by rule.

(4) When present at the police station, he shall personally supervise the routine work of the station house, and shall be careful to see that there are no arrears of correspondence and that the accounts are correct.

22.2. Assistant sub-inspectors. - (1) One or more assistant sub-inspectors are attached to each police station, in proportion to the normal amount of crime registered, as subordinate investigating officers. An assistant sub-inspector may be a directly appointed probationer under training, in which case his duties will be as prescribed in Chapter XIX. In other cases an assistant sub-inspector is the assistant and deputy of the officer in charge of the police station, who, without detracting from his own authority or ultimate responsibilities as described in rule 22.1, may delegate powers and duties generally or specifically to one or other of his assistants, on the same principles as the Superintendent of Police delegates authority and duties to gazetted officers subordinate to him.

(2) An assistant sub-inspector is required to have approximately the same standard of efficiency in all branches of police station work, detective, preventive and administrative, as a sub-inspector, but his responsibilities are less, in that he is not in independent charge, and his powers are subject to the detailed control and supervision of the sub-inspector. In respect of investigations, the sub-inspector is required to exercise careful supervision over the work of his assistant sub-inspector, as laid down in rule 22.1, but need not, and should not, normally take into his own hands an investigation started by an assistant sub-inspector, except when he finds the latter's investigation gravely defective.

22.3. The station clerk. - The police station clerk is a literate head constable, who under the control and supervision of the officer in charge of the police station, acts as clerk, accountant, record-keeper and custodian of Government and other property at a police station. He may be assisted by one or more assistant clerks.

22.4. Duties as a clerk. - As clerk of the police station, the station clerk performs the following duties:-

- (a) He opens, registers and hands over all correspondence to the officer in charge of the police station or senior officer present and takes his orders for the disposal of papers. He writes all reports and returns called for by competent authorities and is responsible that all pending papers are promptly disposed of.
- (b) Every morning he brings to the notice of the officer in charge of the station (that is, senior officer present) all postponed orders and pending papers awaiting execution and reply. At morning roll call he records the orders of the same officer as to the distribution of duties for the day.
- (c) he writes up the daily diary and other station house registers. He sees that the file of the Police Gazette is kept up to date, and that all orders and notices contained in it, which concern the staff or the work of the staff, are carefully noted and explained to all concerned. He registers all births and deaths reported at the station by the village watchmen.

22.5. Duties as an accountant. - As accountant, the station clerk is responsible for the correctness of the cash book, of the cash balance in hand, and for all accounts of receipts or expenditure rendered to his superiors. He must, without fail, bring every item of receipt or expenditure promptly and fully to account. If any appropriation of public money to purposes for which it was not intended occurs, or if money shown as expended is not expended, or is expended in a different way from that shown, he is bound to report the matter at once to the Superintendent. He will not be allowed to shield himself by pleading the orders of a superior officer, but will be held responsible for malversations which would not have been possible if his accounts had accurately represented the facts. He writes out invoices, and checks and files receipts and other vouchers for payments made. He prepares the monthly acquittance rolls and accounts of deductions and stop-pages from pay and all travelling allowance and other claims of the officers and men of the station concerned, and sees that acquittance rolls are duly signed and forwarded. The duties and responsibilities of the station clerk under this rule shall not be delegated to any other member of the police station staff.

22.6. Duties as a record-keeper. - As a record-keeper, the station clerk is responsible that all registers and other records are safely kept and that they do not suffer injury from damp, vermin or other cause. He periodically eliminates and sends to headquarters the records which are no longer required to be maintained according to rule.

22.7. Duties as a custodian of property. - As custodian, the station clerk is responsible for all Government property, including arms, ammunition, bicycles, articles of clothing and equipment other than such as are in the personal charge of individual officers, and all unclaimed property connected with cases, including cattle in the pound. He is in direct charge of the store-room and shall keep the keys thereof and personally superintend all receipts and issues therefrom. He shall also be responsible for the safe custody and dieting of persons in the lock-up and shall personally keep the keys thereof.

22.8. Continuous presence at police station. - The station clerk's duties necessitate his continuous presence at the police station; accordingly he shall not be employed on investigation work or any other duty involving his absence from the police station for any long period. If he leaves the station house for any purpose which is likely to prevent his return within a few minutes on an urgent summons, or under the provisions of rule 22.42, he shall formally make over charge to the assistant clerk and shall make an entry in the daily diary. Similarly, on return to duty, he shall again enter the fact in the daily diary and both entries shall be signed by the assistant clerk as evidence of his responsibility during the absence of the station clerk. Under no circumstances shall the station clerk and the assistant clerk be both absent from the police station at the same time.

22.9. Literate police officers. - Other literate police officers shall be employed under the general direction of the officer in charge of the police station to assist the clerk in the up-keep of criminal records, and to assist in the investigation of cases and the collection, recording and dissemination of intelligence.

22.10. Watch of police stations. - (1) A standing sentry at police stations shall ordinarily not be posted, but at night one of the constables sleeping at the station shall be told off by the station clerk or senior officer present to sleep in front of the door of the police station which shall be securely fastened.

(2) In cases where the lock-up contains prisoners, or there is valuable property in the store-room [vide rule 22.18(1)] or animals in the cattle-pound, there shall be a constable on watch, who shall be posted with special regard to the protection of lock-up, the store-room or the cattle pound, as the case may be, and he shall be responsible for its safe custody. Standing orders describing the duties of the sentry in regard to the protection of each of these three places shall be framed by the Superintendent of Police and hung up in the police station office. The officer in charge of the police station shall read out the appropriate part or parts of this standing order when allocating duties at roll call (vide rule 22.11). If the subsequent arrival of prisoners, valuable property or cattle necessitates an extension of the duties detailed at roll call, the station clerk shall inform the constables concerned, shall read out to them the standing order applicable and shall obtain their signatures or thumb-impressions in the station diary.

(3) Ordinarily there shall be a police officer, who shall usually be the senior police officer present at the station house, available and ready in proper uniform to receive information and complaints and to afford such assistance as may be lawful and necessary; and at every post there shall be at all times one police officer in uniform in charge of the building and property, but such police officer shall not be expected to do more than keep on the alert.

22.11. Roll Calls. - At sunrise and at sunset the officer in charge of the police station, i.e., the senior officer present, shall fall in all the police present at the station and hold a roll call. At this roll call instruction shall be given in respect of all general and special orders which may have been received from superior authority or which the officer in charge of the police station may see fit to promulgate, and duties shall be allocated. The police detailed for watch duty shall be under the orders of the station clerk who shall allot particular hours of duty to each man and note the times allotted in the daily diary immediately after the roll call, taking the signature or thumb-impression of each man in the diary in token of his having been informed.

22.12. Inspection before proceeding on duty. - All officers proceeding on duty shall appear before the senior officer present at the station, who shall satisfy himself that they are correctly turned out and understand the duties allotted to them and who shall record in the daily diary an entry to the effect that he has done so, giving particulars as to the men, the duties and the time of inspection. This rule is binding on men posted on watch duty and the entry in the daily diary in their case shall be in addition to the entry required under rule 22.11 above.

22.13. Parades. - The officer in charge of the police station is responsible for keeping his staff proficient in drill and to secure this end must hold parades as frequently as possible. The small number of men available for parade in a police station is no bar to the giving of much useful instruction.

The following portions of the Police Drill Manual, 1929, shall be taught at police stations:-

Chapter I, lecture 6 (traffic control).

Chapter IV, Sections 3, 5 to 7, 9, 12 to 21, 24 to 34, 36 to 57, 65 to 69, 74, 75, 86 to 90.

Chapter VII, physical training.

Table Card (a few exercises on each occasion). When a parade is held, a record must be made in the daily diary in which will be incorporated a parade statement and a note of the instruction given.

22.14. The police station lock-up. - The rules of Chapter XXVI for the control of lock-ups and the custody and care of prisoners shall apply strictly to all police stations and posts.

22.15. Public property. - Subject to the orders and responsibility of the officer in charge of the police station, the station clerk shall be considered to be in charge of all public property including money and case property in his station house. Every officer in charge of the station shall examine the property at least twice a month and shall report in the following Monday's diary that he has done so. If property is found to be incomplete or to be in any way damaged he shall add to his report the names of the persons responsible for the loss or damage.

He shall also see that the property in connection with a case is expeditiously disposed of according to magisterial orders on the conclusion of the case.

All property shall be examined by officers in charge of police stations on receiving and handing over charge and by station clerks on relief. All damages and shortages must then be carefully noted and reported to the Superintendent of Police.

22.16. Case property. - (1) The police shall seize weapons, articles and property in connection with criminal cases and take charge of property which may be unclaimed:-

- (a) under the implied authority of Section 170, Code of Criminal Procedure ;
- (b) in the course of searches made in police investigations under Sections 51, 165 and 166, Code of Criminal Procedure ;
- (c) under Section 153, Code of Criminal Procedure, as regards weights, measures, or instruments for weighing that are false;
- (d) under Section 550, Code of Criminal Procedure, as regards property alleged or suspected to have been stolen : provided that if the property consists of an animal or animals belonging to Government or to persons of good status it may be made over to them or to a commissioned or a gazetted officer, under the orders of a Magistrate, who is empowered to make such an order under Section 523, Criminal Procedure Code.
- (e) under Section 550, Code of Criminal Procedure, as regards property found under circumstances which create suspicion of the commission of an offence; when an offence in respect of an animal is committed and such animal is not stolen property such animal shall be seized and sent with the case to the magistrate having jurisdiction;

(f) under Section 25 of the Police Act, as regards unclaimed property;

Ordinarily the police shall not take possession of movable property as unclaimed when it is in the possession of an innocent finder; but in cities and in cantonments the police may, in compliance with an order issued under Section 26 or 27 of the Police Act, take possession and dispose of unclaimed property made over to them by innocent finders.

Such property shall be entered in the store-room register, unless a special register is prescribed for the purpose by the District Magistrate.

(g) under the provisions of Local and Special Laws.

(2) Each weapon, or article of property not being cattle, seized under the above rule, shall be marked or labelled with the name of the person from whom, or the place where, it was seized, and a reference to the case diary or other report submitted from the police station.

If articles are made up into a parcel, the parcel shall be secured with sealing wax bearing the seal impression of the responsible officer, and shall be similarly marked or labelled. Such articles or parcels shall be placed in safe custody, pending disposal as provided by law or rule.

Cattle shall be placed in the pound and shall be carefully described in the case diary or other report regarding their seizure from the police station.

All expenses for feeding and watering cattle kept in the pound in connection with cases shall invariably be recovered from the District Magistrate and not from the complainant.

(3) The police shall send to headquarters or to magisterial outposts -

(a) all weapons, articles and property connected with cases sent for trial;

(b) suspicious, unclaimed and other property, when ordered to do so by a competent magistrate.

(4) Motor vehicles detained or seized by the police in connection with cases or accidents shall be produced before a magistrate after rapid investigation or by means of incomplete challan. The evidence relating to the identity or condition of the vehicle should be led and disposed of at an early date, and the magistrate should then be invited to exercise the discretion vested in him by section 516-A, Code of Criminal Procedure, to order that the vehicle be made over to the owner pending conclusion of the case or security to be produced whenever demanded by the Court.

22.17. Custody of money. - All Government money received in the police station and not disbursed forthwith shall be kept in a locked box in the store-room.

Whenever the pound receipts at a police station amount for Rs. 50 or over they shall be forwarded to the sadar or tahsil treasury, whichever may be nearer.

If large sums are taken under the Cattle Trespass Act, and it is impossible to pay in such sums immediately to the sadar or tahsil treasury, they shall be placed in the locked box in the store-room.

22.18. Custody of property. - (1) Property exceeding in value of Rs. 500, whether appertaining to cases, or seized on suspicion, or taken as unclaimed, shall be forwarded as soon as possible to district headquarters for deposit in the treasury in accordance with Police Rule 27.18(2) or, in the case of property connected with a case to be tried at an outstation or tahsil, to the tahsil treasury, where it shall be placed in the tahsil store-room under charge of the tahsildar.

Large sums of money or valuable property of any description shall not be entrusted to police officers below the rank of head constable.

When property is brought from outstations to headquarters at a time when the prosecuting inspector and sub-inspectors are engaged in court duties, the bearer shall hand it over to the head constable acting as assistant to the prosecuting inspector under rule 27.14(4) and obtain his receipt in acknowledgement on the road certificate. When a prosecuting officer is free, the bearer of the property shall have the road certificate countersigned by him before his return to his police station.

(2) All case property and unclaimed property, other than cattle, of which the police have taken possession shall, if capable of being so treated, be kept in the store-room. Otherwise the officer in charge of the police station shall make other suitable arrangements for its safe custody until such time as it can be dealt with under sub-rule (1) above.

Each article shall be entered in the store-room register and labelled. The label shall contain a reference to the entry in the store-room register and a description of the article itself and, in the case of articles of case property, a reference to the case number. If several articles are contained in a parcel, a detail of the articles shall be given on the label and in the store-room register.

The officer in charge of the police station shall examine Government and other property in the store-room at least twice a month and shall make an entry in the station diary on the Money following the examination to the effect that he has done so.

22.19. Post Office cash safe. - Police office cash safes may be embedded in safe positions in police stations by arrangement between the Superintendent of Police and the Superintendent of Post Office.

The police department accepts no responsibility for the safe custody of such safes and Superintendents shall not permit them to be embedded at places where no safe accommodation exists.

The work of embedding shall be carried out by the postal department.

22.20. Cattle Pounds Management of. - (1) The management of cattle pounds situated at police stations shall be undertaken by the police, when the District magistrate so requires, provided that the pay of a herdsman and an allowance of not less than two rupees per mensem for the pound-keeper be paid by the local body, which is responsible for the up-keep of such pounds.

(2) For each cattle-pound in charge of the police, an officer on the establishment of the police station concerned shall be appointed pound-keeper ex-officio. Such officer shall ordinarily be the assistant clerk, but, in police stations where the receipts of the pound normally exceed rupees fifty per mensem, he shall be the station clerk.

(3) The pound-keeper shall be required to have a thorough knowledge of the Cattle Trespass Act (I of 1871); the rules relating to cattle pounds contained in the District Board Account Code (Appendix 22.20), or corresponding rules in force in respect of Municipal and Cantonment Cattle pounds; Sections 69 and 70 of the Indian Forest Act (VII of 1878); Section 125 of the Indian Railway Act (IX of 1890) and of these rules. He shall maintain accounts in the forms prescribed in the rules referred to above, which are obtainable from the local body concerned, and shall observe those rules in all matters connected with the management of the pound.

(4) The pound accounts shall be under the close and constant supervision of the station clerk (where he is not himself the pound-keeper) and shall be checked at least once a month by the officer in charge of the police station, who shall certify accordingly in the station diary and shall countersign the monthly balance of the accounts in token of his having satisfied himself (1) that the balance in hand has been checked; (2) that the accounts are on the face of them being properly kept; and (3) that the signature or initials of the pound-keeper are in their required places. Net receipts shall be credited at least once a month in the nearest sub-treasury.

(5) Bills for miscellaneous expenses incurred by the police in connection with cattle pounds, e.g., emergent repairs, cost of locks, ropes, etc., shall be submitted, as the charges are incurred, to the Superintendent of Police, in form 10.33(1) to be dealt with by him as prescribed in Rule 10.109(2).

(6) The lists of fines and of the rates authorized to be charged for feeding and watering impounded animals are required to be displayed conspicuously at every pound. Failure to keep this notice so displayed and legible, and neglect to water and feed impounded animals to the full extent which the sanctioned rates permit, are offences, under Section 27 of the Cattle Trespass Act and render the pound-keeper liable, in addition to any other penalty under any other law or under police rules, to a fine of fifty rupees. This liability falls upon the pound-keeper and not upon the herdsman.

22.21. Cattle in the custody of the police. - (1) Cattle seized as suspicious or stolen property, held by the police by order of a Court under Section 88, Criminal Procedure Code, or otherwise received into police custody under competent authority, may be placed in the pound, and shall be fed at the rates prescribed for impounded cattle. Keepers of pounds which are not in charge of the police are bound to receive such cattle.

When there is any risk of an attempt being made unlawfully to remove or to rescue such cattle, a police guard shall be posted on the pound, or the cattle shall be removed to such place within or in the immediate vicinity of the police station precincts as the officer in charge considers most suitable for their adequate protection.

(2) Entries in respect of cattle placed in the pound under this rule shall be made in red ink and any expenses incurred shall be recovered by means of judicial bills in form 10.109(1) through the prosecuting inspector, and shall not be included in the totals of the pound accounts.

22.22. Miscellaneous provisions regarding pounds. - (1) A brief note of the circumstances under which a seizure was made and animals impounded shall be entered in the "remarks" column of the register. Entries in this register shall be confined to the offences mentioned in rule 27.29.

The serial number allotted to a convict shall be a permanent one, just as a constabulary number is permanent. In the remarks column (column 11) of each re-conviction entry shall be entered references to the number, offence and page of entry of previous convictions.

APPENDIX 22.26

MEMORANDUM OF INSTRUCTIONS FOR COLLECTORS AND DEPUTY COMMISSIONERS WITH REGARD TO TROOPS MARCHING THROUGH DISTRICTS UNDER THEIR JURISDICTION.

PART I

1. (i) On receipt of information that troops are to march through the district under his jurisdiction, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner concerned will detail a police officer or other official to accompany them and take steps to prevent the irregular sale of liquor or fruits to the troops on or near the route, and exclude from the camp or its vicinity all women of loose character.

(ii) The official will report himself to the officer commanding the troops the day before the troops enter the limits of his jurisdiction and remain with them until they leave it.

(iii) He will be the medium of communication in his district between the officer commanding the troops and the subordinate civil officials and inhabitants generally and will give all the assistance in his power to the officer commanding the troops.

(iv) He will settle, in communication with the officer commanding, all disputes with the inhabitants, or with any transport establishments engaged by the civil authorities within his powers, and be responsible for reporting cases beyond his powers to his superiors.

(v) He will be provided with written instructions by the Collector or Deputy Commissioner defining his duties and powers, which he will show to the officer commanding the troops.

(vi) If irregularities committed by the troops are not discovered until they have proceeded outside the limits of the jurisdiction of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner, he will send a full report of the occurrence to the Officer Commanding the Brigade Area in which it occurred, who will investigate the matter and take all action necessary for its disposal.

2. (i) Rationing arrangements of the troops, and animals are made by the Indian Army Service Corps under the orders of the General Officer Commanding concerned. A suitable detachment of supply personnel will be in supply charge of the units whilst on the march. The civil authorities may be called upon to provide supplies of the kind mentioned on Indian Army Form S-1526, and such articles as are not ordinarily kept in stock (e.g., sheep, fowl and eggs) or which are rapidly perishable (e.g., milk); other ration articles will not be demanded from the civil authorities.

(ii) When the assistance of the civil authorities is necessary, if any in the case of pre-arranged marches, i.e., when marches are not due to a sudden emergency, the General Officer Commanding concerned will detail an advance party consisting of personnel of the supply service, or of the unit marching, to go ahead of the troops and associate themselves with the civil officials in the purchase of supplies. The Civil authorities should be informed that an advance party is being sent to assist in the necessary purchases.

(iii) All indents on the civil authorities, for the class and quantity of articles which they are required to supply, should be preferred on them a fortnight before they are actually required. Any charges in dates, routes or quantities of supplies must be communicated at once to all concerned. Losses due to these circumstances will only be borne by the State when the competent financial authority is satisfied that they were unavoidably due to circumstances beyond the control of the responsible authority or unit. Losses due to excessive estimates will be borne by the unit responsible.

(iv) To enable the civil officials to purchase supplies, the military authorities, when submitting their indents for supplies will arrange to pay in advance to the responsible civil authorities a sum to cover the cost of the supplies requisitioned. This advance will be obtained from the Controller of Military Accounts concerned. If time does not permit of an advance being obtained from the Controller of Military Accounts, it should be obtained from the civil treasury on the authority of a station order as provided for in paragraph 16(viii) or Pay and Allowance Regulations, Part II.

(v) The advance party is responsible for the actual acceptance of supplies, the passing on of which should be done in the presence of the civil official. The military authorities will then be responsible for the payment of the demand made by the civil official for the above accepted supplies. Rejections should only be made when the articles tendered are unfit for consumption owing to their being below the standard usually consumed by the persons or animals for whom they are intended. Supplies which have been accepted by the advance party will not be subject to further passing in the decision of the officer commanding the advance party being final. If the supplies become unfit for consumption owing to the late arrival of the unit or to causes outside the control of the supplier, a receipt for the supplies must be granted by the officer commanding the troops to the civil official concerned.

(vi) The military officer who takes over supplies from the civil official will furnish the latter with a receipt for the supplies actually received and will send a duplicate of this receipt to the military authority responsible for the submission of the original indent.

(vii) When supplies of a quality inferior to that which might reasonably have been expected are provided, a report to this effect will be made by the officer commanding the troops to the district civil officer.

(viii) If shops are, or can be established on or near the camping ground, articles such as sheep, fowls, eggs, milk, etc., will be retailed by the shop-keeper; if shops neither exist nor can be arranged for, these articles will be supplied in the usual way and arrangements made for their retail issue and the subsequent disposal of any surplus.

(ix) In the case of marches due to sudden emergencies when sufficient notice of the arrival of a unit in a district cannot be given, or an advance party sent ahead of the troops, and the supplies have consequently to be arranged by the civil authorities in a hurry, the Indian Army Service Corps officer or, in his absence, the officer commanding the troops should bear in mind the following factors before rejecting supplies arranged for by the civil authorities :-

- (a) The notice given and the circumstances in which the supplies were purchased.
- (b) The quality which might reasonably be expected in the district traversed.
- (c) Whether the supplies are fit for consumption though below the usual standard.

If it is necessary to reject supplies on account of unfitness for consumption, the officer commanding the troops will furnish the civil official concerned with a statement showing the nature and quantity of supplies so rejected, and will furnish a duplicate copy of this statement to the military authority originally responsible for making the demand, who will arrange with the Controller of Military Accounts concerned to obtain a refund from the civil authorities in respect of such supplies.

(x) The officer commanding will be responsible that whenever any article is taken without payment, or when dasturi is enacted, the responsible person is severely dealt with. He will cause the officer of the day to visit the bazaar frequently to see that the guard or military police, which should be posted thereon, are doing their duty and that no irregularities are permitted. The officer commanding will ensure that he is readily accessible to any civil official or inhabitant who may be desirous of lodging a complaint.

(xi) The civil supply official should report to the officer commanding each evening whether any claims remain unsettled, and, if so, the latter will personally see to their immediate settlement. The civil official should endorse all receipts given for payments made, and the officer commanding should not accept receipts unless so endorsed.

(xii) Individuals or small parties will ordinarily purchase their own supplies from bazaars. If any assistance is required, they will apply to the local police officer.

3. (i) The Collector or Deputy Commissioner is responsible (except in the case of Baluchistan where the Military Engineer Services authorities will be responsible), for the maintenance in good order of all established camping grounds outside cantonments within his jurisdiction.

(ii) He will be responsible that they are not cultivated, and that jungle growth is removed, also that boundary pillars are kept in repairs, that the wells are in good order, and also incinerators are provided.

(iii) When troops are to march through his district, the officer commanding the unit concerned has orders to send him a copy of the itinerary in good time to enable him to make all arrangements for the wells to be cleaned out if they have not been in regular use.

4. When any special arrangements for troops are required at ferries, the Brigade Commander concerned has orders to give the civil authorities concerned ample notice.

5. Unless prevented by urgent business in another part of the district, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner should make a point of being present at his headquarters to receive the troops with due honours.

6. The higher officers of the several departments serving in the district or present on tour in it should be informed of the coming of the troops so that they may have an opportunity of participating in their reception.

7. The President and Councillors of the local municipality should be invited to meet the troops at the entrance to the town.

8. The educational authorities should be directed to turn out schools on the line of march.

9. The instructions in paragraphs 5, 6, 7 and 8 apply only in the case of those routes which are infrequently used by troops and to occasions when the special object of the march is to impress people with the strength and importance of the Military arm of Government.

PART IIRULES FOR THE SUPPLY OF CARRIAGE BY THE CIVIL AUTHORITIES

1. Indents. - Indents on the civil authorities for hired carriage required for the movements of troops or stores will be prepared on India Army Form S-1675, giving full details of requirements and sent so as to reach the district or political officer concerned if possible not less than 15 days (one month in Gwalior State and 21 days in cases of marches through the desert talukas of the Thar Parkar District of Sind) before the carriage is required.

2. Collection and payments. - Hired carriage will not ordinarily be required to proceed beyond the limits of the next civil district on the route, but will be exchanged, if possible, at such stations as may be fixed by the local civil authorities.

It will be paid for at authorized local rates from the date on which it is engaged for the march to the date of its discharge, both inclusive. Half hire will be paid for the return journey from the exchanging station to the place where the carriage was engaged. If the carriage is taken beyond the exchanging station, full hire will be paid for the return journey, from the place where the carriage is released to the place where it was engaged without any allowance for halts. If the carriage has to be collected before the date on which it is required, the civil authorities will inform the indenting officer of the time required for collection before the start, and the probable extra expense that will be incurred. Carriage which ordinarily plies for hire, and is on the list to be kept by the district officer, will first be called upon and the balance will be made up by impressment. Carriage indented for in excess of requirements, and discharged, will be paid for at the full hire rate for each day or part of a day for which it is retained. If carriage is declared unserviceable through deliberate fault or culpable negligence of the cartman by a committee of officers (which will include the civil officer), it will not be paid for. When chauthries are engaged to collect carriage, their fees, at the local rates, will be paid for by the Army Department.

3. Advances and handing over of carriage. - On engagement of the carriage, the civil or political officer will advance to the owners half the estimated hire for the full journey, and obtain a receipt for the same. To enable the civil official to make these advances, the indenting officer when submitting his requisition for carriage will remit to the civil officers concerned a sum sufficient to cover the amount which the latter will be required to advance. A receipt will be obtained for this advance which will be subject to adjustment.

The carriage will be sent to the place required in charge of a tahsil or durbar official who will hand to the indenting officer a detail of the composition of the carriage, authorized loads, owner's name, amount advanced and the receipt for the same, and intimation as to the station at which the carriage should be exchanged (See India Army Forms S-1675). The advance remitted to the civil officials will then be adjusted at once.

4. Exchanging station. - The civil officer supplying the carriage will at the same time warn the civil officer at the first exchanging station of the transport requiring exchange, and the date and place at which it will be required. A copy of this should be furnished to the indenting officer to enable an advance to be remitted. The civil officer at the first exchanging station will then proceed as in paragraph 3 and warn the next exchanging station. Similar action will be taken at each exchanging station on the route.

5. Change in original transport requirements. - If any change is required en route in the original quantity and description of transport supplied, the officer commanding the troops will give the civil officer at the exchanging station concerned as much notice as possible.

6. Unserviceable carriage. - Carriage breaking down between exchanging stations should be replaced on the spot in communication with the local civil officials and paid off. If the advance received has not been liquidated, the owner must refund the amount then due.

7. Discharge of carriage. - On arrival at an exchanging station or at destination the carriage will be at once released and paid off by the Indian Army Service Corps Officer, if there is one, otherwise by a British officer of the marching unit in the presence of the civil official attached to the troops, the acquittance roll being signed by both and countersigned by the Officer Commanding. Any disputes will be referred to, and settled by, the district civil officer at the place at which the transport is released.

8. Detention of transport. - If carts are brought from a distance and detained at a camp of exercise, etc., the full hire will be paid for each day of such detention. Carriage will not, however, be detained at a camp which lasts for five days or over, except in every special circumstances.

9. Protection certificate. - When a carriage is discharged, a certificate in English and the vernacular should be given by the civil officer at the exchanging station, or by the civil officer accompanying the troops, to each person in charge thereof, to protect the carriage from being taken for the use of troops while on its return journey unless such troops are marching in the direction of the owner's home. If so employed, the full hire rate will be paid.

Prevention of Offences

23.1 Patrolling at rural stations. - (1) The officers in charge of police stations and assistant sub-inspectors at those stations shall move about in their jurisdictions freely. They shall pay special attention to villages where crime has occurred, or where registered bad characters and suspects whose history sheets are on record live, but shall visit every village occasionally, for the purpose of adding to their local knowledge, becoming known to the people, collecting information, and checking the proper performance of their duties in relation to crime by zaildars, inamkhors, lambardars and chaukidars.

(2) Information regarding the mode of livelihood of bad characters shall be obtained mainly by personal visits and enquiry, but head constables and constables shall, from time to time, be sent to village with definite orders to ascertain whether certain specified bad characters are present or not, and trace and whereabouts of proclaimed offenders or absconders.

Except to carry out definite orders constables shall not be deputed to visit villages, but they may be deputed to visit serais, ferries, camping-grounds, motor vehicles stands and other places of public resort for the purpose of collecting information, maintaining order or other police purposes.

23.2. Co-operations with railway police at stations. - (1) Where possible, a constable in plain clothes shall be deputed from the police station to each railway station within its jurisdiction to meet all trains which halt there and to keep to look-out for bad characters and suspicious persons.

Constables who have special knowledge of local bad characters shall be selected for this duty.

(2) Particulars regarding the mode of livelihood of bad character observed taking a ticket or travelling in a train shall be reported to the railway police, if any are on the platform and also to the travelling constables.

(3) Any information received from the railway police regarding bad characters or suspicious persons alighting from a train shall be communicated to the officer in charge of the police station.

23.3. Patrolling by villagers. - The organization of thikri pahra and naka-bandi, whether under the provisions of the Village Patrol Act (VIII of 1918) or on a voluntary basis, is one of the most important duties of the officer in charge of a police station. Such an organization should be carefully planned, with the object of providing the best protection against criminals and securing that duties are allotted fairly and with as little inconvenience to the individual as possible. Areas or locations of patrols and picquets should be carefully selected and the available strength of police should be disposed to the best advantage for assisting and supervising parties of villagers. Zaildars and other village official should be encouraged to participate actively in this duty; their responsibilities should be insisted upon, and energy and co-operation should be promptly rewarded. Gazetted officers and Inspectors are required to take a close personal interest in this branch of preventive action.

Thikri Pahra and nakabandi shall on no account be regarded as a matter of routine. The former can be enforced under the Act if necessary, but both systems are better worked on a voluntary basis, through the goodwill of the communities concerned. These services should be demanded temporarily and for special purposes only during epidemics of crime.

23.4. Surveillance Register No.X. - (1) In every police station, other than those of the railway police, a Surveillance Register shall be maintained in Form 23.4(1).

(2) In part I of such register shall be entered the names of persons commonly resident within or commonly frequenting the local jurisdiction of the police station concerned, who belong to one or more of the following classes:-

- (a) All persons who have been proclaimed under section 87, Code of Criminal Procedure.
 - (b) All released convicts in regard to whom an order under section 565, Criminal Procedure Code, has been made.
 - (c) All convicts the execution of whose sentence is suspended in the whole, or any part of whose punishment has been remitted conditionally under section 401, Criminal Procedure Code.
 - (d) All persons restricted under Rules of Government made under section 16 of the Restriction of Habitual Offenders (Punjab) Act, 1918.
- (3) In Part II of such register may be entered at the discretion of the Superintendent -
- (a) persons who have been convicted twice, or more than twice, of offences mentioned in rule 27.29;
 - (b) persons who are reasonably believed to be habitual offenders or receivers of stole property whether they have been convicted or not;
 - (c) persons under security under sections 109 or 110, Code of Criminal Procedure;
 - (d) convicts released before the expiration of their sentences under the Prisons Act and Remission Rules without the imposition of any conditions

Note. - This rule must be strictly construed, and entries must be confined to the names of persons falling in the four classes named therein.

23.5. Entries in and cancellations from surveillance register. - (1) The surveillance register shall be written up by the officer in charge of the police station personally or by an assistant sub-inspector in a clear and neat script. No entry shall be made in Part II except by the orders of the Superintendent, who is strictly prohibited from delegating this authority. No entry shall be made in part I except by the order of gazetted officer. Entries shall be made either under the personal direction of, or on receipt of a written order from, an officer authorized by this rule to make them. In the latter case, original orders shall be attached to the register until the entry has been attested and dated by a gazetted officer.

(2) Ordinarily, before the name of any person is entered in Part II of the surveillance register, a history sheet shall be opened for such person.

If, from the entries in the history sheet, the Superintendent of opinion that such person should be subjected to surveillance he shall enter his name in Part II of the surveillance register; provided that the names of persons who have never been convicted or placed on security for good behaviour shall not be entered until the Superintendent has recorded definite reasons for doing so.

The record of such reasons shall be treated as confidential and the person concerned shall not be entitled to a copy thereof.

23.6 Notice to headmen. - (1) When the name of any person has been entered in the surveillance register a confidential notice in Form 23.6(1) shall be issued to the headman of the village in which the surveille resides and the headman's receipt shall be taken on the foil.

When a name is removed from the register intimation shall be sent to the headman concerned and a similar receipt obtained.

(2) It is most important that the notices referred to in this rule should be issued promptly in respect of every person whose name is entered in the surveillance register in either Part I or II, and that intimation of cancellation should similarly be sent. On the proof of issue of such notices the enforcement of the responsibility of headman, both for ascertaining the whereabouts and assisting in the capture of proclaimed offenders and for reporting the movements of persons restricted or under surveillance, mainly depends.

23.7. Mode of surveillance. - (1) Police surveillance shall comprise such close watch over the movements of the person under surveillance, by police officers, village headmen and village watchmen as may be practicable without any illegal interference.

(2) Care shall be taken not to have under surveillance in any police station more person than the police station staff can reasonably be expected to watch efficiently.

23.8 preparation of history sheets. - The initial preparation of a history sheet requires great care, and should invariably be done by the officer in charge of the police station himself or by a thoroughly experienced assistant sub-inspector under specific orders.

- (1) The description of the criminal should be such as will enable the person reading it to form for himself a picture of the individual described, special attention being given to peculiarities of appearance, gait, speech, etc., by means of which the man may be distinguished.
- (2) The space for "relations and connections" should be filled in with a view to affording clues to those persons with whom the criminal is likely to harbour when wanted by the police, including relations or friends living at distances from his home, and his associates in crime, abettors and receivers. The particular nature of each person's connection should be noted against each, and, when persons shown as connections themselves have history sheets, a cross reference with those sheets should be given.
- (3) Under property, and mode of earning livelihood, such particulars should be entered as will facilitate a judgment as to whether the criminal is at any time living beyond his means; whether he is capable of furnishing a personal recognisance of any value; whether he is an owner of property, a tenant or a wage-earner, and so on.
- (4) The "description of crime to which addicted" should be in some detail, showing not merely the class of crime, but the particular type of that crime, methods followed, localities chiefly frequented, weapons or instruments, used etc.

When these particulars have been carefully and concisely entered, the initial entry on the reverse side of the form should be made in the form of a summary of the individual's criminal career up to the date of his history sheet being prepared, and should include the particular reasons and authority for its being prepared. Copies of history sheets prepared and published by the Criminal Investigation Department and published in the Criminal Intelligence Gazette shall be filed with the history sheets of the persons concerned in their home police stations. The police station history sheets in all such cases will be endorsed with the letters C.I.D. and the criminal's provincial numbers in red ink. The activities of all such criminals subsequent to the publication of their provincial history sheets must be communicated promptly to the Criminal Investigation Department through the District Central Investigating Agency. Duplicate of the sheets of criminal known or suspected to operate on the railway shall be supplied to the nearest railway police station and the originals of such sheets shall be endorsed with the letter 'R' in red ink. The District Police shall also supply the Railway Police Station with copies of all subsequent entries made in such History Sheets, so that the Railway Police copies may be kept strictly up to date.

23.9. History sheets when opened. - (1) A history sheet, if one does not already exist, shall be opened in Form 23.9 for every person whose name is entered in the surveillance register, except conditionally released convicts.

(2) A history sheet may be opened by, or under the written orders, of, a police officer not below the rank of inspector for any person not entered in the surveillance register who is reasonably believed to be habitually addicted to crime or to be an aider or abettor of such persons.

(3) The Government Railway Police will maintain the history sheets of criminals known or suspected to operate on the railway in accordance with Police Rule 23.8. They will open history sheets themselves for criminals living in railway premises, who have been absent from their original homes so long that the railway premises may be regarded as their permanent residence. They may also open history sheets for wandering strangers reasonably believed to be habitually addicted to crime on the railway, whose original homes cannot be traced.

23.10. Custody of history sheets. - (1) The history sheets at each police station shall be kept in three separate bundles as follows :-

All such notices shall be kept together in a separate file.

23.38 Surveillance over released prisoners. - (1) Within ten days of a prisoner's release the officer in charge of the police station of residence shall report whether or not he has returned to his home.

- (e) Theft of arms and ammunition;
- (f) Offences committed by criminal tribes;
- (g) Offences indicating a special technique.

(2) Reports of such cases, containing all important particulars shall be forwarded by Superintendents of Police to the Assistant Inspector-General, Crime and Criminal Tribes as they occur.

23.41. Distribution of professional criminals. - On the conviction of a gang of professional criminals the Superintendent shall, if he considers such a course advisable, forward to the Superintendent of the Jail or submission to the Inspector-General of Prisons a recommendation giving the names of members of the gang who should be separated and confined in different jails.

A copy of such recommendation shall be forwarded to the Deputy Inspector- General, Criminal Investigation Department.

23.42. Pathan immigrants. - Certain sections of Pathan immigrants to the Punjab are addicted to crime; and such immigrants, whether nomadic or settled in towns and villages, should therefore, be observed, and either through the agency of their own headmen, or the headmen of villages, where they are settled, enquiry should be made with a view to ascertaining their antecedents. Should any such immigrants be suspected of criminal propensities, information should be sent, as early as possible, to the Assistant to the Inspector- General of Police, Crime and Criminal Tribes, who is in a position to supply the district police with the services of an experienced officer.

Extracts from a note on Pathan immigrants, prepared in 1926, are printed as Appendix 23.42 for the guidance of district police officers.

23.43. Control of traffic - in police station jurisdictions. - Police officers attached to police stations shall pay attention to the control of traffic on the roads of their jurisdiction. It is part of the duty of officers present at police stations to take legal action in respect of traffic offences committed by traffic passing the station house and similarly themselves to take cognisance of or report all such offences, which may come to their notice while travelling in their jurisdiction.

By constant warnings and prosecutions under the appropriate sections of the Indian Penal Code, or special laws, in flagrant or recalcitrant cases, the amenities of traffic can and shall be ensured. The keeping of slow-moving traffic to the side of the road; the prevention of obstructions of the road by gross overloading of carts; the prevention of cruelty to animals and overloading of tongas; the enforcement of the rules under which public motor vehicles are allowed to ply, especially in respect of authorized loads, display of the required particulars on vehicles, validity of permits and driving licenses, and legibility and correct position of registration plates are all parts of the duties of the staffs of police stations. Supervising officers shall insist on the proper performance of these duties.

23.44. Conditions of colony tenancies. - Superintendents and other gazetted officers serving in colony areas should acquaint themselves with the conditions regulating the tenure of land in such areas. Under these conditions Government usually demands active loyalty from all occupiers of land, and reserves powers of forfeiture of tenancies or restriction of rights as a punishment to individuals or communities, which fail to render assistance in the suppression of crime. Details instructions on this subject are contained in notifications published from time to time in the Punjab Government Gazette, or in orders issued by the Financial Commissioners which are available in the offices of Deputy Commissioners.

2. The following instructions are issued with a view to explain the procedure more fully:-

- (1) In every case in which a criminal court makes an order under section 565 of the Code, directing that the person sentenced to imprisonment shall notify his residence and any change of residence after release, a copy of such order will be transmitted by the court passing the sentence and order, with the warrant of commitment issued under section 384 of the Code, to the officer-in-charge of the jail or other place in which the prisoner is, or is to be confined. The Honourable Judges of the High Court have been asked to issue instructions regarding this.
- (2) Not less than fourteen days before any prisoner, in regard to whom an order under section 565 of the Code has been made, is to be released, the officer-in-charge of the jail or other place in which such prisoner is then confined shall explain to the prisoner the nature of the order and the requirements of the rules, and shall call upon him to state the place at which he intends, after his release, to reside. The officer-in-charge of the jail or other place of confinement will thereupon inform the Superintendent of Police of the district in which such jail or other place of confinement is situated of the name and other particulars necessary for the identification of the prisoner and also of the place at which such prisoner intends, after his release, to reside.
- (3) The District Superintendent of Police will cause intimation to be given-
 - (a) if the place at which the prisoner intends to reside is situate within his district, - to the officer-in-charge of the police station within the local limits of which such place is situate; and

- (4) The rules provide that every released prisoner to whom they relate shall give not less than one day's notice of any intended change of residence to the officer-in-charge of the police station within the local limits of which the place, at which he is then residing, is situated. Within twenty-four hours of his arrival at his destination the prisoner is further required to notify the fact of his arrival to the officer-in-charge of the police station within the local limits of which the new place of residence is situated.
 - (5) The intimations required to be given by rules II, III and IV are ordinarily to be made personally by the released convict, at the proper police station. If any such convict is for any sufficient reason at any time unable to do this, or if the District Magistrate exempts a prisoner from personal attendance for this purpose, the intimation may be made in writing or in such other manner as the District Magistrate may prescribe in this behalf.
 - (6) Breaches of the rules are punishable under section 176 of the Indian Penal Code.
 - (7) The Inspector-General of Police will issue detailed instructions for giving effect to the rules in the Police Department.

Subsidiary Rules issued in the Police Department.

1. In the case of wandering individuals with no fixed "abode", an absence of one night or more will be considered to constitute a change of residence, except when the absence is due to a summons issued by a Civil, Criminal or Revenue Court, or to an order issued by a competent Civil authority. All other cases must be decided on their merits and no hard-and-fast rule can be laid down. It will be necessary to show that the change of residence is of a permanent or quasi-permanent nature. Mere absence from home for day or two does not constitute a change of residence is of a permanent or quasi-permanent nature. Mere absence from home for day or two does not constitute a change of residence.

2. In cases in which at the time of notifying "change of residence", the released convict reports his intention to return to the existing residence already notified under Rule II, III or IV within a period of one month such change shall be called "temporary change of residence".
3. When the Superintendent of Police receives an intimation from the officer-in-charge of the jail of an intended place of residence notified to the latter under Rule II, he shall at once forward a copy thereof to the officer-in-charge of the police station within the jurisdiction of which such place is situated. This officer will, immediately upon the arrival of the released convict, report the date thereof to the Superintendent of Police.
4. When a released convict notifies a change of residence or a temporary change of residence to the officer-in-charge of the police station, the particulars required by Rule VII shall be entered in Form 23.39(2). The officer-in-charge of the police station will deliver a copy thereof to the released convict and will forward the original to the officer-in-charge of the police station within the jurisdiction of which the released convict has intimated his intention to reside. The latter officer, on arrival of the released convict, will fill up column 6, and, in the case of the residence being of a permanent character, will at once return the form to the police station from which he received it. In case the residence is to be of a temporary character, he will retain the form until the convict reports his departure, when column 7 will be filled up and the form returned to the police station of issue.
5. On arrival at the police station within the jurisdiction of which his new residence is situated, the released convict will produce his copy of the form and get the date of his arrival entered in column 6. In the case of a permanent change of residence his copy will be returned to him at once. In the case of temporary change of residence, it will be kept until the date of departure is verbally reported. Column 7 will then be filled up, and the copy will be returned to the released convict to make over to the officer from whom he originally received it.
6. The names of such released convicts will be entered in the surveillance register (Police Station Register No. X).

NOTE ON THE CONTROL OF PATHAN IMMIGRANTS TO THE PUNJAB.

I. The temporary sojourn in the Punjab of large number of nomad or semi-nomad Pathans results annually in crime, the importance of which is disproportionate to its actual amount. Such crime, if it remains unpunished, is bound to have a demoralising effect on the criminal administration of the districts concerned.

II. The extent of the Pathan immigration. - The first step towards controlling the criminal propensities of Pathan immigrants is to appreciate to extent and main components of the annual influx. Exact figures are not available, but, from what is known of the numbers of Afghan subjects entering British India by various Passes, it is safe to take 1,00,000 as a conserving estimate of the extent of this immigration alone. The whole of this number does not come East of the Indus. The majority of families remain for the winter in the districts or the North-West Frontier Province and a proportion of the able bodied males also find employment in that Province. On the other hand a large number of Pathans, not included in the estimate given, enter or pass through the Punjab every year from the independent tribal territory and the settled districts of the North West Frontier Province. The number in this latter category probably fully equals that proportion of Afghan nomads which remain west of the Indus; so 100,000 is a reasonable figure at which to place the total of those with whom the Punjab is concerned.

It has been suggested, from time to time, that all these immigrants should be registered by some means or another or entering British India. Such a measure could be put into force at the cost of considerable special expenditure and special organisation on the part of Government, and of wholesale interference with the normal movements of the seasonal migration. A study of the subject shows that registration would not lead to the desired results and is not necessary.

III. The composition of the immigration. - The main division of Pathans who habitually visit India may be briefly described as follows :-

A. Afghan subjects and residents of Independent Tribal Territory.

1. Northern Ghilzais, Ningraharis, & c., who enter India via Khyber Pass and Kurram Valley. These are mainly camel drivers or labourers, and the vast majority of them give no trouble. Occasionally a gang of bad characters from this class is formed, and, the crimes committed by such a gang are often of a particularly violent nature.
2. The Southern Ghilzais or "Powindahs", who enter India mainly by the Tochi and Gumal Valleys. These tribes usually leave their families in the Derajat, while the men disperse over the length and breadth of India, trading in cloth or other goods and, with their camels, acting as carriers on the large scale. From the point of view of general public security in the Punjab, this very large class may be classified as non-criminal. They dabble in the arms and forged note traffic and are said occasionally to be addicted to misappropriation of goods entrusted to them as hired carriers. On rare occasions parties which have made their permanent winter encampments in the Mianwali district instead of in the Derajat, may be concerned in a dacoity. The control of such parties, however, is a purely local problem, which the lines stereotyped by long unaged in the neighbouring trans-indus districts.
3. Tribal contingents from Khost and other parts of the Afghan Province of "Simat-i-Janubi". On the basis of information at present available this division of immigrants appear to be one of the main causes of concern from the point of view of crime. It includes various tribes, but the Jadrans (or Zadrans) come in the greatest numbers to the Punjab. These tribes have in the past given but nebulous allegiance to Kabul and have been a perpetual source of trouble both to their own Government against which they were in open rebellion in 1924 - and to the Frontier Province Administration. They are, for the most part exceedingly poor and, compared with most Pathans, degenerate, but hardy. Those who come to the Punjab in the winter scatter all over the Province, but chiefly in the North-Western Districts, in small parties, often with their families, and include a high proportion of criminals. The nature of their activities and proposals for their control will be discussed later.
4. Immigrants from among the Baluchistan Tribes. - There is record of occasional crime by this class, and their habits and composition require study.
5. Immigrants from North-West Frontier Province Tribal Territory. - This class is distinct from the various categories of Afghan subjects, in that their influx into India is in no sense tribal. Adult males from almost all the trans-border tribes come to or through the Punjab in numbers which vary according to the characteristics of the various tribes and to locally prevailing conditions, but they all come in their individual capacity in search of a temporary livelihood. In the Punjab this class usually finds its way to the scene of work on big contracts. The class includes many habitual criminals, whose control demands special measures.

B. British subjects from the Districts of the North-West Frontier Province.

This second main division should, for purposes of applying suitable control be subdivided into various categories, but it will suffice here to consider it as one, especially as the greater number of immigrants belonging to it come from the Northern districts of Hazara and Peshawar.

The main feature of this class is that it includes a large number of habitual offenders of two kinds; (a) men who desire to escape the attention of the Police at their homes, (b) men who, to ensure immunity in a deliberately criminal career in the Punjab and other Provinces, are scrupulously careful of their reputation at their homes.

There is one more category of Pathans which must not be overlooked in considering this subject. In many of the large towns of the Punjab there is a considerable number of Pathans permanently settled. Their status varies from that of substantial contractors to tea-shopkeepers or tonga drivers. Their importance lies in their position as "contracts" between wandering Pathans and local people or local knowledge.

IV. The nature of crime attributed to Pathans. - The classes of crime committed by Pathans may be summarised as follows :-

- (1) Raids by gangs formed in independent territory and descending to commit a specific offence, retiring thereafter back to independent territory. On the grounds of the history of such cases it is an absolutely fair statement to say that, if there are no Punjabi outlaws in tribal territory, there will be no raids of this nature. Between 1915 and 1923, Mahsud gangs harried in the Isa Khel tahsil, led by Kulu, an Isa Khel outlaw. The Attock district has suffered when its own outlaws have been living with Kohat Pass Afridis and have led gangs from there. Attock and Rawalpindi suffered in the years before the War, when Sultan, a Rawalpindi outlaw, was in the Black mountain and when Fazlo and his gang were with the Gaduns. The recent Hassanabdal raid is a partial exception, but the local "razdari" without which no raid is ever committed was provided in that case by the employment of a Pathan (in fact an Afghan Shinwari) as chowkidar - a form of imbecility which might well be prohibited. The prevention of raids in the Frontier Province is mainly a matter of sustained activity against outlaws. In the less complicated conditions in this respect in the Punjab, similar action should provide an absolute preventive.
- (2) Dacoities by gangs of Pathans residing temporarily in the Punjab. This is one of the two classes of crime by Pathans, which most requires special measures of prevention. The first stage in evolving such measures is to ascertain the circumstances in which and by whom this class of crime is committed and so to concentrate preventive action where it can be effective.
- (3) House breaking, animal theft and cognate offences committed by Pathans. Crime of this type is usually due to large concentration of Pathan labour or to the formation of a particular gang of expert criminals.
- (4) Specialised crime carried on by Pathans alone or by Pathans and Punjabis in combination. This now exists to a serious and dangerous extent, especially in respect of the smuggling of excisable commodities and the traffic in arms, and undoubtedly requires special measures of prevention.

V. Organisation. - The foregoing summary shows that the types of crime committed by Pathans and the criminal element among the immigrants are readily defined. Control can be obtained through concentration within these limits rather than by sweeping restrictions.

The primary need is to make generally available to the police in districts as much information as possible in regard to this class of crime and to co-ordinate their methods of dealing with it. The organisation to this end should be suited to the requirements of all India and all that is needed is the development of existing machinery. Bombay and Calcutta already have "Pathan Sections" in the Crime Branch of their Criminal Investigation Departments. The Punjab has the embryo of a similar section. The North-Western Frontier Provinces have a section which devotes intensive attention to the arms trade.

It has been mentioned that there is a class of criminals, having their homes in the North-West Frontier Province Districts, who have clean records at their homes, but make profession of crime in other Provinces. The record was published a few years ago of one such individual against whom nothing was known at his home, though, when finally arrested in the Central Provinces, some thirty serious crimes with violence were traced against him; special attention is needed to ensure that, by the proper use of History Sheets, Bad Character Rolls and Intimation Sheets, such cases are brought under strict surveillance at their homes, and are treated precisely as if they were locally troublesome. The not unnatural tendency, in the absence of special supervision is for the local police to turn the blind eye to such cases.

So far as residents of the administered districts of the Frontier Province are concerned effective control of wandering criminals is quite practicable, provided the normal police machinery for the interchange of information is efficiently worked and followed by action in the "home" Police Station under the security sections of the Criminal Procedure Code, and for restriction of movement under the Habitual Offenders Act (which is in force in the North-West Frontier Province) or under section 36 of the Frontier Crimes Regulation. The control of these British subjects covers quite half the danger field.

Where Afghan subjects and independent tribesmen are concerned direct control is not easy, and wholesale scrutiny is almost impracticable in view of the fact that the migration in the autumn and spring is compressed into a few weeks, during which, literally, a torrent of humanity flows through the Passes. Friendly contact can be made with the Maliks and leading men of the vast majority of well behaved immigrants, and, through them, as much valuable information and assistance in controlling lawless elements can be obtained. The Pathan is peculiarly amenable to friendly co-operation of this nature, and nothing is likely to be so effective in isolating the criminals from the well behaved and bringing them under effective control, as the provision of a sufficiency of officers in the Punjab, who understand enough about Pathans to gain some measure of the confidence of the well conducted, and to inspire some wholesome dread in the ill-disposed.

It appears essential that the Punjab Criminal Investigation Department should have a Pathan section consisting of at least 1 inspector, 1 sub-inspector and 4 or 5 head constables, obtained on deputation from the Frontier Province with perhaps an element from Baluchistan. Although the Pathan immigration is a matter of the winter months only, it will be shown that the staff suggested could be most usefully and fully employed throughout the year. This section of the Punjab Criminal Investigation Department (and similar sections in other Provinces which suffer from pathan criminality should work in the completest co-operation with the Peshawar Criminal Investigation Department, by exchanging information, by seeing that information is both made available to and used by districts, and in devising and operating methods to meet different varieties of crime. It is noticeable at present, both that ridiculously little information is generally available on the subject of Pathan crime, and that what little has been made available is not acted upon. The Criminal Intelligence Gazette should be much more freely used both on the publication of particulars of individual suspects, for general information regarding the habits and modus operandi of different gangs or classes of Pathans and for instruction in regard to methods of prevention and detection. The Pathan experts in the Criminal Investigation Department should also be used, especially during the winter, in touring areas where Pathans are settled either in villages or on big contracts, with the object of bringing the local police into touch with the settlers, marking down and initiating action in respect of bad characters among them, and assisting in the investigation of cases in which Pathans are suspected to have been concerned.

To supplement this small body of experts it is suggested that selected sub-inspectors of the Punjab Police might be sent in batches of 5 or 5 every year for a period of 3 months attachments to the North-West Frontier Province. In this period they should cover as many of the Frontier Districts as possible with the object of acquiring an elementary acquaintance with the many different types of Pathans, and with their country and language. Such selections would naturally be made chiefly from the North-Western Districts of the Province, as these are most closely concerned. It would be advantageous that these Punjab officers should be attached definitely to an experienced inspector in each Frontier District which they visit, so that one individual may be responsible for giving them the most comprehensive instruction and hints. In some instances in the past, districts such as Sargodha have obtained the loan for one or more Pathan Non-commissioned Officers direct from one of the Frontier Province District; this is a useful supplement to other measures suggested. The object of the deputation to Frontier Districts is to meet to some extent the present practical difficulty in Pathan cases. There is often no single police official in a district who knows enough about Pathans to make even the simplest inquiries from them or to distinguish between a Powndah and Peshawari. With the machinery improved on the lines suggested it would become possible systematically to tackle the various classes of crime and professional criminals which have been described.

VI. Preventive measures. - Dacoities other than raids, are committed by two main classes of Pathans, the poverty-stricken labourers from Khost, who have been already described, and bad characters mainly from the Peshawar or Hazara Districts. All such cases should be regarded as requiring Criminal Investigation Department assistance in their investigation, in order that all the resources of "Intelligence" on the subject may be brought to bear and that gang ramifications may be thoroughly sifted with a view not only to convictions in isolated cases, but comprehensive preventive action. Investigations now proceeding the Western Range afford instances both of the benefit of Coordinated and the defects of isolated action. From the pooling investigations in several districts it is now clear - and there are good ground for hope that the case can be proved - that for years past dacoities of a particular types have been committed, to the number of about a dozen annually, by the "badmash" element of one or two small sections of the Jadran tribe from Khost. The culprits probably amount to not more than 60 or 70 in all, from which total, gangs 5 to 20 in number have been habitually formed for committing specific dacoities at places previously spied out by individual members of the faternity. More than 40 arrests have been made of persons suspected to belong to this criminal group, but, before co-operation could be fully set going, several of these suspects had been released by individual districts, because in their own particular cases, evidence for prosecution was lacking. The investigation is now being controlled by the Criminal investigation Department, and special assistance has been obtained from Peshawar. It is premature to recommend any particular action, but apart from the possibilities of individual or gang prosecutions, it seems probably that it will be possible to put forward a strong case for excluding the particular Afghan-tribes concerned from India for a term of years, or for registering it as a "Criminal Tribe" in the Punjab.

This investigation affords a clear indication of the process by which special staff of export should be able, by investigations into the habits of all classes of Pathan immigrants, to eliminate the well behaved and concentrate on the genuine criminals. The action to be taken where dacoities are being committed by Pathans of British territory is, as had already been indicated, merely the thorough application of normal police procedure.

The use of the provisions of section 109, Criminal Procedure Code and of the Foreigners Act have repeatedly been advocated for controlling suspected Pathans. The former is not a very valuable weapon when almost every Pathan around in the Punjab is able and willing to earn his living by honest labour and can always produce evidence to that effect. The use of the Foreigners Act is confined to Afghan subjects and independent tribesmen and their deportation to the Frontier is of no avail if they return immediately to another part of the Punjab, where the chances of their suffering the penalty of violation of the expulsion order are negligible. Where the Foreigners Act is used to seem advisable that photographs, finger prints and descriptive rolls of the deportee should be widely circulated. There appears to be no legal method of deporting from the Punjab, merely on suspicion, a resident of one of the administered districts of the Frontier Province, but, whenever a conviction, even under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, or in a trivial offence, has been obtained against such an individual, it is possible to get him back to his home by classifying him for transfer to his home jail for release (i.e. P.R.T.). The Regulations might will be amended, if necessary, to permit of this being done. Police co-operation would ensure that a habitual criminal so transferred would be restricted on release from jail.

The next category requiring attention is the gang labour under contractors. This branch of the subject requires detailed study by the expert staff. It appears that these labour gangs are on the whole well behaved - though if memory serves, Pathan labour gave considerable trouble when the Upper Jhelum Canal was being dug. Lately they have come chiefly to notice in connection with fairly petty thefts of cattle, contractor's donkeys and so on. there is no doubt, however, that dangerous criminals are likely to be found among such gatherings. - both men who will commit skilled or violence crime and men who desire to disappear from a serious hue and cry elsewhere. Labour contractors - often themselves Pathans - or 'Jemadars' should be made to assist the police in shifting the antecedents of their men, reporting suspicious absences, etc. Police activity of this sort requires to be conducted with considerations for the requirements of the Public Works Department or other authority responsible for the work; it would be as well for general instructions, which would meet police requirements in the matter, to be worked out in consultation with the Public Works Department.

Specialised crime, in which pathans are prominently concerned, consists mainly of traffic in arms and in Afghan opium and similar excisable commodities. Each such branch of crime obviously requires special attention, for bestowing which the suggested Pathan section of the Criminal Investigation Department is the most suitable agency. It is impossible to discuss the details of this class of crime within the scope of this note, but two special features of it may be noted. It exists because there is the Frontier a source of supply to meet a Punjab demand, and there is a close association which does not exist in other classes of 'Pathan crime' between Punjabis and Pathans to the extent that Punjabi frequently visit the Frontier Province to make their illicit purchases. It is clear, therefore, that while the co-operation of the Frontier Province Administration in controlling such enterpots of illicit raid as the village of Jam in the Khyber Agency is called for, it is equally necessary in the Punjab at attack the local traders in and purchasers of the goods obtainable from these sources. A further point worth recording is that the extension of this class of smuggling is natural consequences of the permanent location of Punjabi troops in a large number of outposts and Cantonments beyond the Administrative Frontier. Before 1915 all these areas were garrisoned solely by local irregular corps. troops were all in Cantonments in British territory where any illicit traffic between Punjabi soldiers and local residents was bound to come to the notice of the district police before it developed to any serious extent. Now-a-days there is absolutely no effective check on the doings of the thousands of Punjabis cantoned in Wazirisan and the Khyber. They are in continuous contact with local residents, who have access to camps and cantonments on a hundred legitimate excuses; it is little more difficult for the sepoy to buy a revolver or a seer of opium than it is for him to buy a seer of milk. The police are helpless; they cannot except on the strongest of grounds and with the permission of the military authorities, search sepoys going on leave through Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan, or Peshawar.

An important aid to the control of Pathan criminals generally is that the police (both the special staff and the district police) should acquire as full a knowledge as possible of Pathans who carry on permanent occupations in the Punjab and should cultivate such relations, as will ensure access to all information of importance, with such local residents as have special contact with Pathans. In many Punjab towns there are a considerable number of Pathans settled both in respectable commercial positions and as tonga drivers, tea-shopkeepers and so on; there are also numerous traders, both Hindu and Muhammadans who have a regular Pathan clientele. It is not the houses or shops of the more respectable of such persons that Pathans seeking work or passing through a town habitually resort for help, for news of their friends and for lodging. Respectable people of this sort, and keepers of tea-shops or lodging houses are frequently used as accommodation addresses for correspondence between Pathans including those who are criminally associated.

While friendly relations with the better class resident Pathan, and other 'contracts' such as those mentioned, would open up many sources of valuable informations, the less respectable resident Pathan community requires more direct supervision, both regard personal character and associates and visitors. Some of these residence Pathan doubtless commit crime themselves, but it is maintainly in connection with the disposal of property stolen by 'immigrants' and harbouring the latter before the and after commission of offences, that they are important.

Though the foregoing review shows that the criminal activities of Pathans in the Punjab are not amenable to control by such a method, it is worthwhile to consider briefly the available experience of wholesale- registration. Afghan Passport Regulations have been in existence for some years, including a special form of passport for nomads and drivers of wheeled or animal transport only. Theoretically, every emigrant from Afghanistan who comes within these categories is bound to provide himself annually with such a passport, which should contain his full description and other particulars and a record of the dependents accompanying him. the fee is Rs. 2 and the passport includes the usual request to the officials of friendly Governments to afford the bearer assistance and protection. A considerable proportion of Afghan subjects entering India now-a-days possess these passport. Such persons, when asked, never mention the sum of Rs. 2 as the fee; it is always from Rs. 3 to Rs. 5. The passports are signed by petty 'Moharrirs' they are but little guarantee of identity and none whatever of character. The revenue which they bring in may be of some value to the Afghan Government and to its servants. this aspect of the matter is the only incentive to force them upon as many travellers as possible, but whole classes, which do not pass the headquarters of a 'Hakim' on their way to India, never receive a passport. On the other hand evidence is already appearing of a tendency on the part of subordinate police, village headmen and even magistrates to regard these Afghan passports as guarantees at least of bona fides, if not of good character. when the criminal elements among the immigrants wakes up to this state of affairs, they will take good care to provide themselves with insurance policies against molestation, even though the issuing Moharrir may raise the premium immoderately. Instructions might well be issued that these Afghan passports are of no value whatever as a guide to the character of the holder and confer absolutely no immunity. In point of fact the issue of a passport is in itself of no value without the visa of the country to be traversed. No British Indian visa is granted on the Afghan 'Nomads passport' and it is understood that the Government of India have definitely decided to exclude nomads entirely from any system of passport control which may be enforced on the Indian side of the Afghan border.

CHAPTER 24*Information to the Police*

24.1 First Information how recorded. - (1) Sections 154 and 155, Code of Criminal Procedure, provide that every information relating to an offence, whether cognizable or non-cognizable, shall be recorded in writing by the officer incharge of a police station.

The distinction between the form of reports required by the above-mentioned two sections has been defined as follows by the Punjab Chief Court (now High Court) :-

Every information covered by section 154, Criminal Procedure Code, must be reduced to writing as provided in that section and the substance thereof must be entered in the police station daily diary, which is the book provided for the purpose. It is only information which raises a reasonable suspicion of the commission of a cognizable offence within the jurisdiction of the police officer to whom it is given, which compels action under Section 157, Criminal Procedure Code.

(2) With the exception of cases mentioned in rule 24.10 below, in every case in which the officer in charge of a police station, from information or otherwise, has reason to suspect the commission of an offence, which he is empowered under section 156, Criminal Procedure Code, to investigate, he shall enter in full such information or other intelligence as soon as practicable in the First Information Report Register, shall have each copy signed, marked or sealed by the information, if present, shall seal each with the station seal, and shall dispose of the copies in accordance with rule 24.5, and if he abstains from investigation under either of the provisos to section 157 of the Code he shall submit the copy intended for the magistrate through the Superintendent. At the same time a reference to such report shall be entered in the Station Diary, register No. II.

(3) All such entries shall, if possible, be made by the officer in charge himself, and, if not so possible, by the station clerk under his direction. - (a) Murders.
- (b) Dacoities.
- (c) Other offences.

(2) A special file may be opened if necessary for any particular case.

24.19. The duties of the Police as Excise Officers. - (1) Co-operation between the excise and police forces is necessary for the detection and investigation of excise offences. The Inspector-General of Police and the Financial-Commissioner lay stress upon this co-operation as one of the principal secrets of successful working. Any case of jealous or obstructive working will be severely dealt with.

(2) When an officer in charge of a police station becomes aware of an excise offence, he shall at once register it as a police case and inform the District Excise Officer, who with respect to such cases shall be regarded as the magistrate in charge of the police station. The excise sub-inspector concerned shall also be informed and his co-operation invited, but no delay shall be allowed to occur merely in order to obtain his presence.

(3) All excise inspectors and sub-inspectors are required to maintain a First Information Report Register for the registration of complaints and reports of excise offences. In all cognizable cases a copy of the First Information Report shall be sent to the police station in whose jurisdiction the offence is reported. In return the excise inspector or sub-inspector will be given a copy of the Police First Information Report as a report.

(4) An excise inspector or sub-inspector shall not ordinarily attempt a search or make an arrest by himself. He shall always obtain the assistance of the police sub-inspector. If, however, delay is likely to defeat the ends of justice, the excise inspector or sub-inspector shall make the arrest or search himself, and at the same time send to the police sub-inspector for assistance.

(5) The prevention of illicit distillation of spirit is one of the most important of the duties of the police. This will not be effected by isolated seizures. It involves careful and sustained enquiry and a complete knowledge of his jurisdiction by the officer in charge of the police station. As a rule the manufacture of illicit spirit is confined to certain castes which are habitual consumers of spirit. The most probable localities of illicit traffic should thus be easily ascertainable by the officer in charge of the police station. It is impossible for an illicit still to be regularly worked in a village without the knowledge of the chaukidars and lambardars. The trade betrays itself by the resulting smell, the accumulation of refuse, and the occurrence of drunkenness, where no means of illicit supply exist. If these things happen and the village officials make no report, it is obvious that they are conniving at the offence. In such cases the officer in charge of the police station must at once take steps, to have these rural officials punished. Where it is notorious that illicit stills are worked, the officer in charge of the police station neglects his duty if he does not arrange to put in operation the provisions for search, seizure, and prosecution contained in the Excise Act.

(6) If it is found that illicit manufacture of country spirit has been extensively carried on in a police station jurisdiction, and preventive action has not been taken by the police, neglect of duty on the part of the officer in charge of the police station will be presumed.

(7) Attention must also be paid to the unlicensed sale of spirit in large towns by soda-water sellers and others, and to the smuggling of country spirit in thanas adjoining Indian States.

(8) Any charas coming into the Punjab by any other routes than those sanctioned should at once be detained under section 61 of the Excise Act, and the orders of the Collector taken. Charas smugglers generally travel by rail and can easily be captured in co-operation with the railway checking staff, who while examining their tickets can also examine their luggage.

(9) The use of cocaine, except for medical and surgical purposes, is altogether prohibited in the Punjab. The principal places in the Punjab into which it is smuggled are Lahore, Amritsar, Rawalpindi, Ambala and Karnal.

(10) offences against the opium law vary in their nature with various districts: the most important offences, viz., smuggling and illicit sale of smuggled opium (whether contrived by licensed vendors themselves or by private individuals) being common or uncommon according to the geographical position of districts with reference to Rajputana, Afghanistan and the Hill States, or even railway communication with Nepal.

(11) No opium can be imported into a district without a pass; and any police officer can, therefore, detain bulk opium if there is no pass. He can also search a person whom he believes to be guilty of having excess quantities of opium in his possession. Any police officer above the rank of head constable may search premises in which he believes smuggled or illicit opium is stored.

The legal limit of possession of opium is two tolas and any person bringing it from any Indian State in excess of this amount is liable to arrest and prosecution under section 9 of the Act.

(12) the sale of all preparations of opium for smoking of illegal. There is need of continued activity in tracing out and prosecuting proprietors of chandu and madak dens in which sales occur, the object being to make indulgence in opium smoking so difficult and disreputable that the younger generation will be unlikely to acquire it.

Under the Opium Smoking Act, 1923, members of opium smoking assemblies as well as proprietors of houses used for opium smoking are liable to prosecution. Under section 14 of the Act every officer of the police department is required to give reasonable aid to an excise officer making any arrest or search under the Act. The police have no powers of search, seizure or arrest under the Punjab Opium smoking Act; but they have such powers under sections 14 and 15 of the Opium Act, 1978, against any individual in possession of more than the half tola of preparations of admixtures of opium used for smoking which is the limit of legal possession under section 9 of the Act.

(13) The Financial Commissioner has impressed upon all Deputy Commissioners the necessity of granting liberal rewards both to informers and to arresting officers in all excise cases. Rewards to sub-inspectors and officers of lower rank may be sanctioned by the Deputy Commissioners up to Rs. 200, but the sanction of the Financial Commissioner is required for larger rewards and for rewards to officers of higher rank.

CHAPTER 25Investigation

25.1. Powers to investigate. - (1) An officer in charge of a police station is empowered by Section 156, Criminal Procedure Code, to investigate any cognizable offence which occurs within the limits of his jurisdiction.

(2) He is also empowered under Section 157(1), Criminal procedure Code, to depute a subordinate to proceed to the spot to investigate the facts and circumstances of the case, and if necessary, to take measures for the discovery and arrest of the offenders. Any police officer may be so deputed under this section, but where a police officer under the rank of assistant sub-inspector is deputed the investigation shall invariably be taken up and completed by the officer in charge of the police station or an assistant sub-inspector at the first opportunity.

(3) An officer in charge of a station shall also render assistance whenever required to all officers of the Criminal Investigation Department working within his jurisdiction.

25.2. Powers of investigating officer. - (1) The powers and privileges of a police officer making an investigation are detailed in Sections 160 to 175, Criminal Procedure Code.

An officer so making an investigation shall invariably issue an order in writing in Form 25.2(1) to any person summoned to attend such investigation and shall endorse on the copy of the order retained by the person so summoned the date and time of his arrival at, and the date and time of his departure from, the place to which he is summoned. The duplicate of the order shall be attached to the case diary.

(2) No avoidable trouble shall be given to any person from whom enquiries are made and no person shall be unnecessarily detained.

(3) It is the duty of an investigating officer to find out the truth of the matter under investigation. His object shall be to discover the actual facts of the case and to arrest the real offender or offenders. He shall not commit himself prematurely to any view of the facts for or against any person.

25.3. Action when offence occurring in another police station is reported. - When the occurrence of a cognizable offence in another police station jurisdiction is reported, the fact shall be recorded, in the daily diary and information shall be sent to the officer in charge of the police station in the jurisdiction of which the offence was committed. Meanwhile all possible lawful measures shall be taken to secure the arrest of the offender and the detection of the offence.

25.4. Where offence appears to have occurred in other police station. - (1) If a police officer after registering a case and commencing an investigation discovers that the offence was committed in the jurisdiction of another police station he shall at once send information to the officer in charge of such police station.

(2) Upon receipt of information such officer shall proceed without delay to the place where the investigation is being held and undertake the investigation.

25.5. Disputes as to jurisdiction. - Should the officer who is thus summoned to the spot dispute the jurisdiction, both officers shall jointly carry on the investigation under the orders of the senior officer and neither shall leave until the question of jurisdiction has been settled and acknowledged. The case record shall be kept at the police station where the information was first received until the question of jurisdiction has been decided.

25.6. Relieving and relieved officers to sign case diaries. - When a police officer is relieved in the course of an investigation he shall record a report of all that he has done in a case diary and sign it, giving the date and hour of his relief. Such case diary shall be made over to the relieving officer, who shall certify thereon that he acknowledges the case to have occurred within his station limits, or to be one which he is empowered to investigate, as the case may be.

25.7. Cancellation of a case in one police station and registration in another. - When a case is transferred from one police station to another, the offence registered in the original police station shall be cancelled by the Superintendent and a first information report shall be submitted from the police station in the jurisdiction of which the case occurred.

25.8. Cases which may be lawfully investigated in more local areas than one. - (1) If the case is one which the officer in charge of the police station may lawfully investigate, but which may also be lawfully and more successfully investigated in another police station, such officer while continuing his investigation, shall refer the matter to the Superintendent, who shall transfer the case or not as he sees fit.

(2) If it is desired to transfer the case to a police station in another district, the Superintendent shall refer the matter to the District Magistrate and move him to act according to the orders contained in Chapter 26, Volume III, of the Rules and Orders of the High Court.

(3) When an investigation has been transferred from one district to another the police files with original first information report shall be forwarded to the Superintendent of the district to which the transfer is made.

25.9. Optional investigation. - (1) Section 157(b), Criminal Procedure Code, gives wide powers to an officer in charge of a police station to refrain from investigation in unimportant cases. It is the duty, however, of every officer receiving a report to consider not only the intrinsic importance of the offence alleged and the expressed wishes of the complainant but the bearing which the report has or may have on the detection of other cases or on the prevention of crime and the control of criminals. Very many cases which appears trivial in themselves may, if investigated furnish a clue to the operations of professional criminals or afford valuable material at a later date for preventive action. In practice it is seldom advisable for an officer-in-charge of a police station to avail himself of the power to refuse investigations, which the law gives him.

(2) When, at the time when a report of a cognizable offence is received, the investigating staff of the police station concerned is already occupied with more important cases, the investigation of which would suffer by being interrupted, such report shall be duly recorded and investigation may be dispensed with. Such action not be held to limit the discretion of the officer-in-charge of the police station to investigate the case at a later date, if he thinks it desirable to do so.

(3) If the informant is present when the first information report is recorded, he shall be informed forthwith that no investigation will be made, and, after noting this fact in the first information report, his signature or thumb-mark shall be taken to it. If the informant is not present, he shall be informed in writing by post card, or by the delivery of a notice by hand, and the fact that this has been done shall be noted in the first information report.

(4) When investigation is dispensed with, a note shall be made in the first information report stating whether the complainant desires an investigation or not and full reasons shall be given for abstaining from investigation. All such cases shall be brought to the notice of the Superintendent of Police personally, who shall pass such orders on them as he may think fit in accordance with the principle embodied in this rule.

25.10. Immediate despatch of an officer to the spot. - When a report of a cognizable case is recorded and it is decided not to dispense with investigation under Section 157(b), Criminal Procedure Code, a police officer shall proceed to the scene immediately. The officer who first proceeds to the spot shall, if he be not competent to complete the investigation, take all possible steps to preserve the scene of the crime from disturbance, to record particulars of and secure the presence of potential witnesses, obtain information relating to the case and arrest the culprit.

25.11. Investigation in non-cognizable cases. - (1) No police officer shall investigate a non-cognizable offence unless ordered to do so by a competent magistrate under Sections 196-B or 202, Criminal Procedure Code.

(2) When an investigation in a non-cognizable case is thus ordered and is taken up by the police under Section 155(3), Criminal Procedure Code, it must be carried through in the same manner as if the offence were cognizable, except that no arrest shall be made without a warrant. In every such case a police officer making an investigation shall day by day enter his proceedings in a case diary and submit them daily as prescribed for cognizable cases in Police Rule 25.53. Case diaries shall be submitted through the gazetted officer concerned to the court which has ordered investigation. No copies shall be prepared or kept by the police.

(3) The High Court has ordered that only serious cases, and cases in which there are special reasons to do so, shall be referred to the police under Section 202, Criminal Procedure Code (Rule 4, Chapter I-B of Rules and Orders of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, Volume III-1931). Superintendents of Police shall decline to accept for action references in which provisions of Section 202, Criminal procedure Code, itself, and the instructions of the High Court referred to above have not been strictly complied with.

25.12. Orders in writing. - All orders in writing made in a case, i.e. order to arrest, to search and to summon, etc., shall be attached to the case diaries, or their absence shall be satisfactorily accounted for.

25.13. Plan of scene. - (1) In all important cases two plans of the scene of the offences shall be prepared by a qualified police officer or other suitable agency one to be submitted with the charge sheet or final report and the other to be retained for departmental use.

(2) The following rules shall govern the preparation of maps or plans by patwaris or other expert :-

- (i) Pursuant to paragraph 26 of the Patwari Rules, the Financial Commissioner, with the concurrence of the Inspector General of Police, issues the following instructions concerning the preparation by patwaris of maps needed to illustrate police inquiries.
- (ii) In ordinary cases no demands for such maps will be made upon patwaris.
- (iii) In the case of heinous crime, especially in cases of murder or riots connected with land disputes, the police officer investigating the case will, if he considers an accurate map is required, summons to the scene of the crime the patwari of the circle in which it occurred and cause him to prepare two maps, one for production in court as evidence and the other for the use of the police investigating agency. In the former reference relating to facts observed by the police officer should be entered while in the latter references based on the statement of witnesses which are not relevant in evidence may be recorded. He will be careful not to detain the patwaris longer than is necessary for the preparation of maps.

- (iv) It is necessary to define clearly the responsibility of the patwari and police officer in respect of these maps.
- (v) The police officer will indicate to the patwari the limits of the land of which he desires map, and the topographical items to be shown therein. The patwari will then be responsible for drawing the maps correctly, by tracing, if necessary, the second copy, for making accurately on maps all these items and for entering on the maps due distances. He will not write on the map, intended for production as evidence in the court any explanations. The police officer may write any explanations on the traced copy of the map.
- (vi) It is for the police officer himself to add to the second copy of the map such remarks as may be necessary to explain the connection of the map with the case under inquiry. He is also responsible equally with the patwaris for the correctness of all distances, but on the copy of the map drawn by the patwari for presentation, in court he will make no remarks or explanations based on the statements of witnesses.
- (vii) It will be convenient if all the entries made by the patwari are made in black ink, and those added by the police officer in red ink.
- (viii) Patwaris will not in any case be required by a police officer to make a map of an inhabited enclosure or of land inside a town or village site.

25.14. Technical assistance in investigation. - (1) Investigating officers are expected to take steps to secure expert technical assistance and advice, whenever such appears desirable in the course of an investigation for purposes of evidence or for demonstration in court.

(2) The Criminal Investigation Department is able to obtain expert technical assistance on many subjects and should be freely consulted in that connection by investigating officers through their Superintendents of Police. When such assistance is required a full report shall be sent to the Assistant Inspector General, Crime and Criminal Tribes, so that he may be in a position to decide whether it is essential to send an expert to the scene of the crime or whether the material to be dealt with should be sent to the expert. In making such reports use should be made of telegraphic and telephonic facilities.

(3) The Criminal Investigation Department, in conjunction with the Finger Print Bureau, undertakes photographic and some other varieties of technical work. In addition it is in contact with technical experts on many subjects, whose services can frequently be obtained for work in connection with criminal investigation. In respect of the examination of handwriting, investigating officers can obtain the services of the Examiner of Questioned Documents with the Government of India, through the Criminal Investigation Department. That department is also the channel for obtaining the services of the Inspector of Explosives for Northern India who, as well as advising on explosives generally, can give expert opinion as to whether a weapon has been recently fired, whether certain matter is gunpowder or not, and all questions generally savouring of chemical analysis.

25.15. Hand-writing. - (1) The above rules do not apply to references to the Finger Print Bureau and the Chemical Examiner to the Punjab Government, to whom, under the rules applicable, Superintendents of Police are required to make references direct. The Criminal Investigation Department is, however, in direct contact with both these technical officers and investigating officers should enlist its co-operation when any specifically intricate work is required of them.

(2) Nothing in the preceding sub-rule shall debar a Superintendent of Police or investigating officer from availing himself of any expert technical assistance, when may be directly available to him, for the purpose of investigation. If expert evidence is to be given in court, however, it should be provided by Government experts only, when such experts exist.

(3) In connection with the examination of arms and ammunition, arsenal officials should only be required to report, and if absolutely essential, give evidence (i) on technical factory points, e.g., whether a weapon is in serviceable condition; whether a particular part of a weapon is factory or mistri made, and the like; (ii) on the type of ammunition intended to be used (not can be used as experience shows that there is practically no limit in this respect) in a particular weapon; and (iii) whether a cartridge has been reloaded, nature of load, and the like. Arsenal experts shall not be used for elaborate and definite sworn testimony as to whether a particular missile was or was not fired from a particular weapon. Should districts desire opinions of this nature they may apply to the Criminal Investigation Department for assistance but such references should be confined to cases of major importance only.

25.16. Cases against Government servants. - When a Government servant is accused or is suspected of the commission of an offence in the course of his official duties his immediate departmental superior shall, as far as may be wise and practicable, be kept informed regarding the course of the police investigation.

25.17. Supervision by gazetted officers. - (1) In all important cases gazetted officers are required personally to supervise the investigation so far as is possible and when necessary to visit the scene of the offence.

(2) A record of investigations by gazetted officers shall be kept in the prescribed column of the register of cognizable offences and an abstract thereof shall be shown in the quarterly Inspection Statement and in the Annual Provincial Statement.

(3) Every gazetted officer shall maintain a running note-book of offences, in which he shall enter the salient points of the first information report and case diaries as he hears them. The following are some of the points that should be entered in his note-book :-

First Information Report :- (a) Police station, village, section, date and time of offence;

(b) Distance of village from police station and date and time of investigation opening;

(c) Name and rank of investigating officer, who should always be the senior officer available. Reasons for junior officer taking up cases should be most carefully checked; and

(d) Salient features of the case.

Case Diaries :- (a) Dates of case diaries;

(b) By whom written and where; and

(c) Salient features.

All unnecessary delays in the course of investigation, in chalaning successful cases or in submitting final reports in untraced cases should be carefully observed and stopped. Deputy Inspectors-General shall call for these note-books at their inspections and insist on their being intelligently used for the purpose of efficient supervision of investigations.

(4) Gazetted officers shall interest themselves in the chalans of cases in their charge as they come in and discuss them with the prosecuting inspector, and if possible, with the officers who investigated them; and shall keep in touch with the proceedings in court.

(5) Every gazetted officer in headquarters should see daily the English register (27.36) of cognizable offences, with special reference to columns 14 to 17 in register to cases in his charge, and he should bring to the notice of the District Magistrate through the proper channel, any unnecessary delays that occur in dealing with cases in courts, instances in which witnesses come up with chalans and are sent back unheard, and delays in framing charges, hearing arguments or pronouncing judgments.

(6) Gazetted officers should follow closely the progress of cases in their charge through the courts and they should ascertain, as soon as possible, the grounds for all discharges and acquittals. If the grounds for the discharges or acquittals appear to be unreasonable, they should at once bring the cases prominently to the notice of the District Magistrate through the Superintendent of Police.

25.18. Statement recorded under Section 161, Code of Criminal Procedure. - Statements recorded by an investigating officer under Section 161, Code of Criminal Procedure shall not form part of the case diary prescribed by Section 172, but shall be recorded separately and attached to the case diary, the necessary number of copies being made by the carbon copying process on case diary continuation sheets [form 25.54(1)]. The number of statements attached to a particular case diary, and the number of pages in each statement, shall be noted in the case diary. An investigating officer, after examining a person orally or recording a statement under section 161, Code of Criminal Procedure, shall make a brief note of the fact in his case diary.

25.18-A. Communications of official documents or information. - (1) It is a universally recognised and fundamental principle of police procedure that the identity of sources and agents from whom secret information is obtained shall be known only to the officer who employs them and that every precaution shall be taken to protect them from exposure. Except by direction of the Governor, a Police officer shall on no account disclose the identity of a source or agent to any officer or person outside the Force. Within the Force he shall disclose it only to or as ordered by the superior officers mentioned below. In the Criminal Investigating Department this superior officer is the Deputy Inspector General in the case of the whole department and the Superintendent of Police, Political and Assistant to the Inspector-General for Crime and Criminal Tribes as regards the Special and Crime Branches, respectively. In a district it is the Superintendent of Police or the gazetted officer immediately under whom the police officer employing an agent or source is working. When information obtained from an agent has to be transmitted to others, the greatest care shall be exercised to avoid the exposure of such agent. The original report, or an exact copy of the original report, shall not be transmitted but the substance or a paraphrase shall be sent.

(2) All sources of police information are protected in judicial trials by Sections 124 and 125 of the Indian Evidence Act which provide respectively that no public officer should be compelled to disclose communications made to him in official confidence and that no Magistrate or police officer shall be compelled to say whence he obtained any information as to the commission of any offence. Instructions regarding the production of police records as evidence are contained in Rule 27.24.

(3) The Governor's Rules to secure the protection of sources of information under Section 58 of the Government of India Act, 1935 and the Inspector-General's directions framed under those Rules will be found in Appendix 25.18-A.

25.19. Medico-legal opinion. - (1) When a medical opinion is required in police cases, the persons to be examined shall be produced before the highest medical authority available on the medical staff of the district. Persons requiring examination at the headquarters of a district shall be taken to the Civil Hospital and not to a branch dispensary; similarly in rural areas, where a hospital is accessible, medico-legal cases shall be sent there and not to a rural dispensary.

(2) Medical Offices of the Irrigation Department are prohibited from undertaking medico-legal work and officers in charge of district board dispensaries may only be called upon to do such work, for which they must be qualified in other respects, in cases of emergency. Medical officers may not be called upon to proceed to the scene of an occurrence to examine injured persons except in cases of real urgency and when it is impossible to convey the injured person to the nearest dispensary or hospital.

(3) Police officers cannot legally compel injured persons to submit to medical examination, and such persons have a right to be examined privately at their own expense by medical practitioners. "Injury Statements" [form 25.39(1)], are intended solely for the use of the Civil Surgeon of the district or any medical officer subordinate to him, on whom the police may call for a report. Such forms must not be given to injured persons for the purposes of examination at their private choice, nor must they be sent with injured persons to Government medical officers of another district.

All medical officers-in-charge of hospitals and dispensaries are required to report to the nearest police station within 24 hours all cases of serious injury or of poisoning admitted by them for treatment, whether such cases have been brought in by the police or not.

(4) Medical officers of Government, or those employed by local bodies, are entitled to charge fees for medico-legal work performed in their private capacities for parties to cases, but no fees whatsoever are leviable by Government medical officers for work in cases in which the Crown is the complainant, including all post mortem examinations, such work being part of their regular duties. The rules under which medical officers, other than those subordinate to the Civil Surgeon, may charge fees for medico-legal work on behalf of Government are given in the Punjab Medical Manual; in certain cases fees may also be charged by medical officers employed by district boards. In no case, however, are such fees debitable to the police department; any claim submitted to Superintendents should be passed on, with the necessary information, to the District Magistrate.

(5) Police officers should refrain from sending persons whose injuries are obviously slight for medico-legal examination, and should exercise their discretion in obtaining a medical opinion as to whether injuries received by complainants constitute a cognizable offence.

(6) Medico-legal cases not requiring urgent attention should be sent for examination during hospital hours only.

Note :- This rule does not entitle the medical officer concerned to refuse to examine a case out of hours because in his opinion it is not an urgent one.

(7) The unnecessary summoning as witnesses of medical subordinates, to the detriment of their proper activities, shall be avoided as far as possible, and, when the attendance of such an officer is necessary, as much notice as possible shall be given him. When the necessary evidence can be given by the investigating officer or by another medical witness stationed at the place where the case is being prosecuted a medical subordinate should not be summoned from a distance merely to give corroborative evidence.

25.20. Wounded complaints and witnesses. - (1) When a complaint or a witness of importance in an important case is seriously ill or is wounded, but does not appear to be dying, the police officer making the investigation shall prepare a charge-sheet in accordance with Rule 25.56(1) if this has not already been done and shall either -

- (a) with such persons' consent, send him or her, for medical treatment to the station of the magistrate having jurisdiction and invite such magistrate to take such person's deposition in the presence of the accused person or,

- (b) if such complainant or witness cannot be moved, or refuses to be sent, such officer shall apply for an order of detention in respect of the accused person if he is in custody and such order is necessary, and invite the magistrate having jurisdiction to record the deposition of such complainant or witness in the presence of the accused person at the place where the former is lying.

25.21. Dying declarations. - (1) A dying declaration shall, whenever possible, be recorded by a Magistrate.

(2) The person making the declaration shall, if possible be examined by a medical officer with a view to ascertaining that he is sufficiently in possession of his reason to make a lucid statement.

(3) If no magistrate can be obtained, the declaration shall, when a gazetted police officer is not present, be recorded in the presence of two or more reliable witnesses unconnected with the police department and with the parties concerned in the case.

(4) If no such witnesses can be obtained without risk of the injured person dying before his statement can be recorded, it shall be recorded in the presence of two or more police officers.

(5) A dying declaration made to a police officer should, under Section 162, Code of Criminal Procedure, be signed by the person making it.

25.22. Medical examination of women. - No examination by a medical officer of a living woman's person shall be made without her consent and without a written order from a magistrate, addressed to the medical officer, directing him to make such examination.

In all cases in which the police consider such an examination to be necessary, the woman shall be taken a magistrate for order. This rule shall also apply to similar examinations by dhais or any other persons.

The word 'person' applies only to those parts of the body, to expose which would violate a woman's modesty.

Female Assistant or Sub-Assistant Surgeons in Government service shall only be required to do medico-legal work on behalf of Government when the woman or girl concerned refuses to be examined by a male doctor. When a female doctor is summoned by a Court she must attend.

(Punjab Government endorsement No. 558-M-36/9932, dated the 25th March, 1936).

25.23. Searches by police officers. - [(1) The rules regarding searches by Police Officers are contained in sections 165 and 166 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Notices of search under section 165, summons to persons to witness search under sub-section (4) of section 100 of the said Code and search lists under sub-section (5) of the said section 100 shall be prepared in property search and seizure Form appended to in chapter XXI. One carbon copy of the same shall be submitted for record to the District Crime Record Bureau of the concerned District Head Quarters.]¹

(2) An officer-in-charge of a police station receiving a requisition to search, under Section 166 of Criminal Procedure or other law applicable, shall comply without unnecessary delay and shall take all necessary precautions to ensure a successful search.

A police officer making such requisition may attend personally and assist in such search or may send one or more of his subordinates for that purpose.

(3) Gazetted officers supervising investigations and inspecting officers shall take disciplinary action against investigating officers who carry out searches under Section 165, Code of Criminal Procedure, without sufficient justification.

25.24. Records in custody of the post office. - The law regarding the production of documents or things in the custody of the Postal or Telegraph Department is contained in Section 95, Code of Criminal Procedure.

The instructions issued by the Director-General of Post Offices (paragraph 152 of Volume V of the Posts and Telegraphs Manual) regarding production of records in the custody of the post office are as follows :-

Records of a post office or mail office should be produced and information available in them should be given on the written order of any police officer who is making investigation under the Code of Criminal Procedure; but only those entries in the records should be disclosed which relate to the person or persons accused of the offence under investigations or which are relevant to that offence. In any other case the official-in-charge of the office should without delay refer for orders to the Postmaster-General, who will decide whether or not under Section 124 of the Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872, the information asked for should be withheld. When the information asked for by a police officer is not available in the records of the post office, the police officer should be informed accordingly, irrespective of the question whether the information, if available, might or might not be given under the foregoing rule.

25.25. Track law. - Provisions of law regarding tracking are contained in Sections 41 and 42 of Act IV of 1872 (Punjab Laws Act).

25.26. Importance of foot-prints and track evidence. - (1) Footprints are of the first importance in the investigation of crime. For this reason all officers-in-charge of police stations shall instruct their subordinates as well as all lambardars and chaukidars that, when any crime occurs all footprints and other marks existing on the scene of the crime should be carefully preserved and a watch set to see that as few persons as possible are permitted to visit the scene of the crime.

¹[(2) When it desired to produce evidence of the identity of tracks found at the scene of or in connection with a crime, the procedure for securing the record of such evidence shall be similar to that prescribed in Rule 26.32 for the identification of suspects. The attendance of a Magistrate of the highest available status, shall be secured, but if no Magistrate is available and the case is of great urgency, independent and literate witnesses of reliable character like Sarpanches or Panches or Lambardars, shall be requested to conduct proceedings, but before they hold the parade, the rule regarding the holding of parades shall be explained to them. In the presence of the Magistrate or other persons conducting the test and in conforming with any reasonable directions which they may give, ground shall be prepared for the tests. On this ground the suspect or suspects and not less than five other persons, for each suspect, shall be required to walk. The Magistrate or the person conducting the test shall record the names of all these persons and the order in which they enter the test ground. The suspect shall, of course, be given option to take any place of his choice in the Parade and a note to this effect shall be recorded in the Memo of proceedings which will also indicate whether he has availed of this option. While these preparations are proceeding the tracker or other witness who is to be asked to identify the tracks shall be prevented from approaching the place or seeing any foot-prints of the persons joining the test parade. When all preparations are complete, the tracker or the identifying witness shall be called up and required to examine both the original tracks whether lifted on the moulds or otherwise and those on the test ground and hereafter to make his statement. The Magistrate or the person conducting the test, shall record the statement of the tracker or the identifying witness as to the grounds of his claim to identify the tracks, and shall put such other questions as he may deem proper to test his bona-fides. Neither any Police Officer nor any person connected with the case shall be allowed to take any part in the conduct of the test. The persons other than the Magistrate conducting the test may, however, associate with them one or more independent witnesses of reliable character.

If the tracks of culprits found at the scene of crime are shortfooted, the Magistrate or the other person conducting the parade, shall be requested to take the shoes into possession, paste their signed paper slip on the shoes and seal them after the parade. When admitting the accused or suspect whose track parade is to be held, in Jail a request in writing shall be made to the Jail authorities to see that the accused or suspect does not change the soles. At the time of arrest in such cases, the Police Officer making or ordering the arrest will take the shoes of the accused in possession, paste a chit signed by himself and witness on it and seal them. The parcel will be opened by the Magistrate or other person conducting the parade and resealed after the parade as above.

If, however, the tracker, for any reason such as inefficiency, carelessness, confusion or adverse influence of the suspect, fails to correctly identify the tracks, the matter should not be left there. It is still open to the Investigator, if another more efficient and reliable tracker is not available, to get the moulds for foot-prints found at the scene of crime and those prepared and duly initialled by the Magistrate or other person holding the parade at the time of the tracks identification parade, compared by the Director, CID, Scientific Laboratory, Phillaur, and obtain his expert opinion as to whether the foot impressions in both the moulds tally.

Tracks which it is desired to test by comparison as above, shall be protected immediately on discovery, and their nature, measurements and peculiarities shall be recorded at the time in the case diary of the investigating officer.

The details of the preparation of the test ground and the actions required of the suspect and those with whom his tracks are mixed must vary according to the circumstances of the case. The person conducting the test shall so arrange that the identifying witness may be given a fair chance, but under the strictest safeguards, of comparing the original tracks with other track, made on similar ground and in similar conditions.

Before inviting person other than the Magistrate to conduct the proceedings, the Police Officer concerned will ensure that he is not interested in or against the suspect or accused.]

(3) The evidence of a tracker or other experts described in the foregoing rule can be substantiated by the preparation of moulds of other footprints of the criminal or criminals found at the scene of the crime. The method of making moulds of footprints by means of plaster of Paris or a composition of two parts of resin to one part of wax or paraffin is taught to all students at the Police Training School but requires practice before an officer can become proficient. The only advantage in the first method (plaster of Paris) is the quickness with which the material sets. Resin and wax are cheap and can be used more than once.

In making moulds for production as evidence the following precautions should be observed :-

- (a) The footprints found on the scene of the crime must be pointed out to police witnesses at the time and these same witnesses must be present during the preparation of the moulds.
- (b) The latter must also be signed or marked by the witnesses and the officer preparing them while still setting.
- (c) After the procedure described in sub-rule (2) above has been completed a mould should be prepared in the presence of the magistrate or witnesses of one of the foot-prints of the suspect made in their presence. This mould should be signed by the Magistrate or witnesses when still setting.
- (d) Both moulds should be carefully preserved for production in court for identification by witnesses and comparison by the Court.

Methods of recording footprints. - (1) by tracking through glass footprints found on the ground or other surface, and (2) by taking impressions of feet direct on to paper, as in the case of finger impressions, are taught at the Police Training School. Such records shall utilized in the case of notorious criminals for comparison with footprints found at the scene of offence. They may also be used to check the reliability of local trackers.

25.27. Confessions. - The orders of the High Court by which magistrates are bound in respect of the record of statements or confessions are contained in Appendix No. 25.27. All supervising and investigating police officers must familiarise themselves with these instructions and conform strictly to them in producing accused persons for the record of their statements.

25.28. Statements recorded by magistrates. - (1) The circumstances under which police officers may require a statement to be recorded by a magistrate are as follows :-

- (a) The statement, made in the course of an investigation by a witness or an accused person, and not amounting to a confession, may be recorded by a magistrate under Section 164, Code of Criminal Procedure, in order that it may be available as evidence at a later stage. Such statements may be recorded in any of the manners prescribed for recording evidence.
- (b) A confession may be recorded under Section 164, Criminal Procedure Code, irrespective of the tender of a pardon, and of whether it involves more persons than the individual accused making it.
- (c) In the classes of offences specified in Section 337, Criminal Procedure Code, a police officer may, at any stage of the investigation, inquiry or trial, move a magistrate empowered under that section to tender a pardon to an accused person.
- (d) In cases in which a pardon cannot be tendered under Section 337, Criminal Procedure Code, but in which it is desirable to obtain the evidence of a suspect against his accomplices, a police officer may recommend to the District Magistrate that the local Government be moved to give a promise not to prosecute an offender, subject to his fulfilling whatever conditions might be imposed in giving such promise. Action of this nature can only be taken before the case has been sent for trial.

Note. - The original orders on which this paragraph is based are contained in Punjab Government Circular 2/117 of 27th April, 1898 as qualified by circular No. 426 of 30th September, 1906, and were reproduced as Appendix 25.41(3) of Punjab Police Rules, Edition, 1915.

(2) If a professional offender is convicted and sentenced to imprisonment or transportation and it appears that he belongs to a gang of offenders and is willing to do everything in his power to bring the members of such gang to justice, or to give valuable information leading to the discovery of stolen property, the Superintendent may apply to the State Government for suspension or remission of the sentence of such prisoner under Section

401, Criminal Procedure Code. Such application shall be made through the District Magistrate.

25.29. Confessing accused and approvers. - (1) The Criminal Procedure Code supplemented by the High Court instructions quoted in Appendix 25.27 prescribe a number of precautions which are intended to give to a court conducting a trial the maximum assurance that a confessing accused has not been subjected to such pressure or inducements as to invalidate this evidence under Section 24, Indian Evidence Act. All police officers, who exercise any authority in connection with investigations, are required to have a thorough understanding of these provisions. The departmental instructions here given merely supplement and in no sense replace them.

(2) The main requirements, in so far as the police are concerned, are :-

- (a) No police officer may offer a pardon. An accused person desirous of making a statement with a view to obtaining a pardon, shall be told that no promise whatsoever can be made, but that, if a statement is made and verified and found to be of sufficient importance to merit such action, the facts will be reported to a magistrate, who has power to offer a pardon. No steps may be taken in this connection by subordinate police officers without the previous sanction in writing of a gazetted police officer.
- (b) Statements, whether under Section 164 or 337, Criminal Procedure Code, shall be recorded by the magistrate, other than the District Magistrate, having the highest powers, who can be reached within reasonable time. Save for special reasons, which must be explained by the investigating officer, such statements shall never be recorded by 2nd class magistrates unless they have been specially empowered to record such statements.
- (c) The magistrate is required to make enquiries as to the circumstances leading up to the confession; and police officers shall invariably furnish, so far as is in their power, information required of them in this respect.
- (d) Police officers connected with the investigation shall not be present while the confession is being recorded.
- (e) Magistrates are required to give orders, when remanding to custody persons who have made a confession, that they shall be kept separate from other prisoners.
- (f) Approvers shall remain under arrest until the conclusion of the trial.
- (g) When more than one person confesses or turns approver in a case, their confessions shall, if possible, be recorded by different magistrates and they shall not be allowed to meet one another till their evidence has been recorded in court.
- (h) Magistrates shall be moved to record statements of confessing persons in full detail; in political cases and those in which professional criminals whose activities extend over a large field are suspected, copies (in English) of approvers' statements and confessions shall be sent to the Deputy Inspector General, Criminal Investigation Department.

(3) It must be remembered that the prosecution of a gang case, even without an approver, in a Section 30 magistrate's court, is a very lengthy and difficult task owing to the large number of witnesses and the numerous linked individual cases. If, however, the prosecution relies upon an approver, the length and difficulty of the task is at least doubled as, in accordance with Section 337(2-A), Code of Criminal Procedure, the case has to be committed to the Sessions or High Court. Therefore, before launching a gang case under Section 400 or 401, Indian Penal Code, with an approver, the District Magistrate and Superintendent of Police should first satisfy themselves that it is not possible to secure satisfactory results by proceeding in individual cases without resort to Sections 400 and 401, Indian Penal Code. If, however, it should still appear expedient to conduct a gang case, they should ascertain whether the district resources are equal to the strain of both committal proceedings and trial in the Sessions or High Court without outside assistance. If the district resources appear to be inadequate, the case should then be referred through the Deputy Inspector General of the range to the Deputy Inspector General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, for decision whether the case should or should not be undertaken.

25.30. Place of trial. - With regard to the place of trial of cases falling under Sections 179-183, Code of Criminal Procedure, police officers shall act solely with reference to the public convenience.

Ordinarily such cases shall be sent up for trial in the district in which the witnesses can attend with the least inconvenience to themselves.

25.31. Inquests. - - (1) An officer in charge of police station shall, upon receipt of information of the sudden or unnatural death of any person, when the body of such person is within the local jurisdiction of his police station, immediately send information to the nearest magistrate authorized to hold inquests and shall proceed to the place where the body is and hold an investigation in the manner prescribed by Section 174, Code of Criminal Procedure. When the Sub-Inspector-in-charge of the Police Station through illness or absence from the station house, is himself unable to carry out the investigation, he shall at the first convenient opportunity proceed to the place where the body of the deceased person was found, and shall personally verify the results of the investigation.

(2) In cases where the body is not found, or has been buried, there can be no investigation under Section 174, Code of Criminal Procedure.

In such cases, if there are reasonable grounds for suspicion that a cognizable offence has been committed, the police shall register a case and commence investigation :

Provided that the following cases shall be exceptions to this rule :-

(a) When the death of any person is caused by injuries unlawfully inflicted by a soldier or camp follower, or occurs within the limits of a military cantonment, the inquest shall be conducted by the Cantonment Magistrate, under Section 176, Code of Criminal Procedure, or by the nearest competent Magistrate if the post of Cantonment Magistrate is held by an officer not specially empowered to hold inquests or if the scene of death is outside cantonment limits.

If the magistrate invited to hold the inquest fails to do so, the Superintendent or other gazetted officer shall make an investigation under the combined provisions of Sections 174 and 551, Code of Criminal Procedure, and if no gazetted officer is available such investigation shall be made by the officer in charge of the police station concerned.

Such inquest or investigation under the Code of Criminal Procedure shall be held in addition to any military court of inquest which may be held.

(b) In the case of the sudden or unnatural death of a European soldier, non-commissioned officer, or officer the inquest shall be held under Section 176, Code of Criminal Procedure, by the nearest magistrate duly authorized to hold inquests.

(c) In the case of a death by violence occurring within the walls of a military prison or civil jail the police shall not make an investigation into the cause of death when an inquest has been held by a competent magistrate.

(e) Upon receipt of information of a sudden or unnatural death within the walls of a prison the officer-in-charge of the police station concerned shall send immediate intimation to the senior magistrate present at headquarters and shall proceed to the prison and place a guard over the body and shall allow neither the body nor anything which may have caused the death of the deceased to be moved until the arrival of a magistrate.

25.32. Investigations under Section 174, Code of Criminal Procedure. - The respectable inhabitants who are required under Section 174, Code of Criminal Procedure, to take part in any investigation into a sudden or unnatural death shall be selected with reference to any special attainments they may possess with are likely to be of use in such investigation.

25.33. Investigating Officer - action of at scene of death. - On arrival at the place where the body of a deceased person is lying, the police officer making the investigation shall act as follows :-

- (1) He shall prevent the destruction of evidence as to the cause of death.
- (2) He shall prevent crowding round the body and the obliteration of foot- steps.
- (3) He shall prevent unnecessary access to the body until the investigation is concluded.
- (4) He shall cover up footprints with suitable vessels so long as may be necessary.
- (5) He shall draw a correct plan of the scene of death including all features necessary to a right understanding of the case.
- (6) If no surgeon or other officer arrives, he shall, together with the other persons conducting the investigation, carefully examine the body and note all abnormal appearance.
- (7) He shall remove, mark with a seal, and seal up all clothing not adhering to, or required as a covering for, the body, all ornaments, anything which may have caused or been concerned in the death of the deceased and shall make an inventory thereof.

In the inventory shall be described the position in which each thing was found and any blood-stain, mark, rent, injury or other noticeable fact in connection with such thing. The number and dimension of such stains, marks, rents, injuries, etc., shall also be given in the inventory.

A counterpart of the mark and seal attached to such thing or to the parcel in which it has been enclosed shall be entered in, or attached to, the inventory.

Such inventory shall form part of the inquest report.

- (8) He shall take the finger prints of the deceased person if the body is unidentified.
- (9) The photographing of the body in situ and of the scene of the occurrence may prove of great evidential value.

25.34. Disinterment of bodies. - The following rules relate to the disinterment of bodies :-

- (1) An officer in charge of a police station and any superior police officer lawfully making an investigation into the unnatural or sudden death of any person shall, on learning that the body of the deceased person has been formally buried, record in writing the information which has reached him and the grounds on which he considers it necessary that the body should be disinterred.
- (2) He shall forward the information so recorded to the nearest magistrate empowered to hold inquests and ask for an order under Section 176(2), Code of Criminal Procedure, and in the meantime shall guard the grave.
- (3) On receipt of such order, if the magistrate himself does not attend the disinterment, such police officer shall, in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood, cause the body to be disinterred. Such police officer shall then comply with the provisions of Section 174, Code of Criminal Procedure.

- (4) Police officers shall invariably examine witnesses to prove the identity of disinterred bodies before commencing their investigation.
- (5) When a body has lain in the grave for a period exceeding three weeks no disinterment shall be made by any police officer until the opinion of the Civil Surgeon has been obtained, and then only with the concurrence of the District Magistrate.

25.35. The Inquest Report. - (1) When the investigation has been completed the investigating officer shall draw up a report, in duplicate by the carbon copying process, in Forms 25.35(1) A, B or C, according as the deceased appears to have died :-

- A. from natural causes.
- B. by violence.
- C. by poisoning.

(2) Such report shall state the apparent cause of death, give a description of any mark or marks of violence which may be found on the body and describe the manner in which and the weapon or instrument with which such marks appear to have been inflicted.

(3) The report shall be signed by the police officer conducting the investigation and by so many of the persons assisting in the investigation as concur therein and shall be forwarded without delay through the Superintendent to the District Magistrate or, if the District Magistrate has so directed, to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate.

(4) The following documents shall form part of such report :-

- (a) The plan of the scene of death.
- (b) The inventory of clothing, etc.
- (c) A list of the articles on and with the body, if the body is sent for medical examination.
- (d) A list of articles sent for medical examination, if any.

(5) In cases of death by hanging, the report shall give particulars as to the height and sufficiency of the support and the nature of the thing used to bear the weight of the body.

In drowning cases the depth of the water shall be stated.

(6) The carbon copy of such shall be filed in the police station register No. VI.

(7) A copy of all reports relating to deaths caused by railway accidents shall, when made by a police officer other than a railway police officer, be forwarded to the Assistant Inspector-General, Government Railway Police.

25.36. Post-mortem examination - when and by whom held. - (1) The legal requirements in respect of post-mortem examination by a qualified surgeon are contained in Section 174(3), Code of Criminal Procedure. In every case where death appears to have been due to suicidal, homicidal, accidental or suspicious causes and where any doubt exists as to the exact cause of death, or if it appears to the officer conducting the investigation - whether under Section 157 or Section 174, Code of Criminal Procedure - expedient to do so, the body shall be sent to the nearest medical officer authorized by the Local Government to conduct post-mortem examinations. The sending of bodies for examination may only be dispensed with, where such action is otherwise required when conditions exist, such as advanced putrefaction, which would clearly make examination useless.

(2) An investigating officer is empowered by law with the discretion to dispense with a surgical examination of the body - (a) if he is fully satisfied that the cause of death is established beyond doubt, (b) in the circumstances described at the end of the preceding sub-rule. In regard to the former condition, it must be remembered that the existence of an apparently fatal wound does not necessarily establish the cause of death. In cases where investigation establishes the accidental nature of the event which led to the death and the history of the deceased and of the case suggests no reason to suspect that expert examination of the body will reveal any cause of death other than the apparent one, such examination may be dispensed with. In all cases where suspicion exists that the death was due either to suicide or to an act rendering the perpetrator thereof liable to a criminal charge the body must be examined by a qualified medical officer, if possible.

(3) The law requires that the body shall be sent to the nearest qualified medical officer, and the orders of the Local Government prohibit the summoning of such officer to conduct his examination at or near the scene of the death save in exceptional cases. These may occur, where, owing to advanced putrefaction or the circumstances in which the corpse was found, movement of corpse may make it impossible for the medical officer to form a correct opinion as to the nature of the injuries or the exact cause of death. In such cases if the investigating officer considers expert post-mortem examination essential in the interests of justice, he shall report the facts by most expeditious means available to the Superintendent of Police or gazetted officer in charge of the case, with a request that a qualified officer shall be sent to the spot. If the officer receiving this report endorses the opinion of the Investigating Officer, he shall request the District Magistrate or the next senior Magistrate in the absence of District Magistrate from headquarters to give orders for the medical examination of the body at the scene of death.

(4) In cases where it is impossible either to send a body to a qualified medical officer or to have it examined by such officer on the spot, the investigating officer may, at his discretion, request the nearest Government medical officer, even though such officer be not authorized to conduct post-mortem examination, to assist him with his anatomical and other expert knowledge in estimating the effects and causes of injuries, etc. Such medical officers are not empowered to perform any operation on the body. Medical Officers of the Irrigation and Public Health Departments and of local bodies cannot be called on in this connection unless they have been specially authorized by the Local Government to undertake the medico-legal work (vide rule 25.19).

25.37. Post-mortem examinations - action to be taken by police. - When corpses are sent for medical examination the following rules shall be observed :-

- (1) The result of the investigating officer's examination of the body shall be carefully recorded in form 25.39(1). Clothing found on the body, foreign matter adhering to it and any instrument likely to have caused death remaining in a wound or on the body shall be secured in the position in which found, if possible, or, otherwise, shall be carefully packed separately, according to the instructions contained in rule 25.41.
- (2) To counteract decomposition as far as possible the body shall be sprinkled with Formalin diluted to 10 per cent and shall also be so used with strong solution of chloride of lime in water. Bodies which have to be carried long distances should be sprinkled with the dry powder of chloride of lime or with carbolic powder sold commercially in tin boxes with a perforated lid specially constructed for sprinkling purposes. The use of powdered charcoal is prohibited, as the stains caused thereby may complicate the task of post-mortem examination.
- (3) The body shall be placed on a charpoy or other light litter and protected from the sun, flies and exposure to the weather. The litter shall be transported to the place appointed for the holding of post-mortem examinations by such means as the investigating officer may consider most expedient in the circumstances of weather, distance to be covered and conditions of the body. If necessary and expedient conveyance, including a motor vehicle, may be hired to carry the corpse and those who are required to accompany it as escort or witnesses.

- (4) All police officers along the route are required to give immediate assistance to expedite the transportation of dead bodies for medical examination.
- (5) Two police officers who have seen the dead body in the position in which it was first found, and are competent to detect any attempt at substitution or tampering with the body or its coverings, shall accompany the body to the mortuary, and remain in charge of it until examination is complete. If necessary an additional guard shall be supplied by the Lines Officer to place a sentry on the mortuary, but the officers who have accompanied the body from the spot shall hand it over personally to the medical officer conducting that post-mortem examination together with all reports and articles sent by the investigating officer to assist the examination and shall receive and convey to the investigating officer the post-mortem report.
- (6) As soon as the Civil Surgeon has intimated that his examination is complete, the police shall, unless they have received orders from a competent authority to the contrary, make over the body to the deceased's relatives or friends or, if there are no relatives or friends, or they decline to receive it, the police shall cause the body to be buried or burnt according to the rules framed in this behalf by the District Magistrate.

25.38. Unidentified bodies. - If a body is unidentified, the officer making investigation shall record a careful description of it, giving all marks, peculiarities, deformities and distinctive features, shall take the finger impressions and, in addition to taking all other reasonable steps to secure identification shall, if possible, have it photographed, and, in cases where such action appears desirable, a description published in the Criminal Intelligence Gazette.

Unidentified corpses should be handed over to any charitable society which is willing to accept them, and if no such society comes forward, they should then be buried or burnt.

25.39. Form to accompany body or injured person. - When an injured person or a body is sent to a medical officer, Form 25.39 shall, in addition to any other report prescribed, be prepared by the carbon copying process and given to the police officer, in duplicate, who accompanies the injured person or goes in charge of the body. The form shall be prepared in English, if possible.

25.40. Articles for medical examination - how sent. - (1) Articles sent for medical examination, together with a body or injured person, shall be sent under the charge of the escort which accompanies such body or person.

(2) When no body or injured person is sent, such articles shall be sent in the charge of an escort which shall take them to the Civil Surgeon without relief.

25.41. Chemical Examiner - Channel of communication with. - (1) Superintendents of Police are authorised to correspond with and submit articles for analysis to the Chemical Examiner direct in all cases other than human poisoning cases. Any references in relation to human poisoning cases shall be made through the Civil Surgeon.

(2) Articles for chemical examination. - With regard to the packing of articles sent for chemical examination, the following rules shall be observed :-

- (i) Liquids, vomit, excrement and the like, shall be placed in clean wide-mouthed bottles or glazed jars, the stoppers or corks of which shall be tied down with bladder, leather or cloth, the knots of the cord being sealed with the seal of the police officer making the investigation.

Such bottles or jars shall be tested, by reversing them for a few minutes, to see whether they leak or not.

- (ii) Supposed medicines or poisons, being dry substances, shall be similarly tied down in jars or made up into sealed parcels.
- (iii) All exhibits suspected to contain stains should be thoroughly dry before being packed and despatched for examination. The safest way of drying exhibits is to expose them to the sun. In cases of exhibits that become brittle on drying, they should be carefully packed in cotton wool and then in a wooden box.
- (iv) Blood-stained weapons, articles or cloth, shall be marked with a seal and made up into sealed parcels. The entire article shall be sent.
- (v) Sharp-edged and pointed exhibits like swords, spears, etc., should be packed in boxes and not bound up into cloth packages. In their transit through the post they are liable to cut through the packing material and the exhibit is exposed.
- (vi) On each bottle, jar and parcel and also on each article or set of articles contained therein, the separate identification of which has to be proved, shall be affixed a label describing the contents, giving full particulars and stating where each article was found.

On such label shall be impressed a counterpart of the seal used to secure the fastening of the bottle, jar or parcel. A copy of each label, and a counterpart impression of the seal shall be given in the inquest report, and, in the case of cattle poisoning, in the case diary.

- (vii) As far as possible no letters should be glued on to exhibits as they interfere with analysis.
- (viii) Exhibits such as clods of search should be packed carefully in wool and placed in a wooden box.

Notes. - (1) Cases in which death is clearly due to natural causes should not be referred to the Chemical Examiner. Medical Officers must accept the responsibility of deciding such cases.

- (2) In no case should the Medical Officer attempt to apply tests for himself. Any such procedure is liable to vitiate the subsequent investigation of the case in the laboratory of the Chemical Examiner.
- (3) Exhibits in connection with cases of murder by hurt or violence may be sent direct to the Chemical Examiner. This saves time and relieves the office of the Civil Surgeon of the district of unnecessary correspondence.
- (4) Endeavour to send all the exhibits in a case of murder by hurt or violence under one covering letter thereby reducing the cost of examination, etc.
- (5) Nail clippings are poor exhibits to send for the detection of blood in murder cases. No court of law could be expected to attach much weight to the finding of human blood on the nails of the accused.
- (6) Stomach tubes in hospitals are frequently kept in a solution of mercury. They should be carefully washed with water before use. Traces of mercury found along with another poison in stomach contents might produce such complications as would handicap the successful prosecution of a case.
- (7) Carbon copies of reports are sometimes very difficult to read and should be prepared clearly.
- (8) Articles of which return is required for production in court or otherwise should be distinctly specified in the forwarding letter sent with articles for chemical examination.

(3) Any document purporting to be a report from the Chemical Examiner or his assistants is admissible as evidence under Section 510, Code of Criminal Procedure. No summons can be issued to the officers of this department in their official capacity without the permission of the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court. Any question or explanation on a certain report should be done by letter or by a personal interview.

(4) Attention is also directed to the further directions for, and precaution to be taken in forwarding articles to the Chemical Examiner for examination report and the rules for preserving and packing exhibits contained in Appendix 25.41(4).

25.42. Explosives. - (1) Substances or objects suspected of being explosive shall be sent for examination to the Inspector of Explosives, Northern India Circle, whose address is care of the Chemical Examiner, Punjab, Lahore (telephone number - Lahore 2248).

(2) Instruction for dealing with substances or objects suspected of being explosive are published in Appendix 25.42(2).

25.43. Procedure in poisoning cases. - (1) A police officer making an investigation in a case in which poison has been administered shall record in his report all information likely to be of value in assisting the Civil Surgeon or the Chemical Examiner to form an opinion as to the precise poisons employed.

(2) When treatment has been adopted before the death of the individual, the duration and nature of such treatment shall be communicated to the Civil Surgeon for the information of the Chemical Examiner.

(3) If the body of the deceased person has been burnt, the ashes of the funeral pyre shall be collected and sent in a closed vessel to the Civil Surgeon, accompanied by a statement of the circumstances which rendered this course of action advisable.

(4) The ordinary symptoms caused by common poisons are described in Appendix 25.43(4).

25.44. Procedure in cases of poisoning of animals. - When, in the investigation of a cognizable offence relating to the unlawful killing of an animal, it is necessary to obtain a professional opinion as to the cause of the death of such animal -

(i) If the animal appear to have been poisoned in the ordinary way and there are no signs of puncture on the carcass the mouth shall be examined and anything abnormal found in it secured and placed in a clean glazed jar or bottle.

(ii) The carcass shall be opened and the stomach removed.

The stomach shall be cut open, and its appearance observed, as to whether it is congested or not.

A piece of the stomach, the most congested part, about a pound in weight, the reticulum, and a portion of the liver, about two pounds in weight, shall be cut off and placed in a clean glazed jar or bottle.

Rectified spirit shall be poured into the bottle in sufficient quantity to cover the contents completely in whatever position the vessel may be held.

The quantity of spirits shall be at least one-third of the bulk of the object in the bottle.

(iii) Water shall be gently poured over the remaining portion of the stomach, and any arsenic or any white or yellow particles found shall be carefully collected.

The poison particles, or pebbles, so collected or otherwise found, shall be enclosed in a sealed parcel.

(iv) If the animal appear to have been poisoned by means of needles, the carcass shall be flayed and the flesh near the puncture examined.

If the flesh appears inflamed, a portion near the puncture shall be cut off and secured in the manner prescribed in sub-section 2. Any needle found shall likewise be secured.

(v) If the animal has been poisoned by being caused to inhale fumes of arsenic, etc.,

a portion of the lining membrane of the nostrils and windpipe and in addition, the animal's lungs shall be secured.

- (vi) Jars or bottles shall be carefully corked or stoppered and the corks or stoppers tied down with bladder, leather, or cloth.

The knots of the cord shall be sealed with the seal of the police officer making the investigation.

Jars and bottles shall be tested, by reversing them for a few minutes, to see whether they leak or not.

- (vii) On each bottle, jar or parcel shall be affixed a label describing the contents and giving full particulars and on such label shall be impressed a counterpart of the seal used to secure the fastening of the bottle, jar or parcel.

A copy of each label and a counterpart impression of the seal shall be given in the case diary accompanying the despatch.

- (viii) The jars, bottles and parcels and any supposed poison found shall be despatched to the Superintendent of Police for transmission to the Chemical Examiner with the information required by form 25.44(viii).

25.45. Matter how forwarded to Chemical Examiner. - (1) If the Superintendent of Police considers that there are prima facie grounds for believing that the animal was poisoned, the bottles, jars or parcels shall be enclosed in a soldered tin case with an outer wooden cover and despatched, carriage paid, to the Chemical Examiner. If the box is to be sent by post, or as prepaid freight by rail, the additional precautions described in Appendix 25.41(4) shall be taken. A label bearing a reference to the number and date of the letter intimating despatch shall be placed inside the box. Such letter shall contain an inventory of the jars, bottles and parcels despatched with counterparts of their labels and seals. A thin layer of cotton wood shall be placed on each side of the seal impression to prevent its being broken in the post.

(2) An English translation of the material parts of the case diary relating to the poisoning of the animal shall be forwarded with the letter intimating the despatch of the box.

(3) The owner of the carcase of a poisoned animal shall be encouraged to destroy it by cutting up the hide in small pieces, breaking up the horns and bones and burying the whole at considerable depth. Cattle are sometimes poisoned by hide dealers with a view to obtaining their hides at a cheap rate. The destruction of the hide removes this motive.

(4) Bills for all costs incurred in the transmission of substances for medical examination whether connected with the death of human beings or of animals shall be paid from the budget head "Carriage of corpses and transmission of substances for medical examination connected with the death of human beings or of animals under "29-Police-Other Contingencies."

- (b) In cases in which the establishment of the fact that blood-stains are of human blood, as distinct from the general classification of "Mammalian" is material to the prosecution and has a really important bearing on the case, the blood-stained articles shall be sent direct to the Chemical Examiner, who will determine which of such articles he will forward to the Imperial Serologist with the necessary sketches, etc. In sending articles for the serological test, the Superintendent of Police shall specifically ask for examination to determine the source of the blood. The Imperial Serologist will, after examining the articles sent to him by the Chemical Examiner, return them with a copy of his report direct to the Superintendent of Police concerned.

- (c) When blood-stained clothing is concerned, the stained portion only shall be cut out by the Chemical Examiner and sent. In the case of weapons and other solid articles the entire article may have to be sent.
- (d) All articles shall be accompanied by a complete medico-legal history of the case.
- (e) No article shall be sent direct to the Chemical Examiner except under the express orders of the Superintendent.

25.47. Report of medical officer. - (1) The medical officer having completed his examination of the person, body, or article shall record in full the result arrived at, and, in the case of a post-mortem examination, his opinion as to the cause of death. He shall also record a list of any articles which he may intend to send to the Chemical Examiner. The report shall be written on the back of, or attached to form 25.39(1) and shall contain such reference to the person or object examined as will leave no possible doubt as to which case the remarks apply.

(2) The report shall be placed with the police file of the case and may be used by the medical officer to refresh his memory when giving evidence.

25.48. Maintenance and disposal of stolen cattle during investigation and trial. -

(1) In cases in which cattle or other animals alleged to be stolen are exhibits, the investigating officer shall, if the court of the magistrate having jurisdiction is so distant from the place where the cattle or other animals are kept that evidence of identification is likely to be prejudiced or the cattle are likely to suffer in condition by being driven to and fro, send information to the prosecuting branch that the case is ready for trial, and request that it may be heard at or near the place where the cattle have been seized or found. On receipt of such report the head of the prosecuting branch shall, subject to the orders of the Superintendent of Police, represent the facts to the District Magistrate and move him to arrange for the case to be tried on the spot.

(3) With the object of mitigating the injury and inconvenience caused to owners of stolen cattle during the investigation and trial of cattle-theft cases, the prosecuting branch shall move courts trying such cases to award punishment of fine as well as imprisonment and direct such fine to be paid to the owner of the cattle concerned in the case in proportion to the loss or injury he may have suffered by reason of his association with the investigation and trial, as provided by Section 545(1)(b) and (c) of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

(4) Complainants in cattle-theft cases or sureties to whom cattle have been made over for safe custody and production as and when required during the investigation and trial are entitled to receive the cost of maintaining such cattle. Expenses incurred under this rule during the investigation of a case shall be paid from the allotment at the disposal of the Superintendent of Police under "Rewards to private persons (Supplies and Services)", and claims shall be made by officers in charge of police stations in Form 25.48(4). Payment may be made direct to the person entitled to receive it from the permanent advance allotments of police stations, if the Superintendent of Police by general order so directs.

Otherwise the sum claimed shall be drawn by contingent bill as expeditiously as possible and sent to the police station concerned for disbursement. Expenses of maintenance during the pendency of the case in court shall be paid from judicial funds, and the prosecuting branch shall be responsible for recovering amounts due on this account together with and in the same manner as diet and journey money.

25.49. Property not required to be returned. - On the conclusion of an investigation the investigating officer shall make over to the proper persons all property which he may have taken into his charge in the course of the investigation and which is not further required in connection with the case. A receipt for property so made over shall be taken on the inquest report.

APPENDIX 25.18-A

RULES FOR THE PROTECTION OF SOURCES OF INFORMATION

In exercise of the powers conferred in him by section 58 of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor of the Punjab acting in his discretion is pleased to make the following rules :-

1. Except as hereinafter provided a police officer or other servant of the Crown shall not disclose nor be compelled to disclose the source from which or the channel through which any information with respect to the operations of persons committing, or conspiring, preparing or attempting to commit such crimes as are mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 57 of the Government of India Act, 1935, has been or may be obtained; and a police officer or other servant of the Crown shall not communicate nor be compelled to communicate any matter whether contained in records or otherwise which discloses, or in his opinion might in conjunction with other circumstances or matters result in the disclosure of, or permit to be inferred, the source from which or the channel through which any such information as aforesaid has been or may be obtained.

Note. - Section 58 and this rule project also sources of information relating to past acts of commission of such crimes, and to past conspiracies, preparations, and attempts to commit such crimes.

2. The provisions of rule 1 shall not apply to a disclosure or communication by a police officer to another member of the same force who is authorized by the Inspector-General of Police either by a general or special direction in this behalf to require or receive such disclosure or communication. In giving general or special direction the Inspector-General of Police shall be under the general control of and comply with such instructions as may from time to time be given to him by the Governor in his discretion.
 3. The provisions of rule 1 shall not apply to a disclosure or communication by a police officer to any person (not being a member of the same force) who is authorized by the Governor in his discretion either by a general or special direction in this behalf to receive such disclosure or communication.
 4. The provisions of rule 1 shall not apply to a disclosure or communication by a servant of the Crown (not being a police officer) to any person who is authorized by the Governor in his discretion either by a general or special direction in this behalf to receive such disclosure or communication.
 5. The provisions of rule 1 shall not apply to a disclosure or communication by any servant of the Crown (not being a police officer) of acts ascertained by himself made to a Superintendent of Police or District Magistrate of a district or to an officer of Criminal Investigation Department of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector or to any police officer conducting an investigation under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.
 6. The provisions of Rule 1 shall not affect the procedure followed by a police officer making an investigation under Chapter XIV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.
 7. The Inspector-General of Police shall, with the previous approval of the Governor in his discretion give directions as to the custody of the records or any other documents containing such information as is referred to in rule (1), and the person or persons in whose custody such records or documents are kept shall not disclose them to any person except in accordance with these directions.
 8. If in the interests of the administration it is considered necessary by any police officer in possession of any such record or information that such record or information should be disclosed or given to any person other than a police officer serving under the Punjab Government, he shall refer the matter to the Governor through the Inspector-General of Police, and the decision of the Governor in his discretion shall be final.
 9. If any person in the service of the Crown in the province other than a police officer considers it necessary in the interests of the administration that such record or information should be disclosed or given to any person, he shall refer the matter to the Governor, and the decision of the Governor in his discretion shall be final.
 10. A servant of the Crown who is in doubt whether in any particular case he is compelled by, or permitted under the provisions of these rules to make a disclosure or communication may before making the disclosure or communication require that the matter be referred for direction by the Inspector General of Police or the Governor in his discretion, as the case may be.
4. The above principles apply equally to Council questions. The great majority of these can be disposed of without reference to local officers. Sometimes when a question consists of several parts, a reference to local officers is necessary only in regard to one or two of these parts. Where a reference is made, it should be stated in regard to which parts information is required. Further, where a question asks for information which will require considerable time and labour for its collection, local officers should not be asked to supply this information, unless the Secretary concerned is satisfied that the information may reasonably be given in spite of the time and labour involved. Where he does not think that this is the case, he should obtain the orders of the Member or Minister concerned before starting inquiries which may later prove unnecessary. When it is decided not to collect information required to answer a council question the proper answer is - "It is not in the public interest to collect this information."

5. In order to secure that the above orders are observed, the following procedure is prescribed :-

- (i) Except in purely routine matters, no reference to Commissioners or Deputy Commissioners should be made without the approval of a gazetted officer. Important reference should receive the approval of the Secretary or the Head of the Department concerned, unless they are of an immediate nature and the approval of the Secretary or Head of the Department cannot be obtained without delay.
- (ii) Commissioners of Divisions should bring to the notice of the Chief Secretary by demi-official letter cases in which unnecessary references are made or inadequate time is given for the disposal of unnecessary references. The Chief Secretary will submit the reference of the Commissioner to the Member or Minister concerned, who will no doubt wish to satisfy himself that the orders of Government have been obtained.

6. The above orders relate primarily to references to Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners. They will also apply mutatis mutandis to references by the Secretariat and Heads of Departments to another administrative and executive officers, e.g., in the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department they will apply to references by the Secretariat to Superintending and Executive Engineers; in the Agriculture Department they will apply to references by the office of the Director of Agriculture to Deputy Directors of Agriculture and to Extra Assistant Directors of Agriculture, and so on.

7. In order that the foregoing instructions are not lost sight of, they should be embodied in departmental Manuals.

Yours sincerely,

F.H. PUCKLE,

Chief Secretary to Government, Punjab.

To

- (i) All Heads of Departments in the Punjab.
- (ii) The Registrar, High Court of Judicature at Lahore.
- (iii) All Commissioners of Divisions, Deputy Commissioners and District and Sessions Judges in the Punjab.

APPENDIX No. 25.27

50. Instructions as to statements and confessions of accused persons. - The following instructions (contained in Rules and Orders of the High Court, Volume III) on the subject of taking and recording statements and confessions of accused persons should be observed :-

Confessions and statements of accused persons

The provisions of Sections 164, 342 and 364 of the Criminal Procedure Code with regard to the confessions and statements of accused persons should be carefully studied. Section 164 deals with the recording of statements and confessions at any stage before the commencement of an enquiry or trial. Section 342 deals with the examination of accused persons during the course of the enquiry or trial. Section 364 prescribes the manner in which the examination of accused persons is to be recorded.

2. The object of section 164, Criminal Procedure Code, is to provide a method of securing a reliable record of statements or confessions made during the course of the police investigation, which could be used, if necessary, during the enquiry or trial. Under Section 25 of the Indian Evidence Act, a confession to a police officer is inadmissible in evidence, and hence when an accused person confesses during police investigation the police frequently get it recorded by a Magistrate under Section 164, Criminal Procedure Code, and it can then be used to the extent to which it may be admissible under the Indian Evidence Act.

3. Under section 80 of the Indian Evidence Act, a Court is bound to presume that a statement of confession of an accused person taken in accordance with law and purporting to be signed by any judge or Magistrate is genuine, and that the certificate or note as to the circumstances under which it was taken, purporting to be made by the persons signing it, are true, and that such statement or confession was duly taken. The words "taken in accordance with law" occurring in this section are very important and it is essential that in recording a statement or confession under section 164, the provisions of that section should be strictly followed. Some important changes were made in the section in 1923 and the form of the certificate to be attached to the statements and confessions was also altered. The evidential value of a confession depends upon its voluntary character and the precision with which it is reproduced and hence the section provides safeguards to secure this end. These safeguards are of great importance as confessions are often retracted at a later stage and it becomes necessary for the Court to ascertain whether the alleged confession was actually and voluntarily made. The mere fact that a confession is retracted does not render it inadmissible in evidence, but the Court has to scrutinise any such confession with the utmost care and accept it with the greatest caution. Experience and common sense in fact show that in the absence of some material corroboration it is not safe to convict merely on a retracted confession, unless from the peculiar circumstances under which it was made and judging from the reasons, alleged or apparent, of retraction there remains a high degree of certainty that the confession, notwithstanding its having been resiled from, is genuine (cf. 30 P.R. 1994 (Cr.)).

4. Some important features of section 164 as it stands now are :-

- (a) Statements or confessions made in the courses of an investigation can be recorded only by a magistrate of the first class or a magistrate of the second class who has been specially empowered by the Local Government.
- (b) Confessions must be recorded and signed in the manner provided in Section 364.
- (c) Before recording any such confession the magistrate shall explain to the person making it that he is not bound to make a confession, and that if he does so it may be used in evidence against him.
- (d) No magistrate shall record any such confession unless upon questioning the person making it, he has reason to believe that it was made voluntarily; failure to question has been held to vitiate the confession (I.L.R. 2 Lah. 325).
- (e) The memorandum set forth in Section 164(3) must be appended at the foot of the record of the confession.

(f) It is not necessary that the magistrate receiving or recording a confession or statement should be a magistrate having jurisdiction in the case.

5. The annexed form for recording confessions taken under section 164 has been prescribed and should invariably be used.

6. Unless there are exceptional reasons to the contrary confessions should be recorded in open court and during court hours, Police officers investigating the case should not be present.

7. An accused person who has been produced for the purpose of making a confession and has declined to do so, or has made a statement which is unsatisfactory from the point of view of the prosecution, should, in no circumstances, be remanded to police custody.

8. Section 342 of the Code empowers to the Court to put questions to the accused at any stage of enquiry or trial to enable him to explain any circumstances appearing in evidence against him. The questions put under this section must be confined to the points brought out in the evidence and should not be in the nature of cross-examination of the accused person. Nor should the power given by the section be used to elicit information from the accused to fill up gaps in the prosecution evidence (cf. I.L.R. 4 Lah. 55). For the conviction of an accused person can only be based on the evidence produced by the prosecution. No oath can be administered to the accused and the answers given by him can only be taken into consideration in explanation of the prosecution evidence.

8-A. The magistrate is allowed by section 342 of the Code of Criminal Procedure to examine the accused at an early stage of the case for the purpose of enabling him to explain any circumstances appearing in the evidence against him. This provision is intended for the benefit of the accused, and must not be used to elicit his defence before the prosecution evidence is complete. Magistrates sometimes question the accused generally on the case as soon as a prima facie case has been made out, but before the prosecution evidence is complete. This is incorrect. According to the second part of clause (1) of section 342, it is only after the completion of the prosecution evidence that the accused can be questioned generally on the case. The necessity for postponing such examination is not avoided by framing a charge at an early stage.

Even when a charge has been framed, the magistrate should wait until the prosecution evidence is concluded before making a general examination of the accused.

9. Section 342 makes it obligatory for Court to examine the accused generally on the case after the witnesses for the prosecution have been examined and before the accused is called for his defence. Even when an accused person has been examined at an earlier stage the Court must examine the accused generally after the close of the prosecution case (i.e., after the examination and cross-examination of prosecution witness and their further cross-examination, if any, after the charge is framed) and before the accused is called upon to produce his defence so as to give him an opportunity to explain any points which were not included in the questions put to him at earlier stages. Failure to examine the accused at the close of the prosecution evidence has been held to be an illegality which vitiates the trial (vide 7 I.L.R. Lah. 564).

10. Under section 256 of the Code, if the accused person puts in a written statement, it should be filed with the record. But a written statement of this kind does not relieve the Court of the duty of examining the accused in Court after the close of the prosecution evidence as laid down in section 342.

11. Section 364 provides the mode in which the examination of an accused person is recorded. The questions put to the accused and the answers given by him should be distinctly and accurately recorded. The examination of the accused should be recorded in the language in which he is examined, and, if that is not practicable, in the language of the Court or in English. In cases in which examination is not recorded by the magistrate or Judge himself he must record a Memo. thereof in the language by the Court or in English if he is sufficiently acquainted with the latter language. The examination must be read over to the accused and made conformable to what he declares to be the truth. The Magistrate or Judge must then certify under his own hand that the examination was taken down in his presence and hearing, and that the record contains a full and true account of what was stated.

12. Under Section 533 of the Code, if any court, before which a confession or other statement of an accused person recorded or purporting to be recorded under section 164, or section 364, is intended, or has been received in evidence, finds that any of the provisions of either of such sections have not been complied with by the magistrate recording the statement it must take evidence that such person duly made the statement recorded and such a statement may then become admissible in evidence notwithstanding the provisions of Section 91 of the Indian Evidence Act, provided the error has not prejudiced the accused as to his defence on merits.

RECORD OF A CONFESSION MADE BY AN ACCUSED PERSON.

(SECTION 264 OF THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE)

In the court of _____

The Confession of _____ taken by me _____ a Magistrate of the _____ District, this _____ day of _____ 19 .

Memorandum of Enquiry

(The magistrate shall first, as required by section 164(3), Code of Criminal Procedure, explain to the accused person that he is not bound to make a confession, and that if he does so, it may be used as evidence against him, and shall then put and record answers to the following questions. If the answers are of such a character as to require him to do so, he should put such further questions as may be necessary to enable him to judge whether the accused person is acting voluntarily. In arriving at his conclusion on this point the Magistrate should consider inter alia the period during which the accused person has been in police custody and make sure that the confession is not the result of any undue influence or ill treatment. Special care should be taken when women or children are produced by the police for their confession being recorded) :-

Q. - Do you understand that you are not bound to make a confession ?

A. -

Q. - Do you understand that your statement is being recorded by a magistrate, and that if you make a confession, it may be used as evidence against you ?

A. -

Q. - Understanding these two facts, are you making a statement before me voluntarily ?

A. -

Statement of accused.

(Mark or signature of accused)
Magistrate.

I have explained to _____ that he is not bound to make a confession, and that if he does so, any confession he may make may be used as evidence against him and I believe that this confession was voluntarily made. It was taken in my presence and hearing, and was read over to the person making it, and admitted by him to be correct, and, it contains a full and true account of the statement made by him.

DIRECTIONS FOR AND PRECAUTIONS TO BE TAKEN IN FORWARDING ARTICLES TO THE CHEMICAL EXAMINER FOR EXAMINATION AND REPORT

All articles should, as far as possible, be sent by registered parcel post. If this cannot be done and the articles are important, they should be sent by hand. Only very heavy and unimportant articles should be sent by rail.

Human poisoning cases.

I. FATAL -

The following articles should be forwarded in all cases :-

- (1) Stomach with contents. The stomach should be securely tied at both ends.
- (2) A piece of the small intestine (about 3 feet) securely tied at both ends.
- (3) A portion of the liver (not less than 16 ounces), one kidney and a piece of spleen.
- (4) Urine or stomach washing if available.
- (5) A sample of the preservative fluid used.

Note. - (I) Rectified spirit should be used in all cases unless alcohol, phosphorus or carbolic acid poisoning is suspected. In such cases normal saline solution should be used.

(II) In suspected coal-gas (charcoal) poisoning, a sample of the blood should be sent in a small bottle properly corked. Add two drops only of formaline to prevent decomposition if available.

(III) Ashes and burnt bones should only be sent where a metallic poison is suspected. Vegetable poisons are destroyed during cremation.

Documents which should be forwarded :-

A. - By post -

- (1) Post-mortem Report.

Note. - Information on the following toxicologically important points should invariably be supplied:-

- (a) Date and hour of onset of symptoms ; (b) date and hour of death; (c) in cases where the body has been exhumed, dates of burial and of exhumation should be entered in column headed "Death"; (d) in cases of suspected irritant poisoning, the condition of the gastro-intestinal tract, as regards emptiness or otherwise as well as any abnormal appearance of the mucous membranes should be specially noted.

The following information should also be given :-

- (a) note of symptoms observed by the Medical Officer if the case has been seen during life by him, (b) note of nature and duration of treatment, if any, adopted by the Medical Officer, Police, or friends of deceased.

(2) Statements of symptoms [Police form 25.35(c)] supplied by the Police to the forwarding Medical Officer. (This form should be carefully filled in by the Police, noting particularly the early or first systems observed).

(3) Certified copy of the Police Reports (vernacular or otherwise) sent with the case to the forwarding Medical Officer.

(4) Forwarding memo and invoice list of articles forwarded for examining to the Chemical Examiner.

- (5) Impression or imprint of seal used to seal the packages.

Note. - (1) The seal should be a private one, and the same seal should be used throughout. The impression should be attached to the forwarding memo. (No. 4), and should be protected by a thick layer of cotton wool to prevent its being broken in transit.

(2) An imprint of the seal on a piece of paper is better than an impression of the seal.

B. - Under cover of the box containing the articles for examination -

(1) Duplicate copies of forwarding memo., invoice list of articles sent for analysis.

(2) Duplicate impressibly imprint of seal used in the case.

Note. - Make sure that the bottles are properly corked and packed otherwise leakages stain the documents inside.

II. - NON-FATAL -

Vomit, stomach washings, purged matter, urine and suspected articles of food should be sent whenever available.

Documents which would be forwarded :-

A. - By post -

(1) Statement of symptoms [Police form 25.35(c)].

(2) Note of symptoms observed by the Medical Officer.

(3) Note of treatment, if any, adopted by the Medical Officer, Police, or patient's friends.

(4) Forwarding memo. (original) and invoice list of articles forwarded for examination. The nature of the preservative fluid used, if any, should be stated.

(5) Impression or imprint of seal used to seal the packages.

B. - Under cover of box containing the articles for examination -

(1) Duplicate copy of forwarding memo., and invoice list of articles sent for analysis, and of police form No. 25.35(c).

(2) Duplicate impression or imprint of seal used in the case.

Abortion cases.

I. Fatal. - As in fatal human poisoning cases, but, in addition, the uterus and upper part of the vagina should invariably be sent, along with any foreign bodies found in the genital tract.

II. Non-fatal. - As in non-fatal poisoning cases, but, in addition, any foreign bodies expelled or removed from the vagina or uterus should be sent.

Blood-stain cases.

The entire garments or other articles suspected to be stained with blood should be sent if possible, not portions removed or cut from them. A label with number and description of the articles should be stitched or tied (not gummed or pasted) to each separate article, care being taken that the labels correspond with the invoice list of articles. When the label is tied to the articles the string should be sealed.

Note. - (1) Take care that the stains are quite dry before being packed for examination. Wet stains readily decompose.

(2) Do not make a circle with ink or indelible pencil around the suspected stains. In wet weather or during examination such circles run into the stain and interfere with the tests.

(3) Wet blood stains on a culprit's body should be removed with a clean cotton swab and properly dried before being sent for analysis. Dry blood stains on a culprit's body may be gently scrapped into an envelope and then despatched for analysis.

Documents which should be forwarded :-

A. - By post -

(1) Forwarding memo. and invoice list of articles for examination.

(2) Impression or imprint of seal used in the case.

B. - With the articles -

(1) Duplicate copy of forwarding memo. and invoice list.

(2) Duplicate impression or imprint of seal used in the case.

Semen cases.

This entire garment, etc., should be sent. The cloth should not be folded at the stained portion. The stain should be kept quite flat, and should be protected by a thin layer of cotton wool on each surface.

Note. - It is better to send swabs from the vaginal mucus than mounted slides. These swabs should be first dried and then forwarded in a small box or phial carefully labelled.

Rules for preserving and packing exhibits for transmission to the Chemical Examiner.

1. The suspected organs or other exhibits should be placed in a clean glass bottle or jar having a good fitting stopper or cork. Wide mouthed bottles or jars of sufficient size must be used, otherwise the contents readily decompose. It is also difficult to empty narrow-mouthed bottles or jars that are tightly packed.

II. Materials that are liable to decompose should be preserved by one of the following methods :-

- (1) In cases of suspected human poisoning other than alcohol, phosphorus, carbolic acid and some of the lesser known volatile poisons, the material sent should be immersed in rectified spirit. The spirit should be sufficient to cover the material immersed in whatever position the vessel containing it may be held. On no account use common bazar spirit. A separate four ounce bottle of the rectified spirit added should be sent for independent analysis as a control.
- (2) In those cases mentioned above where rectified spirit should not be added, the preservative used should be salt solution and the same precautions for immersion of material should be exercised. A salt solution is made by adding a full tablespoonful of salt to about a pint of fresh clean water. A separate four ounce bottle of this salt solution should be sent for independent analysis as a control.
- (3) If two or more examinations have to be made on the same occasion, the medical officer should complete one and label and seal the articles connected with it before commencing a second examination, otherwise there is risk of the viscera, etc., of one case getting mixed with those of another. He should clean his instruments and vessels before commencing the second case.
- (4) In cases of suspected cattle poisoning, the viscera or other material should be preserved in rectified spirit with the same precautions as those exercised in human poisoning cases (item 2).
- (5) It is advisable to keep a sample of the preservative added under lock and key in case the bottle containing the sample sent to the Chemical Examiner should arrive broken.

III. Great care should be taken that the stopper or cork of the bottle or jar fits tightly; especially is this necessary during the hot weather, when rectified spirit is added as a preservative. The stopper may first be candle-waxed and then carefully tied down with leather or water proof and sealed.

IV. To secure identity, the bottles or jars should be properly labelled with a list of the contents.

V. The bottles or jars should then be placed in a strong wooden box with plenty of packing material to ensure against any breakages during transit. Saw dust, cotton wool, and dried grass are suitable for this purpose. Old office papers, etc., should not be used as the copies of the forwarding documents enclosed in the box are liable to be thrown away with this waste paper packing material. Keep these documents well away from the bottles as breakages or leakages are apt to stain them.

VI. The box itself should be covered with common garha cloth properly sewed and sealed. Seals should be at short intervals of three inches along each line of sewing. All the seals must be similar and preferably the wax should be of the same kind. The seal used should be the ordinary office seal and must be kept under lock and key. Current coins, or a series of straight, curved or crossed lines must not be used as seals. The box should be properly addressed and sufficient stamps added to cover postage; the box must also be franked.

VII. Under no circumstances should viscera from different cases be included in the same parcel.

VIII. The despatching officer who is invariably the Civil Surgeon or another medical officer authorised to conduct post-mortem examination, is personally responsible that these instructions are carefully followed.

Note. - In order to minimise the chances of parcels being lost in transit between the office of the Chemical Examiner and the Railway Station at Lahore, all articles for medico-legal examination should be sent by post as far as possible or better still by hand.

IX. In cases where the police send a closed parcel through the medical officer and the latter has no occasion to open it in transmission, the parcel should be packed in a second cloth cover and the forwarding memo., should also be enclosed. This procedure is necessary and prevents cases getting mixed up on receipt of the Chemical Examiner's office.

X. The labelling and numbering of articles should not be in the vernacular but in English.

XI. A declaration of the contents to the Postal authorities is unnecessary.

APPENDIX 25.42(2)

INSTRUCTIONS FOR DEALING WITH SUBSTANCES OR OBJECTS SUSPECTED OF BEING EXPLOSIVE

Introduction.

Explosive substances or objects which may cause explosion may be met within the following forms :-

- A. Liquids. - For example nitro-glycerine. These will rarely have to be dealt with. The possession of a liquid explosive is generally illegal.
- B. Solids -
 - (1) Blasting explosives. - Dynamite, Gelatine Dynamite, Blasting Gelatine, Gelignite, etc. These are usually made up in cylinder form about two inches long in waterproof paper wrappers, stamped with the maker's name. They vary in consistency, from a tough leathery material to a soft one like ordinarily stiff jelly.
 - (2) Gunpowder. - May be black, brown or grey and is made up in cylinder form, cubes, pebbles, grains and powder.
 - (3) Gun cotton. - Is white and is supplied in slabs or cylinders or loose like ordinary cotton wool.
 - (4) Gun, rifle and shot gun powders. - These are generally in cords, tapes or grains, but are found as small cubes or flakes. In colour they may be white, pink, yellow, blue or black.
 - (5) Fulminates. - These are white or grey powers. They are extremely dangerous. Their possession is generally illegal.
 - (6) Picric acid and picrates. - These are crystalline or may be in powder form. They have a brilliant yellow colour if pure. A license is required for their possession.
 - (7) (a) Ammonal. - This is a mixture of tri-nitro-toluene, ammonium nitrate aluminium powder and charcoal. It is a silvery brown paste.

- (b) Amatol. - Is s mixture of tri-nitro-toluene and ammonium nitrate. In appearance it is a brown paste.
- (8) Chlorate of potash. - May be found in clear tabular crystals or as a white powder.
- (9) Sulphide of arsenic. - Is generally found as a yellow or orange powder.
- (10) Carbide or phosphide of calcium. - Under certain circumstances these may cause violent explosion.
- (11) Detonators and caps. - These are explosives made up in metal tubes or small metal caps. Military detonators, friction tubes and time fuzes are made in a great variety of forms. All detonation should be handled with the utmost care.
- (12) Fuse. - This is slow burning gunpowder rolled up in cloth or paper in the form of long cards. Military fuses are made up in metal bodies in great variety of forms.
- (13) Cartridges. - Thee are either commercial, military or sporting and generally contain their own means of ignition in the form of a cap or primer. Cartridges for big guns generally consist of explosives made up in silk cloth or shalloon bags or bundles.
- (14) Bombs. - These are explosives contained in receptacles such as bottles, jars, coconut shells, cloth, jute or hemp, balls or bundles, books letters tins, metal shells, bamboo tubes, water cistern floats, chatties, etc., the whole being designed to explode by percussion, fuse, trigger, by being inverted, etc.
- (15) Fireworks. - Fireworks are provided with a fuse of touch papers or slow match. Throwdowns, crackers, explosives, corks, or objects designed to explode by percussion, provided they are not detonators, caps or cartridges are not fireworks, but bombs.
- (16) Rockets. - Some rockets are not fireworks. Life saving, signal and military rockets are dangerous and should be handled with care.
- (17) Signals. - These may be ships-flares, signal lights, etc. They are not fireworks.
- C. Gases. - Liquid or compressed gases (ammonia, oxygen, hydrogen, acetylene, carbon-di-oxide) in cylinders, sparklets, etc., may under certain circumstances cause violent explosion.

Instructions.

A local police officer should communicate at once with the Superintendent of Police, who will himself proceed, or depute some responsible officer to proceed, to the place to carry out the following instructions :-

1. If you have any reason, however slight, to suspect that the substance or object with which you, are dealing is dangerous then regard it as being Highly Explosive until such time as it is proved to be otherwise.
2. * * * * *
3. During the removal, guarding or examination of any substances or object suspected of being explosive, all unnecessary persons whether police or otherwise should be sent away.
4. If the substance you are examining is -
 - Liquid, proceed as in paragraphs 6 or 7.
 - Solid, proceed as in paragraphs 8, 9 or 10.
 - Gas, proceed as in paragraph 11.
5. If the object you are examining is a -

Detronator or cap.,	}
Fuse,
Cartidge,	}	proceed as in paragraph 12
Firework, Rocket,
Signal light	}

Bomb, proceed as in paragraph 13.

6.(1) If the substance is a liquid in an open vessel -

Carefully dip into the liquid a pencil or thin piece of stick and allow one drop to fall on a small piece of blotting paper or tin foil (silver paper). Remove this ten yards or more from the vessel or vessels containing the bulk of the liquid, place it upon a flat surface or iron or stone and strike it a sharp glancing blow with a flat headed hammer. Repeat the test three times with fresh drops and also by burning a fresh drip of the liquid on the blotting paper in the flame of a spirit lamp or candle.

(A) The substance explodes or burns rapidly. Place about half an ounce of the liquid in a small clean bottle, carefully cork it up (do not use a glass or metal stopper), and after packing in cotton wool in a box or tin, send it by messenger to the Inspector of Explosives, Northern India, with your report. The bulk of the liquid should be locked up in an isolated place until instructions are received from the Inspector of Explosives, Northern India, as to its disposal.

(B) The substance does not explode or burn rapidly. Place about half an ounce of the liquid in a small clean bottle, cork up and after packing send by post to the Inspector of Explosives, Northern India, with your report, the bulk of the liquid should be locked up in any convenient place until the report of the Inspector of Explosives is received.

7. (2) When the substance is a liquid in a closed vessel -

(1) If the vessel is a bottle and is not suspected of being a bomb and the stopper will not come out when using only moderate power, do not attempt to open but send it by messenger to the nearest Inspector of Explosives together with your report, first having carefully packed the bottle upright in a box with straw, sawdust, or paper, etc.

(2) If the vessel is a bottle and is not suspected of being a bomb and the stopper will come out, then proceed as in paragraph 6.

(3) If the vessel is not suspected of being a bomb and is of metal or other hard material and the stopper will not come out when moderate force is used, do not attempt to open but remove the vessel very gently, and in such a manner as to expose it to as little shanking as possible, and without turning it over in any way, to such open place of safety in the vicinity as may be available, where its ignition or explosion would be attended with a minimum of mischief, e.g, a yard or a garden or other open space from which the public are or can be excluded. The two pieces of strong cord to the vessel passing one cord round a hook or tree and from round the corner of a building and after all persons have been removed from within range, pull the cords backward and forward so that the vessel is upset and given as severe a shaking as possible, then leave the vessel alone for twelve hours.

If explosion is not obtained and the vessel is not too large send it by messenger to the Inspector of Explosives with your report.

If the vessel is a large one, try once more to open it using more force. If you cannot open it, remove the vessel to a convenient place where it can be locked up and send a copy of your report and all connected papers to the Inspector of Explosives.

8. When the substance is a solid in an open vessel -

(1) Carefully take out with a piece of cardboard or flat stick a few grains of the solid and after removing it ten yards, or more away from the vessel or vessels containing the bulk of the substance, place it upon a flat surface or iron or stone and strike it a sharp glancing blow with a flat headed hammer. Repeat the test three times with fresh substance and also try burning a small portion on blotting paper in the flame of a spirit lamp or candle.

(A) The substance explodes or burns rapidly. - Take a very small amount of the substance, add to it a little water and notice what happens. If the substance undergoes no change and there is no sign of any gas being given off, or of heat being generated, place about half an ounce of the substance in a small clean bottle and fill up with clean water. Cork the bottle carefully, taking the precaution not to use a glass or metal stopper, and then pack it in cotton wool in a box or tin and send it by messenger to the Inspector of Explosives with your report.

The bulk of the substance should then be covered with clean water and locked up in a isolated place until instructions are received from the Inspector of Explosives as to its disposal.

(B) The substance does not explode or burn rapidly. - Test a small amount of the substance with water in exactly the same way as detailed in (A). If the substance undergoes no change and there is no sign of any gas being given off, or of heat being generated, place about half an ounce of the substance in a small clean bottle and fill up with water. Cork the bottle carefully, and after packing, send it by post to the Inspector of Explosives with your report.

The bulk of the substance should then be covered with clean water and locked up in any convenient place until the report of the Inspector of Explosives is received.

(2) If you find that the substance under sub-paragraphs (A) and (B) does undergo a change, etc., when water is added proceed exactly as before, except that the sample in all cases should be sent dry, and the bulk also kept dry. Make certain that your bottle is absolutely dry before you put the sample into it.

9. When the substance is a solid in a closed vessel -

(1) If the vessel is a bottle and is not suspected of being a bomb and the stopper will not come out when only moderate power is used. Do not attempt to open it but send it by messenger to the Inspector of Explosives together with your report, first having carefully packed the bottle upright in a box with straw, sawdust, paper, etc.

(2) If the vessel is a bottle and is not suspected of being a bomb and the stopper will come out then proceed as in 8.

(3) If the vessel is not suspected of being a bomb and is of metal or other hard material proceed as in 7(2).

10. When the substance is calcium carbide or calcium phosphide. - If it is desired to destroy calcium carbide or calcium phosphide, this can be done by dropping them into deep water, but not more than half a pound at a time, waiting until no more gas is given off before a fresh portion is destroyed.

11. When the substances is a gas. - Gases are generally found compressed in cylinders, sparklets, etc. They should be kept cool and away from the direct rays of the sun. If it is desired to know what gas is in any cylinder, the whole cylinder should be even up in the coir matting and sent by train to the Inspector of Explosives together with your report. Small cylinders or sparklets only a few inches long can be sent by post if well packed in cotton wool in a wooden box.

12. When the object is a detonator, cap, fuse, cartridge, firework, rocket, light, these should never, under any circumstances, be sent through the post. A few should be carefully packed separately in cotton wool in a wooden box and be sent by hand to the Inspector of Explosives together with your report. The bulk should be locked up in an isolated place.

13. When the object is a bomb -

(1) These may be met with in the following forms :-

- A. Military grenades.
 - B. Copies of military grenades.
 - C. Bombs made up in soda bottles, jam tins, water cistern floats, chatties, coconut shells, bundles of jute or hemp, bamboo tubes, etc.
 - D. Book bombs.
 - E. Letter bombs.
- (2) Any of these may be designed to explode -
- (a) when moved in any way,
 - (b) when turned over,
 - (c) when placed in water,
 - (d) when thrown down,
 - (e) by lighting a fuse,
 - (f) by clockwork,
 - (g) by chemical reaction.

(3) Before touching the bomb examine it where it lies and see if you can detect the arrangement for firing. See if there is any trigger and, if so, if it is set or not. Do not move the bomb, unless you are satisfied that it is safe to do so. If you are not satisfied, then place a guard over the bomb and report to your senior officer.

A. Military grenades. - The first thing to do, is to see that the safety pin is in position, that it is not broken or corroded and that the ends are well splayed out so that it cannot be jolted out. See that the jaws of the laver are in good condition and support the striker correctly. Being satisfied on these points, the base should be unscrewed and, if the igniter set is present, it should be carefully removed. Pack the igniter set and the bomb in cotton wool in separate wooden boxes and send by hand to the Inspector of Explosives, together with your report.

If the safety pin and level are missing and the striker is inside the bomb, it will probably have to be destroyed in situ. Set a guard over it where it lies and report to your senior officer.

B. Copies of military grenades. - These are generally something like a military grenade but are of cruder finish. They must only be handled by persons who have handled bombs before. It is generally possible to render them harmless by removing an explosive cap or tuft of gun cotton. This should only be done with you are satisfied that the trigger is safe. Do not put this type of bomb in water but, provided the trigger has been made safe, it should be packed in cotton wool in a wooden box and be sent by the hand to the Inspector of Explosives together with your report.

C. Bombs made up in soda bottles, etc. - First arrange a string bag and strong cord over a large bucket of hot water. Carefully remove the bomb keeping it in the same position as found and place it in the bag and from round the corner of a building, first having sent everybody present under cover lower the bomb into the hot water and leave it there for 24 hours. The water will then be cold.

It may then be taken out and be carefully packed in wet straw or cotton wool in a wooden box and be sent by hand to the Inspector of Explosives together with your report.

If the bomb is well made and there is a possibility that the water may not have penetrated inside, it should be given the rough treatment described in paragraph 7(3) before being sent away.

D. Book bombs. - These are bombs made up in book form and are generally designed to explode when the book is opened or turned over. Such a bomb should be very carefully taken to an isolated place, keeping it in the original position all the time and be locked up. Send a report on the subject to the Inspector of Explosives.

E. Letter bombs. - These are letters containing explosives which are designed to explode when opened. Place the whole letter in a bucket of water. When the letter is quite wet, pack it in a tin in wet cotton wool and send by hand to the Inspector of Explosives, together with your report.

F. Booby Traps. -

1. "Booby Traps" are bomb generally designed to explode in the presence of an officer who is engaged in searching suspected premises.
2. They may be designed to explode when the bomb is moved in any way or electric contact is made by some action of the officer or by clock work or chemical means.
3. The most prevalent procedure is to cause one bomb to explode in a house by time fuse, such as a burning candle, leaving a second bomb which will explode when the officer comes to investigate the first explosion, or the officer may be tempted to the house by a message, telephone call etc.
4. Another method is to leave the second bomb with an obvious means of ignition such as a burning candle in the hope that the officer will extinguish the candle and then consider the bomb as safe whereas it is really designed to explode if moved in any way.
5. Never enter a house or room in which you suspect booby traps by the obvious way. First smash a window or knock a hole in the wall with a crowbar opposite the door to see if the door can be safely opened.
6. Enter the house or room very slowly touching nothing until each object has been carefully examined. Make a loop at the end of a long rope and drop the loop over each object which might be a bomb without touching it. These may be such things as tins, trunks, kettles, lamps, buckets, boxes, clocks, etc. From outside the room or house jerk the object about by means of the rope and do not enter the room or house again for some minutes in each case. Open the lids of boxes or trunks by means of the rope from round the corner.
7. If an unexploded bomb is discovered after this treatment proceed as in paragraph C above.

APPENDIX No. 25.56(1)REMANDS TO POLICE CUSTODY.

1. Remands to Police custody when to be granted. - Before making an order of remand to police custody under section 67 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the Magistrate should satisfy himself that -

- (1) there are grounds for believing that the accusation against the person sent up by the police is well founded.
- (2) there are good and sufficient reasons for remanding the accused to police custody instead of detaining him in magisterial custody.

In order to form an opinion as to the necessity or otherwise of the remand applied for by the police, the magistrate should ascertain what previous similar orders (if any) have been made in the case, and the longer an accused person have been in custody the stronger should be the grounds required for a further remand to police custody.

The accused person must always be produced before the Magistrate when a remand is asked for.

2. The following principles are laid down for the guidance of Magistrates in the matter of granting remands, and District Magistrates are required to see that they are carefully applied :-

- (i) Under no circumstances should an accused person be remanded to police custody unless it is made clear that his presence is actually needed in order to serve some important and specific purpose connected with the completion of the enquiry. A general statement by the officer applying for the remand that the accused may be able to give further information should not be accepted.

- (ii) When an accused person is remanded to police custody the period of the remand should be as short as possible.
- (iii) In all ordinary cases in which time is required by the police to complete the enquiry, the accused person should be detained in magisterial custody.
- (iv) Where the object of the remand is merely the verification of the prisoner's statement, he should be remanded to magisterial custody.
- (v) A prisoner, who has been produced for the purpose of making a confession and who has declined to do so, or has made a statement which is unsatisfactory from the point of view of the prosecution should in no circumstances be remanded to police custody.

3. In any case when an accused person is remanded to police custody, the reasons must be recorded in the order of remand, and when the Magistrate ordering a remand is not himself a Sub-Divisional or District magistrate, he must at once send a copy of his order, with his reasons for making it, to the Sub-Divisional or District Magistrate to whom he is immediately subordinate.

If the limit of 15 days has elapsed, and there is still need for further investigation by the police, the procedure to be adopted is that laid down in section 344, Criminal Procedure Code. The case is brought on to the magistrate's file, and the accused, if detention is necessary, will remain in magisterial custody. The case may be postponed or adjourned from time to time for periods of not more than 15 days each, and as each adjournment expires the accused must be produced before the magistrate, and the order of adjournment must show good reasons for making the order.

Arrest, Escape and Custody.

26.1. General power of arrest. - Section 54, Code of Criminal Procedure, authorizes any police officer to arrest without a warrant any person who has been concerned in any cognizable offence or against whom a reasonable complaint has been made, or credible information has been received, or a reasonable suspicion exists, of his having been so concerned. The authority given under this section to the police to arrest without a warrant is, however, permissive and not obligatory. Whenever escape from justice or inconvenient delay is likely to result from the police failing to arrest, they are bound to do so; but in no other cases. The law allows a police officer to apply to a magistrate for a warrant or a summons instead of making the arrest immediately, and this discretion shall be exercised whenever possible and expedient.

The law also allows a police officer in any bailable case to take security under section 170 Criminal Procedure Code from an accused person to appear before a magistrate without first arresting him.

26.2. Power to defer arrest. - If the fact that suspicion rests upon a particular person has been kept secret, and there is no risk of his absconding, the police shall defer making the arrest until the investigation is sufficiently complete; but if any interference with the liberty of the accused person is necessary to prevent him from absconding, and the facts justify arrest, the police shall arrest him and shall not interfere with his liberty unless they arrest him.

26.3. Search of persons under arrest. - (1) All persons arrested by the police and not admitted to bail shall, as soon after arrest as possible, be thoroughly searched; in the case of female such search shall be conducted by a woman and shall in all cases be conducted with due regard to decency.

An inventory of all articles taken into custody by the Police from such persons under Section 51 of the Criminal Procedure Code shall be prepared in duplicate by the carbon copying process and the carbon copy thereof shall be sent forthwith to a magistrate as required by section 523 of the said Code.

(2) Every prisoner in police custody shall be searched on first admission to and on every occasion when he is re-admitted to a lock-up being taken anywhere beyond the precincts of the police station. Sweepers, bhishtis and every other person other than a police officer having access to a lock-up shall be searched before entering and on leaving. The searching of women shall be done by a woman.

(3) Soldiers in police custody shall not be deprived of their shoulder titles, badges of rank and medal ribbons but medals shall be taken into safe custody. Sikh prisoners shall be permitted to retain their karas and Hindus their sacred threads.

26.4. Lock-ups. - (1) Outside every lock-up which is guarded by the police shall be displayed a notice showing, in English and Urdu the maximum number of prisoners which the lock-up is authorised to accommodate. The authorised number shall never be exceeded; any excess shall be accommodated in a convenient building under an adequate guard or transferred to the nearest available lock-up.

(2) The door of a lock-up shall not be opened except in the presence and by the direct order of the officer commanding the guard, who shall take all possible precautions to prevent a rush or escape. When the circumstances of the use of a particular lock-up are such that prisoners are constantly being admitted or removed, special standing orders for the safe conduct of the operation shall be framed by the Superintendent of Police and included in the standing orders for the guard over such lock-up.

(3) When it is necessary to keep prisoners in a lock-up which is in an insecure state all male prisoners, who would, under the provisions of rules 26.22 and 26.23, be liable to be handcuffed under escort, shall be handcuffed while confined in such lock-up.

(4) Every under-trial prisoner in the lock-up unable to provide himself with sufficient bedding shall be supplied with such beddings as may be necessary.

Ordinarily 1 blanket and 1 munj or bhabbar mat shall be issued to each prisoner in the summer. In the winter 3 blankets shall be issued for each prisoner. For this purpose a sufficient supply of blankets and munj or bhabbar mats shall be obtained from the District magistrate and maintained for use in lock-ups. Blankets and mats shall not be stored in lock-ups and issued when required.

Private bedding may be supplied by relatives or friends of the prisoner. All such bedding shall be carefully examined by the Police Officer in charge who shall return the same when the prisoner is released or remanded to judicial custody. When private bedding is supplied, a report to this effect shall be entered in the station daily diary.

Jail rules permit the use of beds and provide for special sanitary and bathing facilities for A and B class convicts. Such facilities are not available in all Police Stations, but they should be provided for better class prisoners in Police custody so far as is possible. Endeavours should be made to confine better class prisoners in Police Stations which possess amenities of this kind and to segregate better class from ordinary prisoners.”

(5) An allowance for a sweeper and bhishti for each lock-up will be made by the Jail Department.

26.5. Warrants to be taken out when wanted persons abscond. - Permissive authority is given to the police to arrest without warrant in certain cases, in order that they may not be handicapped by having to obtain a magistrate's warrant under Section 204, Code of Criminal Procedure, when the arrest of a criminal or suspect who is present before them is urgent. The law provides, however, no penalty for merely evading arrest by a police officer, though it penalises resistance to, or escape from, such arrest. On the other hand the law does provide a severe penalty or recalcitrance to an order in the form of a warrant by a Court, entirely irrespective of the evidence of the guilt of the person against whom the warrant is issued. For merely evading obedience to a warrant of arrest, a man is liable to proclamation and the confiscation of his property and any one who harbours him, as defined in section 52-A of the Indian Penal Code, can also be severely punished. Whenever, therefore, a person is wanted, whose whereabouts are not immediately known, the notice shall, before setting off in search of him, obtain a warrant of arrest from the Court having jurisdiction. Unsuccessful search without such a warrant is merely waste of time. On the other hand immediately it is found that, in spite of all reasonable effort, a warrant cannot be executed, a proclamation order under section 87, Criminal Procedure Code, can be obtained and, on proclamation being duly carried out, attachment under section 88, Criminal Procedure Code, can immediately follow, and connivance by any person at the continued absconding of the person proclaimed becomes punishable under section 216, Indian Penal Code.

Note. - Under section 200, clause (aa), Code of Criminal Procedure read with section 204, Code of Criminal Procedure, a police officer can obtain a warrant on a written complaint.

26.6. Illness of persons under arrest. - When a person in police custody is suffering from any illness or injury at the time of arrest, or becomes ill or sustained injury while in such custody such a person shall be medically examined at the earliest opportunity so that the nature and cause of the illness or injury may be ascertained and proper treatment given.

26.7. Identification of accused. - (1) Whenever there is doubt as to the correctness of a statement made by an arrested person regarding his identity, residence or antecedents, an attestation certificate in Form 26.7(1), shall at once be despatched to the officer-in-charge of the police station in the jurisdiction of which such person claims to be resident; such officer shall immediately make, or cause to be made, all necessary inquiries, and shall ascertain if such person's name is entered in the Village Conviction Register. The certificate shall be returned completed with as little delay as possible and shall be attached to the charge-sheet. This form of attestation certificate shall be used whether the person arrested states he is a resident of the police station in which arrested, or of some other police station, and whether or not a search slip is despatched to the Finger Print Bureau.

(2) Detailed orders regarding the preparation of search slips and the finger print system are published in the Police Finger Print Bureau Manual.

26.8. Report of arrest. - (1) Under [Section 58 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973]¹, an officer in charge of a police station is required to report to the District Magistrate, Sub-Divisional Magistrate, or such other Magistrate as the District Magistrate may direct, all arrests without warrant made by himself or in his jurisdiction.

[(2) Reports of such arrests shall be made in Form Arrest/Court Surrender Form appended to chapter-XXI of Punjab Police Rules whether the person arrested has been admitted to bail or not and may be sent by post. One copy of the same shall be submitted to the District Crime Record Bureau of the District Concerned]²

26.9. Arrest on a telegram. - (1) In any case in which he has jurisdiction to arrest, a police officer shall take action on a telegram from a police officer or magistrate requiring him to arrest a person for a cognizable offence, but when such telegram is received from a private person he shall not arrest unless the particulars given cover a cognizable offence and afford reasonable suspicion that the person to be arrested is the offender.

(2) If a telegram is received by a police officer requesting him to arrest a person for an offence which appears to such police officer to be non- cognizable he shall lay information before a magistrate having jurisdiction with a view to the issue of a summons or warrant.

If such magistrate declines to issue a summons or warrant the orders of the District Magistrate shall be sought.

(3) A police officer who despatches a telegram to another police officer requesting him to arrest a person without warrant shall be responsible that the information in his possession is sufficient to justify, and that the police officer addressed has jurisdiction to make such arrest.

In all such telegrams sufficient particulars shall be given of the person to be arrested and the offence of which he is accused.

the arrest and extradition of offenders in Indian States who are accused of having committed offences in British India is prescribed in Punjab Government Consolidated Circular No. 20. The Indian Extradition Act XV of 1903 governs arrests and extradition from British India to India States. Detailed instructions regarding the extradition of criminals and foreign jurisdiction and the application of the Indian Extradition Act are contained in Chapter 16, Volume III, Rules and Orders of the High Court of Judicature of Lahore.

(2) The powers of pursuit of offenders conferred by section 58, Criminal Procedure Code do not cover pursuit into the territory of an Indian State; established custom and usage in respect of the relations between the British Government and such States, however, permits such pursuit, and requires the authorities of the States concerned to render all possible assistance in investigating cases, following up offenders and effecting their apprehension and detention pending the grant of extradition. Reciprocal arrangements have, however, been made with Jammu-Kashmir, Patiala, Jind, Nabha, Kapurthala, Faridkot, Malerkotla and Bikaner. Rules framed by the Governor-General in Council under the Indian Extradition Act and stated in Foreign and Political Department Notification No. 107-I, dated the 24th February, 1932, which appears as Appendix 26.10(2) of these rules. Officers of the Punjab Police entering Indian State territory in pursuit of offenders, or for purposes connected with an investigation, shall invariably inform the nearest police or other official of the State and summon him to their assistance at the earliest possible moment, and, pending the arrival of such assistance shall take only such action as is necessary to prevent the escape of offenders or the removal of stolen property. Though the right of pursuit is recognised by convention, no rights of search or arrest vest in police officers as such beyond the limits of British India. Searches for and arrests of persons and searches for property must, therefore, be carried out by the State police having jurisdiction, acting on the request of the police of British India.

(3) Section 54 seventhly, Criminal Procedure Code, and Rule 28 of the rules made under section 39-A, Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), confer power upon police officers, village headmen and village watchmen to arrest persons suspected of having committed extraditable offences in Indian States. These powers may be exercised upon information received from any source including, the police of an Indian State. Persons so arrested shall be taken before a qualified magistrate without delay with a view to steps being taken for extradition.

(4) Searches for property may be conducted only in accordance with sections 165, 166 or 96, Code of Criminal Procedure. When the police of an Indian State require such a search to be made in British India in connection with a case under their investigation, such search can only be conducted if the information is such as to warrant the police of the British District concerned opening an investigation of an offence punishable under section 411, Indian Penal Code or any other extraditable cognizable offence or on the obtaining by the police of the district of a search warrant under Section 96, Criminal Procedure Code. Pending the receipt of such warrant the district police shall place a watch on the house to be searched and take all other necessary steps to prevent the removal of the property. State police shall not be permitted to take any such action independently of the police of the district concerned.

(5) General Rules framed by the Punjab Government and the Durbars of certain Indian States to secure co-operation between the police in adjoining jurisdictions are contained in Appendix 26.10(5). In respect of matters not covered by those rules and the preceding sub-rules, the principle that the police of Punjab districts have no jurisdiction in Indian States and the police of such States have no jurisdiction in British Districts must be strictly followed. The handing over of accused persons to the police not having such jurisdiction is strictly prohibited. When it is essential for the purposes of an investigation that an accused person should be sent to any place for the purposes of investigation, he shall be taken by the police who are legally entitled to his custody, and they shall be responsible for him in every respect. The attendance of witnesses from one jurisdiction to an investigation in another cannot be enforced.

(6) All police officers shall at all times do all in their power to promote friendly relations and a spirit of co-operation with the police of Indian States. In the absence of such relations the limitation of jurisdiction must inevitably have harmful effects on the control of crime.

(7) Whenever the police of one jurisdiction demand assistance from the police of another they shall cause an entry to be made in the dialy diary of the police station concerned.

26.11. Cancelled.

26.13. Arrest of public servants. - Information of the intended arrest of a public servant shall, if possible, be given to such public servant's immediate superior officer before the arrest is made; otherwise information shall be given immediately after arrest.

26.14. Arrest of persons belonging to the Indian Army and instructions regarding Military Criminal jurisdiction. - (1) On the arrest by the police of a person subject to Military or Air Force law charged with the commission of an offence early intimation shall be sent to the Officer Commanding the unit to which such person belongs.

(2) The general rules defining the procedure in the case of offences committed by persons subject to the Army or the Indian Army Act (VIII) of 1911, which can equally be tried by a court-martial or a criminal court, are contained in Appendix IX of the Regulations for the Army in India. Extracts from this appendix are given in Appendix 26.14(2) of these rules.

(3) The procedure governing the delivery of an offender to the Civil Power as laid down in Regulations for the Army in India, is as follows :-

“When a person subject to the Army Act commits an offence under conditions precluding trial by court-martial, or an offence of a grave nature, which could be equally tried by a court-martial or a civil court, against the person or the property of an individual unconnected with the army, his unit commander shall at once inform the police and the nearest magistrate and under the orders of the brigade commander the offender shall for an offence of the former class, and will ordinarily for an offence of the latter class, be handed over to the Civil Power for trial. After a person, subject to the Army Act, accused of an offence such as is referred to in proviso (a) to section 41 of the Army Act, has been handed over to the Civil Power for trial, the competent authority (see Appendix IX, Part II)

26.15. Detention of sarwan or camel of a camel cadre. - Cases of detention by the police of a sarwan or of a camel belonging to a camel cadre shall be reported by the officer in charge of the police station to the Commandant or nearest Indian Officer of the cadre within 12 hours, the reason for such detention being given.

26.16. Arrest of deserters. - (1) Any police officer may, without an order from a magistrate, arrest any person reasonably suspected of being a deserter from His Majesty's Army, Navy or Air Force.

(2) A European deserter shall, if possible, be arrested by a European police officer, otherwise by a sufficient number of Indian Police Officers to discourage opposition.

(3) If a sufficient escort can be given and the deserter proceeds quietly he shall not be handcuffed.

(4) Deserters shall not be taken unnecessarily through crowded streets, bazaars and thoroughfares.

(5) Upon arrest a European deserter shall be brought before a Justice of the Peace - (Sections 154(1) and 190(35)(d) of Army Act and Section IX of Deserters from the Navy Act 10 and 11 Vict., C. 62). An Indian deserter should be brought before the nearest Magistrate or the nearest Military Commanding Officer when no Magistrate is readily accessible. All deserters shall, as soon as possible after arrest, be handed over to military custody.

(6) A register of deserters in English in Form 28.16(6) shall be maintained by the head clerk in the office of each Superintendent of Police (See also Rule 22.54).

(7) Descriptive rolls of deserters shall, if necessary, be published in the Criminal Intelligence Gazette in Form No. 26.16(7).

26.17. Arrests on warrants under Gambling Act. - Warrants issued under section 5, Act III of 1867, shall be executed or if not executed, shall be returned to the magistrate or Superintendent who issued it, within a period of not more than 15 days from the date of issue. The Magistrate or Superintendent will then cancel the warrant, but a fresh warrant can be immediately applied for or issued, if necessary.

26.18. Arrests of civil prisoners. - Under the provisions of section 225-B, Indian Penal Code, the police are bound to arrest a civil prisoner who offers any resistance or illegal obstruction to his lawful apprehension, or who escapes or attempts to escape from lawful custody when such resistance, obstruction, escape or attempt to escape is an offence.

26.18-A. Arrest of women. - (1) All arrests of women - whether without warrant or with a warrant bailable or non-bailable - shall be carried out by police officers not below the rank of assistant sub-inspector of police or, when no such officer can be made available, by a head constable in presence of responsible male relatives and village or town officials. Such arrests shall be specially reported in the manner prescribed in police Rule 24.12 and, when the arrest has been made by an officer of rank lower than assistant sub-inspector, the reason shall be clearly explained. Superintendents of Police shall forward special reports as required by police Rule 24.15, and a copy shall be sent to the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, Punjab in those cases only in which the woman is not sent to judicial custody or released on bail immediately.

Where bail is admissible the woman should not be detained longer than is necessary for the production of the bond or sureties. No applications for remand to police custody shall be made without the special order of gazetted officer.

(2) No women in police custody shall be lodged even for a night in a police station except in unavoidable circumstances. They shall be placed at once before a Magistrate for remand to judicial custody, except where a remand to police custody is necessary and has been obtained in accordance with (1) above. Women remanded to judicial custody shall be immediately transferred to headquarters or properly equipped sub-divisional female judicial lock-ups. All remands to judicial custody shall be reported immediately to the District Magistrate. The gazetted officer supporting an application for remand to police custody shall be responsible for the taking of necessary measures for the same and decent custody of the prisoner. Where women in police custody have to be escorted about for the purpose of investigation the officer-in-charge of the police party shall not be below the rank of assistant sub-inspector; provided that, when no assistant sub-inspector is posted to the police station concerned, a head constable may be placed in charge of the escort.

(3) Women attending police investigations and enquiries - as distinct from those under arrest - shall on no account be detained in police stations or with the police any longer than is necessary for the record of the information which they are willing to give. In no case shall they remain with the police between sunset and sunrise. If it is necessary to take a woman witness about the countryside for identification, etc., she shall be accompanied by a responsible male relative or her zaildar, sufedposh, lambardar, mohalladar or other respectable male neighbour. Gazetted officers hearing and passing orders, on such cases shall take such steps as are necessary to ensure that the above orders are scrupulously observed.

26.19. Arrest of drunken persons. - A drunken person may only be arrested by a police officer in a road, street or thoroughfare, in a town or notified area to which Act V of 1861 applies and only when such person is drunk within the view of the police officer and behaves so as to cause obstruction, inconvenience, annoyance, risk, danger or damage to residents and passengers.

26.19-A. Stoppage of trains at non-stop stations to arrest persons. - On receipt of a requisition, in writing, from a magistrate or a police officer, not below gazetted rank a train shall be stopped by a station master at a station at which it is not booked to stop, with a view to effecting the arrest of a person or persons travelling by it. Such requests shall be made only in special and urgent cases [Authority : Railway Board Letter No. 3334-T, dated 29th July, 1932].

26.20. Transfer of arrested persons. - (1) If a police officer lawfully arrests a person, without warrant, in a district in which the investigation, enquiry and trial cannot be held, and the offence is non-bailable or such person cannot give bail, he shall take or send such person before the District Magistrate or Ist Class Magistrate having jurisdiction over the area and obtain an order for the transfer of the prisoner to the district in which the offence was committed.

(2) No accused or convicted person shall be taken in custody from one district to another or from one province to another, except under the written order or warrant of the magistrate or other lawful authority directing such transfer.

26.21. Bail and recognizance. - (1) When a person accused of a bailable offence can give good and sufficient bail the police shall accept it unless the law requires such person to be brought before the magistrate having jurisdiction.

(2) An officer in charge of a police station is empowered under Section 497(1), Code of Criminal Procedure to release on bail a person accused of a non-bailable offence (not punishable with death or transportation for life) whom he has arrested or detained without warrant. These powers are permissive and not obligatory and should be exercised with caution. The police officer must satisfy himself that the release on bail is not likely unduly to prejudice the prosecution or to be followed by the absconding of a person prima facie guilty.

(3) An officer in charge of a police station shall, in accordance with section 497(2), Code of Criminal Procedure at any stage of an investigation release on bail or recognizance a person accused of a non-bailable offence when it appears that there are no reasonable grounds for believing that a non-bailable offence has been committed by him, although sufficient grounds may exist for further investigation.

(4) Before any person is released on bail or recognizance due regard should be paid to the provisions of sections 498 and 499, Code of Criminal Procedure.

(5) In every case of release on bail or recognizance, whether under section 169 or section 497, Code of Criminal Procedure, full reasons shall be recorded in a case diary, and the police officer concerned shall preserve the bond [Form 26.21(5)] until it is discharged either by the appearance of the accused person or by the order of a competent court.

(6) No police officer has power to re-arrest an accused person who has been released on bail under section 497, Code of Criminal Procedure. When re-arrest is deemed necessary, the police shall apply to a competent court for the cancellation of the bail bond and the issue of a warrant in accordance with the provisions of section 497(5) Code of Criminal Procedure.

26.21-A. Classification of under-trial prisoners. - Under-trial prisoners are divided into two classes based on previous standard of living. The classifying authority is the trying court subject to the approval of the District Magistrate; but during the period before a prisoner is brought before a competent court, discretion shall be exercised by the officer-in-charge of the Police Station concerned to classify him as either 'better class' or 'ordinary'. Only those prisoners should be classified provisionally as 'better class' who by social status, education or habit of life have been accustomed to a superior mode of living. The fact, that the prisoner is to be tried for the commission of any particular class of offence is not to be considered. The possession of a certain degree of literacy is in itself not sufficient for 'better class' classification and no under-trial prisoner shall be so classified whose mode of living does not appear to the Police Officer concerned to have been definitely superior to that of the ordinary run of the population, whether urban or rural. Under-trial prisoners classified as 'better class' shall be given the diet on the same scale as prescribed for A and B class convict prisoners in Rule 26.27(1).

¹[26.22. Conditions in which handcuffs to be used. - (1) Subject to the provisions of sub-rule (2), a person who is to be escorted in Police custody, whether under police arrest or on remand or under trial shall be handcuffed if there is material sufficiently stringent to satisfy a reasonable mind that there is clear and present danger of escape by breaking out of the police control and further that even by breaking out of the police control and further that even by adding to the escort party or by adopting any other strategy he cannot be kept under control :

Provided that no person shall be handcuffed -

If by reason of age or other infirmity he does not appear to be in health capable of offering effective resistance;

(ii) in routine or merely for the convenience of the escort party;

(iii) on the vague surmises or general averments that he is a crook or desperado, rowdy or maniac.

(2) The discretion to use handcuffs shall be exercised in a bona fide and judicious manner and reasons for handcuffing shall be recorded in the Station Daily Diary and where a person so handcuffed is produced in Court the escorting officer shall forthwith furnish a copy of the reasons so recorded to the Presiding Officer of the Court.]

26.23. Conditions in which use of handcuffs may be dispensed with. - (1) Prisoners shall not be handcuffed while confined in a lock-up except as provided in rule 26.4(3).

(2) The handcuffs of prisoners in court shall be removed only as provided in Rule 27.12(2).

(3) A prisoner who is charged only under Section 124-A or 153-A of the Indian Penal Code shall not be handcuffed unless he is already undergoing sentence or the officer commanding the escort has definite reason for believing that such prisoner comes within the category described in Rule 26.22(e) or (f).

26.24. Security of handcuffs. - When handcuffs are used, the senior officer present shall be responsible that they fit properly and that the prisoner cannot get at the key.

26.25. Arrest of sick or wounded persons. - (1) If wounded, or seriously ill, and in need of medical attendance, a person accused of a non-bailable offence, or unable to furnish bail in a bailable offence, shall, if possible, be conveyed to the prison hospital at the district headquarters or to a neighbouring dispensary.

(2) The police shall take measures to ensure his safe custody in hospital and the magistrate having jurisdiction shall be asked to grant a remand, and, if necessary, to examine such person.

(3) If such person cannot be moved without risk of his life, the magistrate having jurisdiction shall be asked to record his statement at the place where he is lying.

26.26. Production of accused before magistrate within 24 hours. - (1) The case of an accused person sent in custody for trial shall be brought before the Court having jurisdiction as soon as possible after the arrival of the accused person at the station at which the court sits.

(2) In no case shall an accused person arriving in custody on a close holiday, or after the courts have risen, be placed in the police lock-up for more than 24 hours.

If the second day after arrival is a close holiday application for remand shall be made immediately.

(3) If an accused person is in custody charged with an offence in which bail may be taken by the police it shall be the duty of the police to facilitate any attempt to find bail for such person.

26.27. Diet of accused persons. - (1) Officers in charge of police stations shall arrange for the dieting of such accused persons arrested by the police as do not provide their own diet. The sum expected on the diet of each individual shall not exceed the scale prescribed from time to time by the local Government.

The police shall provide for dieting on, and from, the date of arrest to, and for, the date on which the accused is placed in the magisterial lock-up.

Under-trial prisoners classified as 'better class' shall be given the diet on the same scale as prescribed for A and B Class convict prisoners. Under-trial prisoners classified as 'ordinary' shall be given diet on the same scale as prescribed for 'C' class convict prisoners. Under-trial prisoners in either class shall be allowed to supplement this diet by private purchase through the Police authorities. The dietary prescribed for A, B and C class convicts in jails is given in Appendix No. 26.27(1). It is recognised that all Police Stations may not be able to adhere strictly to the dietary laid down, but efforts should be made to approximate to it as nearly as possible. The cost should not exceed Rs. 0-8-6 per diem in the case of vegetarians and Rs. 0-10-3 per diem in the case of meat-eaters.

When an under-trial prisoner in Police custody is being transferred from place to place, his dietary in transit should be approximately of the same type as that laid down in Appendix No. 26.27(1) and the cost should not exceed annas 8 pies 6 or annas 10 pies 3.

(2) Diet money expended under this rule shall be recovered from the Judicial Department in accordance with Rule 10.109 at the time of presenting the charge-sheet. If expenditure is considerable owing to the number of persons arrested in a case, or owing to remand in police custody being granted, intermediate applications for refund, supported by an explanation of the circumstances, may be made through the prosecuting branch to the magistrate having jurisdiction in the case.

(3) All food brought for a prisoner by relatives or friends shall be made over to the police station clerk or head constable in command of the guard and shall be examined for prohibited or injurious articles. After such examination the food shall be given to the prisoner by a police officer. The person bringing the food shall have no access to the prisoner.

(4) In the report in the station daily diary regarding the first admission of a prisoner to lock-up, it shall be stated whether he is to be dieted at Government expense or by friends. In the latter case the name of the person who undertakes responsibility for the prisoner's feeding shall be entered.

26.28. Interviews with prisoners. - (1) No person shall be allowed to communicate in any way with a prisoner in a police lock-up without the permission of the officer-in-charge of the police station (as defined in section 4(p), Criminal Procedure Code), or written authority from a judicial or superior police officer.

(2) Authorized interviews shall take place in the presence and hearing of the police sentry and the interviewer shall stand sufficiently far from the bars of the lock-up to prevent physical contact or the passage of prohibited articles between him and the prisoner. When a lawyer wishes to consult and advise a prisoner confidentially as to the conduct of his case, the prisoner may be removed from the lock-up and allowed to sit apart with his lawyer, but within the precincts of the police station and in the sight of the sentry. At the conclusion of such an interview the prisoner shall be searched as provided in sub-rule 26.3(2).

26.29. Orders to be hung up outside lock-ups. - A printed copy, in English and Urdu, of Rules 26.3, 26.27 and 26.28 shall be hung up outside every police lock-up as a standing order for sentries and for the information of the public.

26.30. Diet and expenses of witnesses. - The instructions regarding the advancing of diet money and travelling expenses to witnesses contained in rule 27.28 shall be strictly followed in all police stations.

26.31. Death in police custody. - (1) When any person dies while in the custody of the police, the officer-in-charge of the guard, escort or police station, as the case may be, shall make an immediate report of the fact to the nearest magistrate empowered to hold inquests (Section 176, Code of Criminal Procedure).

(2) For the purposes of this rule, a prisoner in a magisterial lock-up is considered to be in the custody of the turn key and a prisoner in prison or prison camp in the custody of the jailer.

26.32. Identification of suspects. - (1) The following rules shall be strictly observed in confronting arrested suspects with the witnesses who claim to be able to identify them.

- ¹[(a) The suspects, who are to be subjected to an identification parade, shall be informed about it at the time of their arrest to enable them to take necessary precautions by way of keeping their faces covered and a request shall be made to the Magistrate to record a note in the remand papers regarding such precautions having been taken by them so as to eliminate any subsequent objection by the suspects that they had been shown to the witnesses before the identification parade was held. The proceedings shall be conducted by a Magistrate or, if no Magistrate is available and the case is of great urgency then, by Sarpanch who may summon one or two independent and literate, if possible, persons of reliable character, not interested in the case to assist him and to certify that the identification has been conducted under conditions precluding collusion. Such proceedings shall not be conducted by a Police Officer. The Police Officer concerned before inviting a Sarpanch to conduct the proceedings must ensure that the Sarpanch is not biased or interested in or against the accused or suspect and that he understands the rules of the proceedings. Every effort should be made to secure the presence of a Magistrate and services of Sarpanch only secured when absolutely necessary. In the absence of a Sarpanch, a Lambardar may be invited to do the needful.]
- (b) Arrangements shall be made, whether the proceedings are being held inside a jail or elsewhere, to ensure that the identifying witnesses shall be kept separate from each other and at such a distance from the place of identification as shall render it impossible for them to see the suspects or any of the persons concerned in the proceedings, until they are called up to make their identification.
- (c) Identification shall be carried out as soon as possible after the arrest of the suspects.
- (d) The suspects shall be placed among other persons similarly dressed and of the same religion and social status, in the proportion of 8 or 9 such persons to one suspect. Each witness shall then be brought up separately to attempt his identification. Care shall be taken that the remaining witnesses are still kept out of sight and hearing and that no opportunity is permitted for communications to pass between witnesses who have been called up and those who have not. If it is desired, through fear of revenge or for other adequate reasons, that witnesses shall not be seen by the suspects, arrangements shall be made for the former, when called up to stand behind a screen or be otherwise placed so that they can see clearly without being seen.
- ²[(e) The results of the tests shall be recorded by the Magistrate or other person conducting the test in Form 26.32(1)(e) as each witness views the suspect. On conclusion, the Magistrate or the Sarpanch or the Lambardar and the witnesses, if any, shall sign the form and certify that the test has been carried out correctly and that no collusion between the police and witnesses or among the witnesses themselves was possible. It is advisable that, whenever possible, an independent and reliable person, un-connected with the Police, should be present throughout the proceedings at the place where the witnesses are kept, and should be required to devote his attention to the prevention of collusion. It is important that once the arrangements for the proceedings have been undertaken, no police officer whatsoever shall have any access whatever either to the suspects or to the witnesses.]

1. Substituted vide correction slip No. 134 date 13.7.1961

2. Substituted vide correction slip No. 134 date 13.7.1961

(2) Proceedings of the nature described above are extra-judicial. It is not the duty of the officer conducting them or of the independent witnesses to record statements or cross-examine either suspects or identifying witnesses, but they should be requested to question the latter as to the circumstances in which they saw the suspect whom they claim to identify, and to record the answer in column 4 of the form. While every precaution shall be taken to prevent collusion, the identifying witnesses must be given a fair chance, and conditions must not be imposed, which would make it impossible for a person honestly capable of making an identification to do so. In this connection attention is invited to paragraph 814 of the Punjab Jail Manual, which strictly prohibits the alteration in any way of the personal appearance of unconvicted prisoners, so as to make it difficult to recognise them.

APPENDIX No. 26.10(2)¹

Foreign and Political Department Notification No. 107-I, dated New Delhi, the 24th February, 1932.

IN exercise of the powers conferred by section 22 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903 (XV of 1903), and in suppression of the notification of the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department, No. 505-I, dated the 13th August, 1931, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules to provide for the pursuit and arrest in British India of persons accused of offences committed elsewhere :-

1. 2. The authorisation conferred by rule (1) shall not be operative unless -

(a) the pursuing party includes at least one officer holding in the State police force a rank not lower than the rank corresponding with that of a head constable of police in British India, and

(b) the circumstances are such that an application for the continuance of the pursuit and the effecting of the arrest by the British Indian police would prejudice the prospects of effecting the arrest of the fugitive.

3. If, when the pursuing party has continued the pursuit into British India under the authority to clause (b) of rule 2, it becomes possible to communicate with the British Indian Police before the fugitive has been arrested and without prejudice to the prospects of effecting his arrest, the pursuing party shall forthwith communicate with the British Indian Police.

1. Appendix 26.10(2) for Punjab only. Omitted by Haryana.

4. A person arrested by the State Police under the authority of these rules shall forthwith be conveyed to the nearest place in which an officer of the British Indian Police is known to be and shall be handed over to the British Indian Police in that place.

PART I.CIVIL OFFENCES COMMITTED BY PERSONS SUBJECT TO MILITARY LAW.

1. The following are triable exclusively by civil court (except on active service, etc.) :-
Civil offences which a court-martial is debarred from trying under the provision of the Army Act or Indian Army Act (of section 41, Army Act and 41, Indian Army Act).
2. The following should preferably be tried by civil court (except on active service, etc.):-
 - (a) Civil offences (which may also be military offences e.g., thefts, frauds) committed in conjunction with persons not subject to military law;
 - (b) Civil offences not suitable for trial by court-martial on account of the special nature of the case (e.g. complicated frauds) or on account of difficult legal technicalities being involved; and
 - (c) Civil offences in which military interests are not directly involved (e.g., burglary in a civil establishment).

PART II.Initiation Oo Criminal Proceedings in Civil Courts.

1. Criminal proceedings against persons subject to military law may be initiated by :-

 - (b) the military on reporting to the police or to a Magistrate that a civil offence has been committed;
 - (c) a Magistrate taking cognizance suo motu or on the complaint of a private individual.

In cases (a) and (c) the military may (i) decline to interfere with the course of the civil law or (ii) claim the accused for trial or, if the offender is already in military custody, order trial, by court-martial, if the accused is legally liable thereto.

In a case failing under (b), the military will not take any further action unless in their opinion -

- (a) the complaint is wrongly dismissed or the accused is wrongly discharged by the civil court, or
- (b) the accused is acquitted by the civil court but is liable on the same alleged, facts to be tried for a purely military offence for which he could not have been tried by the civil court.

In any of these cases it will be open to the military to bring the accused before a court-martial.

During the investigation stage, the military may in suitable cases intervene, with the concurrence of the police and magistrate and claim the accused for trial by court-martial.

2. Criminal proceedings against persons not subject to military law must be initiated in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, by report to the police or complaint to a magistrate.

(The above instructions must not be interpreted as forbidding or discouraging that close and personal co-operation between military and civil officials which is essential in matters involving the discipline and welfare of the Army).

PART III.

Home Department Notification No. F. 102/35, dated the 12th March, 1935.

In exercise of the powers, conferred by sub-section (1) of section 549 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), and in supersession of the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. F./465/28, dated the 27th June, 1928, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules as to cases in which persons subject to military, naval or air force law shall be tried by a court to which the said Code applies, or by a Court-Martial, namely :-

1. Where a person subject to a military, naval or air force law is brought before a Magistrate and charged with an offence for which he is liable to be tried by a court-martial, such Magistrate shall not proceed to try such person, or to issue orders for his case to be referred to a Bench, or to inquire with a view to his commitment for trial by the Court of Sessions or the High Court for any offence triable by such Court, unless -

- (a) he is of opinion, for reasons to be recorded, that he should so proceed without being moved thereto by competent military, naval or air force authority, or
- (b) he is moved thereto by such authority.

2. Before proceeding under clause (a) of rule 1 the Magistrate shall give notice to the Commanding Officer of the accused and, until the expiry of a period of five days from the date of the service of such notice he shall not -

- (a) acquit or convict the accused under Sections 243, 245, 247 or 248 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, (Act V of 1898), or hear him in his defence under section 244 of the said Code; or
- (b) frame in writing a charge against the accused under Section 254 of the said Code; or
- (c) make an order committing the accused for trial by the High Court or the Court of Sessions under Section 213 or sub-section (1) of Section 446 of the said Code; or
- (d) issue orders under sub-section (1) of Section 445 of the said Code for the case to be referred to a Bench.

3. Where within the period of five days mentioned in Rule 2, or at any time thereafter before the Magistrate has done any act or issued any order referred to in that rule, the Commanding Officer of the accused gives notice to the Magistrate that, in the opinion of competent military, naval or air force authority as the case may be, the accused should be tried by a court-martial the Magistrate shall stay proceedings and, if the accused is in his control, shall deliver him with the statement prescribed by Section 549 of the said Code to the authority specified in the said section.

4. Where a Magistrate has been moved by competent military, naval or air force authority as the case may be, under clause (b) of Rule 1, and the Commanding Officer of the accused subsequently gives notice to such Magistrate that in the opinion of such authority, the accused should be tried by a court-martial, such Magistrate, if he has not before receiving such notice done any act or issued any order referred to in Rule 2 shall stay proceedings and, if the accused is in his power or under his power or under his control, shall in the like manner deliver him, with the statement prescribed in Section 549 of the said Code to the authority specified in the said section.

5. Where an accused person, having been delivered by the Magistrate under Rule 3 or 4, is not tried by a court-martial for the offence of which he is accused, or other effectual proceedings are not taken, or ordered to be taken, against him, the Magistrate shall report the circumstances to the Local Government.

6. In these rules "competent military authority" means the Brigade Commander, "competent naval authority" means the Flag Officer Commanding, Royal Indian Navy, and "competent Air Force in India".

PART IV.

Procedure in Cases of Civil Offences Committed by Persons Subject to Indian Army Act.

1. An offence committed against the person or property of a civilian cannot as a rule be tried by court-martial.

2. Offences under the Indian Army Act, Sections 27(d), 35(a), (b), 39(b), (d), 41 and 42, as well as most offences under Section 31, can be tried by a court-martial or a civil court.

3. The procedure in a case where there is dual jurisdiction is laid down in the Indian Army Act - sections 69 and 70; the prescribed military authority being the General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, District, brigade or station commander.

If the offender is in Military/Civil custody the Unit Commander/Magistrate will take steps to request the prescribed military authority to decide before which court proceedings shall be instituted; but in those cases falling under the Indian Army Act, sections 41 and 42, in which death has resulted, the decision shall rest with the district commander or General Officer Commanding-in-Chief.

APPENDIX No. 26.14(3)¹

PROCEDURE FOR DEALING WITH BRITISH SOLDIERS FOR CIVIL OFFENCES

Circular Memorandum from the Adjutant-General in India to all Commands and Burma District No. B.6802/2 (A.G.-8), dated Simla, the 1st August, 1930.

(Copies to all formations and units having British soldiers on their strength).

I AM directed to draw your attention to the position of British soldiers who, having been convicted by a Civil Court for a civil offence, undergo their sentences in Civil Jails.

This matter has been under consideration at Army Headquarters, in view of the adverse effect which the revised Civil Jail Classification Rules may have on the welfare of such British personnel.

1. For Punjab only. Omitted by Haryana

The legal factors, which effect the possibility of such personnel undergoing in military prisons imprisonment awarded by Civil Courts, are as follows :-

Although it is within the competence of a local Government, under section 541 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, to declare a Military Prison a place where any person liable to be imprisoned or committed to custody under the Code of Criminal Procedure shall be confined, it is not possible under the Army Act for soldiers convicted by Civil Courts to be legally received in a Military Prison constituted under section 132 of the Act for the purpose of serving their sentences, as no power exists under section 70 of the Army Act to make rules for carrying into effect sentences other than those awarded by Court-Martial. No Warrant of Committal similar to Form 'C' could, therefore, be prescribed.

In these circumstances amendment of the Army Act would be necessary before the reception into a Military Prison of British personnel sentenced by a Civil Court could be made legal under the Act.

The question at issue has been represented to the Home authorities in the past, but alteration of the existing law has always been opposed by them. It is not therefore proposed to approach the Army Council at this juncture with a view to the necessary amendments to the Army Act being carried out.

However, it is essential to safeguard British soldiers charged with civil offences, whose discharge from the Army is not applied for, from the contaminating influence of civil criminal associates while in jail. His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief therefore directs that in all cases in which British soldiers are charged with civil offences the following procedure shall be adopted.

On receipt of information from the civil authorities that a British soldier is charged with a civil offence the Officer Commanding of the unit in which the man concerned is serving will decide at once whether, in view of the character of the accused and of the crime committed, he will, if the accused is convicted apply for his discharge from the army under King's Regulations, paragraph 370(x).

If the Officer Commanding decides that discharges shall not be applied for, he will claim the accused for trial by Court-Martial, unless such trial is barred by the provisions of Army Act, section 41(5)(a) or is inadvisable, - vide Regulations for the Army in India, Appendix IX, part I, paragraph 2(a) and (b).

When the Officer Commanding decides that, if convicted, the discharge of the accused shall be applied for, he will allow the civil law to take its course and not claim the accused for trial by Court-Martial.

Application for discharge will be submitted as soon as possible after the sentence passed by the Civil Court has become absolute either by an appeal not being preferred within the period allowed by law or by the appeal being dismissed.

Should the circumstances of a civil offence committed by a British soldier disclose the fact that the crime was probably committed with the object of the accused obtaining his discharge from the Army trial by Court-Martial will invariably be resorted to unless the crime committed falls under the restrictions quoted above.

The adoption of the above procedure will ensure, as far as is legally possible, that soldiers, charged with civil offences whose discharge from the Army is not desired, will not be subjected to the evil influences associated with life in a civil prison.

The attention of all officers empowered to confirm Courts-Martial is drawn to the implication contained in paragraph 652(h) of King's Regulations.

Although detention is lower in the scale of punishment than imprisonment, the work and military training carried out by soldiers undergoing detention are of more professional benefit to men returning to their Units than the harder but less technical programme laid down for military prisoners sentenced to imprisonment. Therefore when a soldier charged with a civil offence has been claimed from the Civil Authorities for trial by Court-Martial, the desirability of commuting a sentence of imprisonment to one of detention must be carefully considered.

Note. - The above instructions have been supplemented by A.H.Q. Letter No. B/21379 (A.G.-8), dated the 22nd June, 1993, directing that the British soldier shall be left for trial by a Civil Court, i.e., all such be claimed for trial by court-martial, unless the offence with which the soldier is charged is one of those which a court-martial is not empowered to try, viz., treason, murder, man-slaughter, treason-felony and rape.

Loose forms of charge sheets shall be kept at each police station to enable investigating officers to prepare and submit them even when away from their police stations.

(ii) In cases in which a charge sheet is submitted under sub-rule 1(i) above and in which a copy of the first information report has been sent to a Panchayat as required by Police Rule 24.5(2), (a) report shall also be sent to the Panchayat containing information on the following points :-

(a) Whether or not an offence has been proved.

(b) Whether or not the offence proved is triable by the Panchayat.

(c) The Court in which, and the date on which, the charge sheet is to be presented.

(2) Except where it is necessary to present charge sheets before a magistrate on tour or elsewhere than at the headquarters of a district or sub-division, they shall be submitted through the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent of Police in-charge of the crime of the police station concerned.

(3) Charge sheets shall be thoroughly scrutinised by an officer of the prosecuting branch not below the rank of prosecuting sub-inspector, who shall be responsible for seeing that carbon copies of incomplete charge sheets together with the copies of orders passed by Magistrates thereon and other necessary papers are attached; that the identity and previous convictions of the accused persons have been established; that in cases when an accused person is on security and such security will be liable to confiscation in the event of conviction, the fact is duly noted in the file so that the attention of the court may be drawn to it; that witnesses are according to the list entered in the charge sheet; that the police file is complete and that no papers belonging to it are attached with the charge sheet, and that no omissions or defects in the investigation remain unrectified or unexplained. After completing his scrutiny as above, the officer of the prosecuting branch shall lay the charge-sheet and files before the gazetted officer referred to in sub-rule (2) above, or, in his absence, before such other available gazetted officer or senior non-gazetted officer as the Superintendent of Police may have nominated for the purpose, and shall explain the case to him, and take his orders as to whether it shall be put into court or withheld for further police action. Such gazetted officer or senior non-gazetted officer shall satisfy himself that the prosecution case is presented in the best possible manner that all material evidence is produced, including evidence calculated to rebut probable lines of defence.

(4) The practice of requiring prosecution witnesses to appear at headquarters simultaneously with the chalan has received the approval of the local Government and of the High Court (See Chapter 3-A, paragraph 5(10), of Volume IV of High Court Rules and Orders). Before sending a charge-sheet to headquarters the investigating officer should collect all witnesses, whom it has been decided to produce in court, and take personal recognizances from them to appear on the same date as that on which the charge-sheet will reach the court. The chalan should, however, reach headquarters not less than one day before the date fixed for hearing of the case. It shall be the duty of the prosecuting branch to facilitate the working of this system and the prompt disposal of police cases by arranging with magistrate that a special period be set apart daily for dealing with fresh chalans and by giving magistrates as much warning as possible of the anticipated presentation of a chalan [vide rule 25.51]. This period should be so fixed as to allow time for witnesses to reach the police office and for chalans to be thoroughly checked and at the same time to permit to all new police cases being taken up by Magistrates at such an hour that it may be possible for the bulk of the prosecution evidence to be recorded before the Court rises for the day. When there are a large number of prosecution witnesses in a case, only the more important ones, whose evidence is necessary to facilitate the early framing of charges, shall be sent with the chalan.

(5) In all serious cases, when the accused has been arrested and prima facie evidence has been produced, the investigating officer shall send the accused for trial without delay, whether the investigation is complete or not. Witnesses should accompany such chalans and the same arrangements for the prompt recording of evidence as laid down in sub-rule (4) above should be observed. When available evidence has been recorded remands or adjournments under section 167 or 344, Code of Criminal Procedure, shall be arranged as may be necessary. Evidence obtained subsequently shall be produced before the Court by subsidiary chalan.

the charge-sheet that the court may, in the event of conviction, order the confiscation of the security.

(2) When a person violates the conditions of an order passed against him under the Habitual Offenders Act, or violates any rule made under the Act, he shall be prosecuted under Section 17 of the Act.

(3) It is the duty of the prosecuting branch to watch the progress of realisation of forfeited security. When the head of the branch finds that, either generally in the district or in a particular case, undue delay or laxity in realisations is taking place, he shall bring the matter to the notice of the Superintendent, in order that the attention of the District Magistrate may be invited to it.

27.9. Police Brief. - (1) In all important cases sent for trial, the investigating officer shall, whenever possible, attend and personally instruct the prosecuting inspector or public prosecutor. In such case he will also prepare a "Police Brief" in Form 27.9(1) and shall mention therein all matters connected with the case including the probable line of the defence, which in his opinion, should be specially brought to the notice of the prosecutor.

(2) In unimportant simple cases no "Police Brief" need be prepared.

(3) In cases of more than usual importance gazetted officers are required to prepare "Police Briefs" themselves.

27.10. Proof of previous convictions. - (1) Previous convictions shall be proved as laid down in section 511, Code of Criminal Procedure.

(2) Requisitions for particulars of previous convictions when required by the police shall be made in Form 27.10(2).

(3) It is the duty of the police, in conducting the investigation, to take proper steps to establish the identity of an accused person and to obtain and produce evidence of previous convictions against him (High Court Rules and Orders, Volume III Chapter 23-B, Paragraph 9).

The duties of the Magistrate and of the police in this matter are given in the decision of the Chief Court in the case, Empress versus Sham Singh, reported as criminal judgment No. 36 in the Punjab Record of 1884 and especially in the remarks of Mr. Justice Plowden at page 70 of the record. Requisitions for particulars of previous convictions should therefore be made early during the investigation, but if there be sufficient grounds, prosecuting officers may apply to the magistrate for a remand under section 344, Criminal Procedure Code, so as to produce evidence of previous convictions.

27.11. Appeal and access to judicial records. - (1) Application for the representation of the Crown in criminal cases, for the institution of appeals against orders of acquittal or for the exercise of its powers of revision by the High Court, shall be made through the District Magistrate. Rules framed by Government in this respect are given in Law Department Manual, Part I, paragraph IX(6).

(2) As regards revision of orders of discharge, application shall be made to the District Magistrate under section 437, Code of Criminal Procedure.

(3) Under the standing order of the High Court, Superintendents of Police are entitled to peruse the judicial record in all cases where a police officer is convicted or, though acquitted, is left under suspicion or censured. The object of this is to enable departmental action to be taken where necessary. Copies of judgments, and translations of the same where necessary, in such cases, will be supplied free of charge.

The Inspector-General of Police or any Deputy Inspector-General may, on giving reasons, call for the record of any decided case, in which the police are affected. Unless there are grave reasons to the contrary, in which case the Sessions Judge will decide the point, the request will be complied with. The Inspector-General of Police has a right to call for the records in all cases of professional crime.

Courts are required to send to the Inspector-General of Police for record copies of such confessions as may be of value of the police.

All modifications of original decisions made in appeal, revision or reference are required to be communicated by the District Magistrate to the prosecuting branch of the office of Superintendent of Police. (Rule 3, Chapter 11-E, of Volume III, High Court Rules and Orders).

Copies of judgments and depositions required by police officers in the course of their duties are exempted from the charges authorized under the Court Fees Act, but not from copying fees. Gazetted officers and all prosecuting inspectors and prosecuting sub-inspectors, within the limits of their jurisdiction as public prosecutors (rule 27.4) can obtain, free of all charges copies of any part of the record of a case which they may require in their capacity as public prosecutor, the cost being met by District Magistrates or the courts concerned.

With the exceptions noted above, police officers are not entitled either to have original judicial records handed over to them for perusal or to obtain copies free of charge. On the frequent occasions when it is necessary for a Superintendent of Police, in the discharge of his duties, to study the evidence and decisions recorded at a trial, the proper channel for obtaining access to such records is through the authority of the District Magistrate. The latter is head of the prosecuting agency, of which the Superintendent of Police is in direct charge, and that agency requires constant access to judicial records, in order to fulfil its duty of assisting the District Magistrate through the Superintendent of Police, to keep in close touch with the work of magistrates' courts and the results of cases.

When a perusal of the original record will suffice, copies should be dispensed with, as fees for them have to be paid in every case, whether from police or judicial funds. It is the practice of the High Court to print the proceedings in all cases in which the death sentence is inflicted, and it is sometimes possible in such cases to obtain spare copies of the printed records on application, through the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, to the Registrar of High Court.

27.12. Maintenance of order and watch over prisoners in court. - (1) On every day when the courts are sitting, a sufficient number of police shall be provided in the precincts of the courts to guard prisoners, take into custody persons who surrender to their bail, whose bail bonds are cancelled, or who may otherwise be arrested by the order of a Court, and to preserve order in and in the neighbourhood of courts. The guard in court shall be strengthened, when prisoners are of a desperate and dangerous character, or when a case is being heard which is likely to cause public excitement or demonstrations.

(2) All prisoners under arrest shall invariably be thoroughly searched before being taken into court, the police officer-in-command of the party furnishing guards for prisoners shall be personally responsible that this is done. If, in accordance with the rule 26.23, prisoners have been brought to the court in handcuffs, the handcuffs shall not be removed in court unless this is specially ordered by the presiding officer.

27.13. Compounding of cases under Section 420, Indian Penal Code. - Under orders contained in letter No. 1336 (H.-Judl.) of 12th January, 1927, from the Home Secretary to Government, Punjab, the Provincial Government has directed that sanction to compromise in cases under section 420, Indian Penal Code, should be resisted, where habitual cheats and professional swindlers are concerned, and also in all cases which show features of danger to a wider public than the complaint in the individual case before the court. A case coming into the latter category would be one in which the method by which the crime has been committed is or is likely to be widely employed.

27.14. Prosecuting Agency - Composition of. - (1) The police prosecuting agency in each district shall consist of such number of gazetted officers, upper and lower subordinates as may, from time to time, be sanctioned by the local Government and the Inspector-General of Police.

The senior officers of the prosecuting branch shall arrange for the duty of court orderly in courts or benches of honorary magistrates, which sit only for short periods or at irregular intervals, to be performed by members of their staff, who may be available at the time required. Clerks or assistant clerks of police stations may be employed, when necessary, to perform the duties of court orderly at tehsil courts.

(3) In each district one of the head constables of the prosecuting staff shall be appointed as the direct assistant of the prosecuting inspector for the purpose of maintaining the registers of case property, prescribed in rule 27.16 and, under the immediate supervisions of the prosecuting inspector or a prosecuting sub-inspector, nominated by him, receiving, checking, cataloguing and issuing to court orderlies, exhibits and other property kept in the prosecuting agency's store-room in connection with cases and unclaimed property. The duties of this head constable are purely subordinate and his assistance in a routine capacity in no degree relieves the prosecuting inspector and the prosecuting sub-inspectors of their personal responsibility, as laid down in Rule 27.18 for the correctness and security of the contents of the malkhana.

27.15. Duties of head of prosecuting agency. - The duties of the head of the police prosecuting agency whether he be of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or Inspector shall be as follows :-

For this purpose he will maintain a register in Form 27.15(Viii). For all sums of money received from the Nazir a receipt must be given in form 10.14(1).

He shall also submit to the gazetted officer in-charge of the sub-division a daily diary in Form 27.15(vi).

(2) In sub-divisions of districts all registers prescribed in rule 27.16 shall be maintained by the prosecuting agency.

(3) Rules 27.17 to 27.21 shall apply mutatis mutandis to all prosecuting sub-inspectors at sub-divisions.

(4) Court orderlies at tahsils and other courts away from headquarters shall maintain register No. 1 referred to in rule 27.16. They shall take charge of all property connected with cases sent for trial by courts to which they are attached in accordance with Rules 27.18, 27.19 and 27.21 but shall in no circumstances retain such property longer than is required for each day's proceedings of the court. Every evening they shall deposit such property with the clerk of the police station who will be responsible that it is disposed of in accordance with rules 27.17, 27.18 and 27.19.

In addition, court orderlies in all courts are responsible that order is kept in courts under the direction of magistrates. They will obey all orders given to them by the officers prosecuting cases and will take charge of exhibits and the police files of cases when ordered to do so. They will also make copies of statement made to the poolice under section 162, Code of Criminal Procedure, and provide them on payment to the accused - (see rule 27.23).

27.23. Supply of copies under sections 16 and 173(4), Code of Criminal Procedure.

(1) Copies of statements recorded by the police under section 161, Code of Criminal Procedure, which are asked for by accused persons under section 162, Code of Criminal Procedure, and copies of final reports similarly asked for under Section 173(4) of the Code shall invariably be supplied on payment unless the presiding officer of the court decides otherwise. The local Government has decided that the subordinate official responsible for making these copies shall ordinarily be the police constable appointed as court orderly. This arrangement is only possible, however, when such police constable is sufficiently educated for the purpose and can undertake the work without detriment to his primary duties as prescribed in Rule 27.22. Superintendents should, in consultation with the senior officer of the prosecuting branch, consider the circumstances of each court in the district, as to the volume of such copying work and of the other duties of the court orderly, and, if they consider that the latter official should be relieved of the whole or a part of the copying work, should move the District Magistrate to nominate another official of the court for the purpose.

(2) The half share of the copying fees which, in accordance with Financial Commissioners' Standing Order No. 5, is payable to the actual copyist, shall be paid to the court orderly, when he is entitled to it, but neither that official nor any other police officer shall have any share in or responsibility for the collection of copying fees or the keeping of the prescribed accounts thereof.

(3) The prosecuting officer attached to the Court concerned shall be responsible that the orders contained in Home Secretary's letter No. 19893 (H. - Judl.), dated 8th September, 1925, are strictly complied with and no abuses are permitted in the method of payment therein laid down.

27.24. Production of police records as evidence. - (1) A police officer is bound, under the provisions of section 162 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872), to produce any document in his possession or power if summoned to do so, but, if such document is an unpublished official record relating to any affair of State, he is prohibited by section 123 of the same Act from giving evidence derived from it and the court is prohibited from inspecting it.

(2) The following police records are privileged under section 123, Evidence Act. If their production is demanded, a certificate in form 27.24(2) must be obtained from the Inspector-General by the police officer called upon to produce them. The Inspector-General may at his discretion allow evidence derived from such documents to be given and in order to enable him to exercise this discretion it is important, that a Police Officer claiming privilege in respect of any document, should submit either the original document, a copy, or a full translation if it is in vernacular, together with a report indicating why it is necessary to claim privilege and also that his claim is justified.

(1) The Surveillance Register (Rule 23.4(1)).

(2) Village Crime Register, Part IV (Rule 23.59).

(4) Bad Character Rolls and Information Sheets (Rules 23.16 and 23.17).

(5) Case diaries. in files or in the Police Gazette.

(6) All unpublished orders of Government or of the Inspector-General of Police concerned.

(7) All documents or records which are classed as "Secret" or "Confidential".

(3) While the prohibition of the giving of evidence derived from other police records is not absolute, the provisions of section 124, Evidence Act, permit a police officer to refuse to disclose orders or other communications made to him in the course of his official duties, when he considers that the public interests would suffer by such disclosure.

(4) When the production of official correspondence is in question, the head of the office possessing such correspondence has authority to grant or withhold permission under section 123 of the Evidence Act. In exercising this discretion he shall be guided by the general rule that correspondence may not be produced without the permission of the highest authority concerned in it. Detailed instructions on this point were communicated to all heads of Police Offices with the Inspector-General's endorsement No. 1506-A/29-31-26A of 10th August, 1928.

27.25. Co-operation of Jail officials in identification of prisoners. - Information that a convicted person has not been identified should invariably be given to the Superintendent of the Jail concerned. Under the provisions of the Jail Manual such prisoners are required to be specially classified and the Superintendent of the Jail is required to furnish the police with the names and particulars of all persons who visit them and with clues as to their identity which may be obtained from examination of letters despatched by or addressed to them.

27.26. Assaults on police - Prosecution for. - When assaults are committed upon the members of the police force while in the execution of their duties, the prompt prosecution of the offenders should be arranged for if possible at, or near, the scene of the offence, adequate sentences being pressed for by the prosecuting agency.

This procedure shall be followed both in cognizable cases and in preventive security and all other cases in which the police select and take bonds from witnesses. Diet money may also be advanced at the request of the accused or his legal adviser to witnesses required to appear for the defence.

(2) Such diet money shall be paid from, and including, the day on which the witness entered into his recognizance up to, and including, the day on which the charge-sheet will be made over to the magistrate having jurisdiction in the case.

(3) Money so expended shall be entered in the road certificate and shall be recovered when the charge-sheet is made over to the magistrate as a debit against the Judicial Department a receipt being given in form 10.14(1). The prosecuting inspector or his representative at courts away from headquarters, shall be responsible that sums advanced under this rule by police stations are recovered on the day of presentation of the demand from the court itself or the sheriff. Should there be any delay in the recovery of such money the head of the prosecuting agency shall remit the amount of the police station from his permanent advance. The head of the prosecuting agency shall bring to notice any instance in which inadequate diet money or travelling expenses have been paid to witnesses in police cases.

(4) Gazetted officers and inspectors hearing charge-sheets, and representatives of the prosecuting agency in courts, shall satisfy themselves that diet money and travelling expenses said to have been paid to complainants and witnesses at police stations have actually been so paid.

27.29. Record of conviction. - Conviction and orders to execute bonds in all cognizable police cases shall be entered in (a) the Vernacular General Crime Register and the English Register of Cognizable Offences which are maintained in the office of the Superintendent and (b) in the First Information Report Register which is maintained at the police station reporting the offence. APPENDIX No. 27.15 (VI).

EXTRACT FROM CHAPTER 3-A, OF VOLUME IV, HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS REGARDING THE DUTIES OF THE PROSECUTING AGENCY TOWARDS THE DISTRICT MAGISTRATE.

(7) A convenient and valuable source of information for the adequate supervision of criminal business is the Police Department English register of cognizable offences mentioned in the Police Rule 24.18(1). This register is placed before the District Magistrate on each working day when he is at district headquarters. It gives information not only of the action of the police (thus enabling the District Magistrate, to superintend their work) but also affords the means of watching the progress and the results of business in Court. The practice of merely intialling this register after a hasty glance at it too commonly prevails, but a few minutes each day spent on considering the entries for the day and for preceding days will enable the District Magistrate to maintain a close touch within all branches of the criminal administration. The entries for the day bring to light at once the orders of courts which are prima facie unsatisfactory and which require the scrutiny of the District Magistrate. The register, therefore, facilitates the making of references to the High Court, and puts the Deputy Commissioner in a position at the earliest possible moment to initiate proceedings by way of appeal. It can also be used to disclose cases which have been pending for an inordinate time.

(8) The Deputy Commissioner is the head of the prosecuting agency in the district and this affords him a further opportunity of keeping in touch with the work in all courts. It is easy for him to arrange to be informed by the prosecuting agency each day of an omission on the part of courts to record the evidence of witnesses produced and to investigate promptly any complaint which may be made of dilatoriness in any particular court.

(9) * * * * *

(10) The Judges are strongly of opinion that it is necessary to revert to the old system of sending up all material witnesses with the chalan. This system has been resumed in some districts with very marked success, but it can be carried out only if the work of magistrates is so arranged that they shall without delay commence the trial of *chalan*s presented to them by the police. No excuse for not proceeding at once with a chalan should be accepted other than that the magistrate is already engaged on another chalan, or on a complaint case in which a postponement would work genuine hardship. In such contingencies the fresh chalan should be proceeded with as soon as the Magistrate is free from the first case, and it must be impressed upon Magistrates that witnesses should be examined at once, that the trial must proceed from day to day without interruption, that charges should be framed without delay and without adjournment for the purpose of considering whether a charge should be framed or not, and that deference should not be paid to the wishes of an unready bar. If the presentation of witnesses along with challans renders it impossible on any particular day to record the statements of witnesses present in complaint cases, the evidence of the latter should be recorded the first thing next morning before the business of that day is undertaken, and similarly on any succeeding day the arrears of the previous day should be disposed of before the set work of that day. In this way it will be possible to avoid retaining any witnesses for more than two days at the utmost. Should congestion occur or be threatened, the Magistrate should apply promptly to the District Magistrate for sanction to fix one or more blank days in the week to be utilized for catching up with arrears, and the District Magistrate will find it convenient to receive each day from the prosecuting inspector a short note showing how the system is working in each of the subordinate courts.

(11) All arrests made by the police without warrant are reported to District Magistrate under section 62 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and all remand orders under section 167 passed by subordinate magistrates are similarly reported. Both these reports should be forwarded to the ilaqa magistrate, who has already received the First Information Report. The magistrate of the ilaqa is, thus, in a position to know that crime is under investigation in his ilaqa, and what cases are likely to reach his Court within the next few days. The magistrate is responsible that the completion report under section 173 of the Criminal Procedure Code is not unduly delayed, and his responsibility in this respect should be emphasized. He should insist on the prompt submission of the First Information Report and of the arrest report, and he should call for the completion report from the Superintendent of Police if that report is unduly delayed. The District Magistrate should cause the ilaqa magistrate to realize that he is not a mere Judge whose duty it is simply to decide cases produced before him, but that he is at all times responsible for the maintenance of the peace in the area which is made over into his charge. Every effort should be made to get the ilaqa magistrate to take a personal interest in and gain a thorough knowledge of his own thanas.

(12) The Deputy Commissioner's absence in camp must necessarily interfere with his day-to-day supervision of the work of the subordinate courts, but the interference can be minimised if arrangements are made with the Superintendent of Police that the register of cognizable crime is submitted each day to the next senior Magistrate at Sadar. That Magistrate, if not exercising the powers of a District Magistrate is not authorized to issue orders to the police but the object is that he should bring immediately to the notice of the District Magistrate cases in which his interference is called for, and in which Magisterial records should be obtained. Similarly the senior magistrate can be entrusted with the duties of securing the punctual attendance of subordinate magistrates and of seeing that witnesses are not dismissed without their evidence being recorded or that chalan cases are not delayed.

(13) Not infrequently cases have occurred where undue delay has taken place in reporting for revision the unsatisfactory orders of subordinate Courts, or in moving Government to institute appeals. The delay is largely due to reliance on the monthly business statements which may not be submitted to the District Magistrate till a considerable time after the objectionable order has been passed. District Magistrates should make free use of the register of cognizable crime for these purposes, and should take prompt action in cases where such action appears necessary. Having done so, they should arrange to be informed at once of any appeal that may be made to the Sessions Court in a case which has been reported, and they must report promptly to the High Court first the fact of the appeal having been filed and later its results.

Railway Police and other Special Rules

28.1. Organisation. - The General Railway Police district administered by the Inspector-General of Police, Punjab, comprises the railway systems within the boundaries of the jurisdiction of the Punjab Government. It is under the direct supervision of the Assistant Inspector-General, Government Railway Police, who is invested with the same departmental powers within his jurisdiction as a Deputy Inspector-General of a Range.

The Government Railway Police force is organized to meet the special requirements of crime and the maintenance of law and order on the railway systems. The Assistant Inspector-General exercises administrative control over the whole force and is in direct executive control of the Central Investigating Agency. Under the control of the Assistant Inspector-General an Assistant Superintendent of Police is in executive charge of interior economy, of the Reserve, and of the staff inspectors, sergeants and lower subordinates who are specially allocated to the protection of passengers and the maintenance of order at railway stations. For the prevention and detection of crime and general police duties the Government Railway Police jurisdiction is divided into such number of sub-divisions as may be from time to time, authorized, in the executive charge of Deputy Superintendents of Police. Sub-divisions are further divided into railway police station areas for the purpose of the registration of crime, the upkeep of records and the distribution of the force. For the investigation of crime, however, every sub-inspector of railway police has the power of an officer in charge of a police station (vide Rule 1.12).

28.2. Jurisdiction. - The jurisdiction of the railway police is confined to "Railway Limits," i.e., all ground and buildings within the railway boundary fencing or boundary marks :-

Provided that all offences committed in or in close proximity to dwelling houses or barracks of railway servants shall be taken cognizance of and investigated by the district police. This proviso, however, does not extend to stations situated in Indian States where the railway police take cognizance of such offences.

28.3. Central Investigating Agency. - The duties of the Central Investigating Agency are :-

- (1) to investigate serious or complicated cases or special outbreaks of crime;
- (2) to maintain records for the classification and prevention of crime and for the control of fluctuations;
- (3) to provide plain clothes detective staff;
- (4) to provide armed train guards in special circumstances;
- (5) to furnish seal checking posts at provincial boundaries and elsewhere as required, for the purpose of localising investigations.

28.4. Recruitment and Training. - The Government Railway Police force recruits and trains its own men and shares with the district police the facilities afforded by the Provincial Training School.

Railway police constables may be attached to district police stations with the permission of the Superintendent of district, for the purpose of acquiring knowledge of local bad characters and suspects. They shall, while so attached, be under the orders and control of the officer in charge of the police station for purposes of discipline and instruction.

28.5. Duties and powers. - Gazetted officers, inspectors and officers in charge of railway police stations and their subordinates, shall be governed and guided by the orders defining the duties, responsibilities and powers of such officers contained in these rules, the Code of Criminal Procedure, Railways Act and Police Act and other laws.

28.6. Special rules regarding investigations of railway accidents. - The following rules regarding the investigation of railway accidents have special reference to the railway police :-

- (i) The railway police may make an investigation into the causes which led to any accident occurring in the course of working of a railway, and shall do so -
 - (a) Whenever any such accident is attended with loss of human life or with grievous hurt as defined in the Indian Penal Code, or with serious injury to property, or has prima facie been due to any criminal act or omission;
 - (b) Whenever the District Magistrate, or other Magistrate appointed in this behalf by the Provincial Government, directs an investigation to be held :
Provided that no such investigation shall be made when a magisterial enquiry has been commenced or ordered.
- (ii) Whenever an investigation is made under clause (a) or (b) of sub-rule preceding, it shall be supervised by an officer not below the rank of an inspector. A police officer attending a joint officer's enquiry must be gazetted officer. The rules regarding notices of accidents, and enquiries by Government inspectors into railway accidents issued by Government of India by notification in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March, 1905, and in pursuance of section 84, Indian Railways Act, 1890, will be found in Appendix 28.6.
- (iii) Except, when there is reason to suspect that a railway accident has been caused by the commission of cognizable offence which the police officer in question has jurisdiction to investigate, a police officer investigating a railway accident has no power to compel the attendance of witnesses or to make arrests.
- (iv) Whenever an investigation into a railway accident is started by the railway police, they shall give immediate information to, and, if necessary, enlist the co-operation of, the local district police.

The railway police, and, in the absence of railway police, the district police, are required to report immediately to the nearest station master, or responsible railway official, every accident which may come to their notice, occurring in the course of working a railway, in which serious injury to person or property has been caused or an offence appears to have been committed.

An English and vernacular copy of that part of the rules, dealing with the duties of the police in connection with railway accidents, shall be hung up in every railway police station and post and the orders therein shall be complied with.

28.6-A. Arrest of railway servants. - When the arrest of a railway servant is to be effected, a request shall ordinarily be forwarded to the railway authorities concerned for the relief from duty of the person so arrested. If the immediate removal of the railway servant from duty would be likely to endanger the safety of the travelling public, or be a serious inconvenience to the railway, the arrest shall ordinarily be deferred until the relief is effected; but the railway servant may be arrested and allowed to continue his duty under guard if it is advisable to place him under immediate restraint.

28.7. Special duty of the railway police. - (1) The following particular duties, among others, devolve upon the railway police :-

- (a) To protect travellers from injury to person or property.

- (b) To maintain law and order at railway stations and in trains.
- (c) To attend the arrival and departure of passenger trains at stations and to render all possible assistance to passengers and railway officers.
- (d) To bring to the notice of the proper authorities all offences under the Railways Act and breaches of bye-laws, and all cases of fraud, or oppression, on the part of railway subordinates.
- (e) To keep platforms clear of idlers and beggars and to keep a look-out for suspicious persons, smugglers and persons travelling with arms without a licence.
- (f) To search all empty carriages for property left behind by passengers.
- (g) To control the hackney carriages plying for hire at railway stations and to enforce the regulations of the railway authorities with regard to them.

(2) It is not the business of the railway police to undertake the watch and ward of railway property or of property consigned to the railway for transportation. For these duties a special force of watchmen is employed and administered by the railway authorities. The railway police shall not be required to intervene in cases of shortage or of missing goods or to examine or check the seals of goods waggons, unless they have reason to suspect the commission of cognizable offences. The provision of guards on goods trains is not one of normal duties of the police and should only be undertaken, if there is definite reason to anticipate the commission of offences.

(3) When, however, offences are specially prevalent in any particular locality, the railway police are authorized to take special measures, including the posting of police to goods yards, special seal-checking operations and the investigation of shortages, with the object of detecting such offences and apprehending the offenders. Such measures are aimed solely at the control of crime and in no way affect the duties and responsibilities of railway officials in respect of the protection of railway property and private property entrusted to the railway for transport.

28.8. Relations with the railway authorities. - In regard to important matters connected with the railway police administration, and with the protective duties of the police and the preservation of order, the views of the Agent or other superior railway officers concerned shall be ascertained and considered.

28.9. Relations with the district police. - The district and railway police are branches of the same force and are required to co-operate and assist each other upon every occasion and in every way possible. An opportunity of attending inter-district Police Conferences shall invariably be given to sub-divisional officers of railway police concerned, and the Assistant Inspector-General. Railway Police shall be similarly given the opportunity of attending Conferences regarding criminal administration held by range Deputy Inspectors-General.

28.10. Co-operation between railway and district police. - The rules which follow have been framed to assist co-operation between railway and district police in particular matters :-

- (i) The Assistant Inspector-General of Railway Police shall keep in close touch with the Superintendents of district police through whose jurisdiction railways run, and should meet them periodically in order to arrange for satisfactory co-operation and harmonious working between their respective subordinates. The Assistant Inspector-General of Railway Police should also keep in touch with District Magistrates and see that the railway police show proper deference to the district authorities.
- (ii) District Magistrates should, from time to time, examine the registers of railway police stations within their districts and record remarks on such examinations in the Minute Book of the station. Officers in charge of police stations shall send copies of such remarks through their sub-divisional officers to the Assistant Inspector-General who will see that proper action is taken.

- (iii) Superintendents of district police shall frequently visit railway police stations situated in their districts and satisfy themselves that the orders in connection with the deputation of district policemen to railway stations and co-operation between railway and district police are being properly carried out. They should enter in the Station Minute Book remarks and suggestions in connection with these matters.
- (iv) All serious crime, including offences of which special reports have, under the police rules to be submitted by district police stations, shall be specially reported at once by the railway police to the Superintendent of district police concerned and to the District Magistrate. The use of the telegraph or telephone for these reports is advisable in cases in which delay would otherwise ensue.
- (v) Case diaries of the railway police shall be submitted by the railway police officer making the investigation to the sub-divisional officer or Assistant Inspector-General of Railway Police, for scrutiny and orders. A copy shall also be sent to the Superintendent of Police of the district within those boundaries the case is registered to enable him to prosecute when necessary; to be available should be magistrate empowered to take cognizance of the offence call for it; and in order that railway cases may be properly placed before the criminal courts.
- (vi) There are many cases which, although initially and correctly registered in railway police stations, could equally lawfully and more successfully be dealt with by the district police. Cases of murder reported to have occurred within railway jurisdiction fall into this category, if they arise out of district feuds and quarrels or have been committed outside railway limits, the railway line being merely used by the murderers with a view to creating the impression that death has been accidental. Dacoities, robberies and train wrecking, and similar offences, can often be better dealt with by the district police. It is important, therefore, that Superintendents of Police should scrutinize First Information Reports received from railway police stations, and transfer from the railway police jurisdiction, to the district police stations, cases in which such transfer is desirable.
- (vii) Superintendents of district police shall give the railway police all assistance which they may require in following cases beyond railway limits. The presentation in court and prosecution of railway police cases shall be undertaken by the prosecuting staff of the district concerned with the same degree of energy and supervision as is enjoined upon them in respect of cases registered by the district police. Whenever possible the railway police will provide a special prosecuting officer for important cases and cases which involve railway technicalities, but such action shall not relieve the district police of responsibility for taking all steps in their power to assist the prosecution.
- (viii) Any defects or irregularities noticed in charge-sheets, and other papers received from the railway police, shall be pointed out by the Superintendent of the district police to the subordinate railway police direct, but no strictures on the railway police shall be passed on such papers. When, in the opinion of the Superintendent of district police, the conduct of the railway police merits reproof he shall address the Assistant Inspector-General of Railway Police on the subject.
- (ix) If cases which should be, or have been, registered by the railway police are traced by the district police acting independently, information shall immediately be given to the railway police station concerned.
- (x) When the Assistant Inspector General of Railway Police sends a case for orders through a Superintendent of the district police to a magistrate empowered to take cognizance of it, or to a District Magistrate, the Superintendent of Police shall transmit it; he may not return it to the railway police with his own orders, unless and until he has obtained the orders of the magistrate concerned.

- (xi) When cognizable offences are committed in the vicinity of the railway, but such offences are not required to be investigated by the railway police under these rules, they shall to the utmost of their ability and without neglecting their more immediate duties, use every endeavour to arrest the offender and to assist the district police.
- (xii) Whenever cognizable crime on the railway is specially prevalent in a particular locality, the Assistant Inspector-General of Railway Police may call on the Superintendent of Police concerned to co-operate with him in checking it. In such circumstances the Superintendent of Police concerned shall make such dispositions as, after a study of the situation, may be agreed upon by himself and the Assistant Inspector-General Railway Police, to be most suitable. If the section of line affected extends beyond the limits of one district, concerted preventive measures shall be instituted after a conference of police officers representing all the areas concerned.
- (xiii) One or more literate railway police officers of or above the rank of constable shall accompany each passenger train. These officers shall wear uniform throughout their period of duty. They shall maintain a "Train Diary" in which will be recorded information connected with cognizable offences, movements of bad characters and suspects and such other matters as may be prescribed. District police stations shall, as far as possible, depute one or more constables in plain clothes to railway stations within the area of their jurisdiction to watch for the arrival or departure by the railway of known criminals or suspicious characters. Such constables shall exchange information with the railway police officers travelling in passenger trains. Information received by this means shall be communicated at the earliest opportunity by the constables concerned to their officers in charge of police stations. If the travelling railway police officer is unable to find the district plain clothes constable during the halt of his train, he shall either make over a written message to the station master and request him to have it delivered or in cases of urgency, he may himself alight and take the message to the district police station.
- (xiv) Doubtful cases and disputes as to jurisdiction in the case of railway police stations are governed by rule 25.5. The police station receiving a report of a cognizable offence shall record it, according to those rules. Delay in registration and investigation pending the settlement of jurisdiction is expressly forbidden.

28.11. Special training of Railway Police. - The railway police shall be trained in accordance with the principles and methods laid down in Chapter XIX. The application of these principles shall have special reference to the requirements of railway police work. Upper subordinates and educated lower subordinates shall be passed in rotation through courses of instruction in the Central Investigating Agency. In the Headquarters lines school special instruction shall be given in the elements of booking and checking goods and the principles of train working, and in the methods of criminals who habitually operate on railways.

28.12. TOWN AND CANTONMENT POLICE SPECIAL RULES

28.13. Fixing beats system. - (1) In each town and cantonment for which a watch and ward staff is sanctioned, detailed statements shall be prepared of all day and night beats, patrols and traffic points to be furnished by the strength as calculated according to sub-rule (2) below. To illustrate each statement, a map shall be prepared to a suitable scale showing the boundaries of each beat, patrol area, & c., and the principal roads, lanes and important buildings included therein. Beats etc., shall be grouped according to the police station or post furnishing them, and within each group each beat, etc., shall be given a serial number. The strength of each beat and patrol shall be fixed according to the conditions of the locality.

(2) The length and size of each beat, etc., shall be regulated by the locality, the status and character of the residents, incidence of crime and other local conditions. In thickly populated areas of narrow lanes and intersecting roads, both beats and patrol areas shall be sufficiently small to permit of no part being left unobserved long enough for a burglar to effect an entry, collect his spoils and make good his escape. In residential and commercial areas, where buildings are comparatively widely separated and roads are long and broad the organization of police supervision should be such that, while all parts of a beat and patrol area cannot be under constant observation, the moment at which any particular spot within that area may be watched shall be uncertain. With this object in view both beat constables and supervising patrols in such areas shall be provided with bicycles, as far as funds permit. For such purposes bicycles shall be used (a) to convey the beat staff rapidly and silently from one part of their area to another, being then deposited in some convenient place while the police patrol on foot in a particular neighbourhood (b) for the pursuit of criminals or suspicious persons.

(3) Patrols are of two kinds, (a) patrols under head constables or superior officers for the supervision of beats, (b) patrols outside the area of fixed beats for the protection of special buildings or areas or for the interception of criminals and suspicious persons coming to or from the town or cantonment.

28.14. Division of town police. - When necessary, the town or cantonment shall be divided into divisions distinguished by a letter of the alphabet each division being in charge of a divisional officer of, or above, the rank of head constable, whose responsibilities and duties shall be explicitly stated in the standing orders. Each divisional officer shall, if possible, visit every beat in his division at least once during the day and night.

28.15. Sections of divisions. - The point and beat staff of a division shall be sub-divided into sections when necessary, each section being in charge of a section officer of the rank of head constable whose duties and responsibilities shall likewise be explicitly stated.

28.16. Hours of duty of constables. - (1) The hours of night and day beat duty shall be exactly stated and adapted to the seasons of the year.

(2) Day duties and beats shall be reduced as far as possible, after provision has been made for general protection, the regulation of traffic and the prevention of nuisances.

(3) Except in cases of emergency, no policemen shall be employed continuously on point or beat duty for more than 5 hours or more than 8 in 24 hours, and shall be given at least one complete night off duty in each week.

28.17. The beat book. - A beat book shall be prepared for each town and cantonment in which shall be recorded the dimensions of each night and day beat with the names of the principles streets and lanes within its limits. Public buildings of importance series, lodging-houses of ill-fame, liquor and drug shops, and all places needing special attention situated within the beat, shall be shown in the beat book, and beat constables shall be specially instructed regarding their responsibility in connection with them.

28.18. Fixed traffic points, beats and patrols. - (1) Fixed points for the control of traffic shall be placed only at those crossroads and other places where traffic streams converge or cross in such volume as to make constant regulation necessary. For the enforcement of traffic rules on roads where traffic is not in such volume as to constitute a steady stream either or both of the following two methods shall be employed :-

- (a) Traffic beats. - These beats shall normally consist of two constables, working within sight and signalling distance of each other, but sufficiently far apart for one constable to move out into the centre of the road and stop a vehicle, which the other constable has signalled to him to intercept.
- (b) Patrols. - Sergeants, head constables or constables, shall be employed to watch from the footpath or side of the road at particular points, or along particular stretches of road, with a view to checking contraventions of the rules framed by Government under the Motor Vehicles Act, and all other traffic rules, local or general. Police Officers so employed shall ordinarily content themselves, in the case of motor vehicles, with noting the number of an offending vehicle. They shall endeavour to stop and take particulars of offending vehicles other than motor vehicles and, if circumstances permit their stepping into the middle of the road sufficiently far ahead of a motor vehicle to give the driver thereof a clear signal to stop, they may do so, but, in no circumstances shall any attempt be made to direct traffic by means of signals given from the side of the road. Notes taken by patrols working under this rule shall be reported on return to the police station concerned, and subsequent action for the issue of formal warnings or for prosecution shall be taken under the orders of the Superintendent of Police. Traffic points, beats and patrols shall be closely supervised by head constables and, where available, sergeants mounted on cycles.

(2) On occasions such as fairs, public ceremonies, race-meetings and the like, when traffic is heavily congested on particular roads for a limited period, special police arrangements shall be made in accordance with the circumstances of each case, lines of constables being posted if necessary to direct different classes of traffic into different streams or along particular routes. On such occasions full use shall be made of special direction posts; notices in the Press and other methods of informing the public of the regulations to be observed.

(3) All police officers on beat or patrol duty shall act according to the principles prescribed for traffic patrols in sub-rule (1) above in connection with contraventions of traffic regulations occurring within their view.

(4) Vehicles shall not be stopped for interrogation at cross roads or in a manner liable to interfere with the free flow of other traffic. When it is necessary to examine licences, and make enquiries the driver concerned shall be directed to move his vehicle to a position indicated by the police officer, where other traffic will not be impeded. Checking of permits and tokens, registration numbers, correctness of lighting equipment, etc., can be done to a great extent when vehicles are standing in parks.

(5) In exercise of the powers conferred on them by section 31 of the Police Act, police officers on traffic duty shall require pedestrians to keep to the footpaths, or, where such do not exist, to the side of the road and shall prevent them from causing obstruction and danger to other classes of traffic.

(6) Police officers on traffic duty are required to have a thorough knowledge of the neighbourhood and to be able to direct enquirers by the appropriate route to any area in that neighbourhood, or to important points such as railway stations, post offices and other principal public buildings. Police Officers on such duty must on no account whatever allow themselves to be provoked into losing control of their tempers, or into the use of discourteous language. They must remain firm but polite at all times, and, while answering reasonable enquiries clearly and concisely, shall abstain from argument of all sorts and shall be on their guard against being distracted from attention to their duty by becoming involved in conversation.

28.19. Parking of vehicles. - (1) The rules framed under the Motor Vehicles Act and section 31 of the Police Act, supplemented in many cases by local bye-laws provide power to prevent vehicles of all classes from loitering, standing, or being left unattended in any public place to the obstruction or inconvenience of the public. To ensure observance of these regulations, the Superintendent of Police is authorized, with the approval of the District Magistrate, to require the active assistance of local authorities in providing stands at suitable places, at which hackney carriages and public motor vehicles may wait for hirers, and parking spaces for private vehicles in congested business areas and in the neighbourhood of places of public resort. The regulation of public motor vehicle and hackney carriage stands is provided for by rules framed under the Motor Vehicles and Hackney Carriage Acts.

(2) Arrangements for parking private motor vehicles must be accommodated to the circumstances of the place or occasion and the dimensions of, and nature of approaches to, the available parking space. The following general rules shall, however, be observed :-

- (a) Separate parks shall be arranged for motor and horse-drawn vehicles.
- (b) In parks for motor vehicles, unattended vehicles shall be parked separately from those with attendants, and special arrangements shall be made for the former to be watched to prevent pilferage or wanton damage.
- (c) Strict control shall be exercised over entry and departure of vehicles to and from parks, and sufficient police shall be provided to ensure this and to prevent blocks and disorder.
- (d) Whenever possible, separate arrival and departure routes shall be prescribed for motor and horse-drawn vehicles, respectively or they shall be kept in separate streams.
- (e) Whenever possible, the entrances and exits of a park shall be separate and, where congestion is liable to occur owing to arrivals and departures taking place simultaneously, departing vehicles shall not be allowed to cross those arriving.
- (f) For parking at night, at balls, cinema theatres etc., it is advisable to enforce the duplicate ticket system described in sub-rule (4) below.

(3) For state occasions and important public functions special additional arrangements are necessary in order to secure the rapid and orderly evacuation of parks. In addition to the sub-divisions of parks prescribed in sub-rule (2) above, space must be set aside (a) for the carriages or motor cars of Their Excellencies the Viceroy, the Commander-in-Chief and the Governor if attending the function, and such other vehicles as are required to arrive and depart with them, (b) for the vehicles of Indian Ruling Chiefs and such staff as is required to arrive and depart with them. This park must be arranged in the order of departure of the Chiefs, which is invariably the exact reverse of the order of arrival, (c) for a special park for the vehicles of those high officials to whom, under general or special orders, "special park" labels have been issued in advance, conferring the privilege of arriving after and leaving before the general public. No vehicle shall be allowed to leave the general parks, till all vehicles in categories (a), (b) and (c) above have been cleared.

(4) On all occasions of the nature referred to in sub-rule (3) above, parking arrangements shall be carefully worked out well in advance; on occasions of major importance the arrangements made shall be fully rehearsed. On such occasions it is essential to arrange adequate arrival and departure platforms where a number of vehicles can set down and take up passengers simultaneously. The practice, which is permissible on informal occasions, of allowing the public to find their own vehicles in the parks, should not be followed, but numbered tickets in duplicate should be issued on arrival to the owners and drivers of vehicles. The vehicles shall be parked according to these numbers, and called up by the police officers at the departure platforms as the duplicate number tickets are handed to them, owners of unattended vehicles being allowed to fetch their vehicles from the park allotted to them to the departure platform to pick up their passengers.

28.20. Supervision of guards, beats and patrols. - (1) Standing orders for beat, point and patrol duties, and for all guards, shall be framed for each city and cantonment and shall be approved and countersigned by the Deputy Inspector-General. Such standing orders shall include directions for inter-communication between patrols beats, etc. and for checking the movement of men those on duties. Permanent changes in the system so approved shall not be made without the sanction of the Deputy Inspector-General, and minor changes made shall be submitted to that officer for approval at his inspections. English and vernacular copies or abstracts of the standing orders shall be supplied to the police stations, guards and posts concerned, and shall be kept up to date.

(2) Inspectors in charge of cities and cantonments shall go the rounds of guards, beats, points and patrols at least once by day and once by night in each week; they should vary the times and routes of their rounds and should make their night rounds as often in the second as in the first half of the night. Assistant and Deputy Superintendents shall go the rounds on the same principle at such intervals as the Superintendent may direct, subject to the general rule that the city and cantonment at the headquarters of the district shall each be patrolled by a gazetted officer not less than once by day and once by night in each month. Cities and cantonments away from the headquarters of the district shall be similarly visited by day and night by the gazetted officer or inspector in charge at such intervals as the Superintendent may direct. In districts where there are several Assistant or Deputy Superintendents posted at headquarters, all shall share the duties prescribed in this rule.

(3) Superintendents shall satisfy themselves that the orders contained in the above rules are properly complied with and Deputy Inspectors-General shall pay attention to the matter at their inspections.

28.21. Reports of sales of arms and ammunition. - (1) Licensed dealers in arms and ammunition are required to report sales to the Superintendent of Police. When sales to residents of other districts are so reported, the information shall be communicated to the Superintendent of Police of the district concerned if that district is in the Punjab or in any province other than those specified below.

(2) Reports referred to in sub-rule (1) above shall be communicated, in the case of the towns of Madras, Bombay, Calcutta and Rangoon to the Commissioner of Police and in the case of districts in Bengal and Madras to the District Magistrates.

28.22. Duties of police in connection with outbreaks of fire. - (1) It is the duty of every police officer, on discovering or receiving information of an outbreak of fire on or near his beat or patrol area, to give the alarm immediately (a) to the inmates of the premises on fire, (b) to the fire brigade, (c) to the nearest police station. Any police officer, even though not actually on duty as above shall, on becoming aware of an outbreak of fire, take the same action, if no beat or patrol officer is present and able to do so.

(2) In addition to giving the alarm, it is the duty of the police to save people in danger at the scene of the fire; to protect the premises and adjoining premises from looting; to arrange for property removed from buildings in the neighbourhood of the fire to be placed under protection in a place where it will not impede the operations of the fire brigade, and to assist in the removal of such property when asked to do so by the owners; to prevent access to the burning building and neighbouring buildings by unauthorized persons and to keep a way clear for the arrival of the fire brigade and space for its operations. The police are also required, in places where there is a piped water supply, to inform the municipal or other official in charge of such supply of the locality of the fire, so that pressure may be arranged accordingly, and to keep clear of crowds the way from all neighbouring fire hydrants to the site of the fire. Where there is no piped water supply, the police shall, pending the arrival of the fire brigade, take such steps as are possible to arrange for a supply of water.

Note. - Municipal committees are required to furnish information to Superintendents of Police of the position of water mains and fire hydrants and of places where the keys of mains are kept both by day and night.

(3) Pending the arrival of the fire brigade, the police shall do what is possible to extinguish the fire and prevent it from spreading. In serious cases the senior police officer present shall communicate information to the City Magistrate or other magistrate having jurisdiction and shall arrange, if necessary, for the attendance of a doctor or ambulance.

(4) On arrival of the fire brigade the police shall assist its operations by controlling crowds, preventing obstruction and protecting salvaged property. After the departure of the fire brigade, police shall remain on the spot till all danger of recrudescence has passed, and until all crowds have dispersed.

28.23. Fire Brigades. - (1) The duties of fire brigades are laid down in Ministry of Education notification No. 15291, published in the Punjab Government Gazette of 26th June, 1925. It is obligatory on all municipal committees, which maintain fire brigades, to appoint a fire officer to exercise general control of the operations for extinguishing fires, and no other person is authorised to exercise such control when such officer is present. The fire officer will ordinarily be the Superintendent of Police or a senior magistrate.

(2) Where a trained fire brigade exists, independently of the police, the work of fire fighting and salvage shall be left entirely to such brigade once it has reached the scene of fire. In such cases the police are not concerned with the handling or upkeep of fire appliances.

(3) In places where a separate fire brigade does not exist, the care and manipulation of fire engines and appliances supplied by the municipal committee may be undertaken by the police, with the prior sanction in each case of the Inspector-General of Police who will also decide in conformity with the instructions of the local Government, what additional police establishment, if any, shall be entertained at the cost of the committee. In such cases the Superintendent of Police shall be responsible for the training and discipline of the police officers employed on fire brigade duties, and rules for their duties and training shall be framed, with the approval of the District Magistrate and the municipal committee concerned, and conforming, as far as possible, to the rules referred to in sub-rule (1) above.

28.24. Fairs. - (1) Relevant extracts from the list of fairs appended to Punjab Consolidated Circulars 41, duly corrected up to date, shall be hung up in the offices of Superintendents of Police and of the police stations concerned. (2) The authority charged with the management of each fair is required to give timely notice to the Superintendent of Police of the nature and extent of the duties for which police will be required; on receipt of this information the Superintendent of Police shall arrange to provide the number of police which he considers necessary. District Boards and other authorities managing fairs are required to pay, from the fees levied from people attending the fair, the extra cost entailed by concentrating police, entertaining extra-chowkidars, and making suitable arrangements for the accommodation of the police both on and off duty at the fair, but should not be charged with actual pay and allowances of the police so employed.

(3) In addition to their normal duties of maintaining law and order, preventing and detecting crime and controlling traffic, the police on duty at fairs are required to enforce the sanitary regulations prescribed and to assist and support the sanitary and medical staff. In making their arrangements Superintendent of Police should provide men for this duty. All deaths occurring in the fair outside the hospital (if any) shall be reported to the medical officer in charge at the fair and to the Superintendent of Police.

(4) The officer in charge of the local police station or, if of or above the rank of sub-inspector, the officer in command of the police specially detailed for duty at the fair shall submit a daily report to the Superintendent, showing the approximate number of persons attending the fair, the crime reported, state of public health at the fair and any other matters of interest.

28.25. Town watchmen. - In certain municipal towns the police establishment is wholly, or in part, a body of town watchmen, controlled by the Superintendent subject to the general supervision of the District Magistrate. The rules regarding their appointment, promotion, dismissal, powers and duties are given in Appendix 28.25. The directions in rule 28.20 shall, so far as possible, apply to town watchmen.

- (2) The date and hour at which the enquiry will commence shall be fixed, so as to give the officers mentioned in sub-rule (1) sufficient time to reach the place where the enquiry is to be held.

20. (1) As soon as any joint or departmental enquiry has completed, the President of the Committee or the head of the department, as the case may be, shall send to the Agent or Manager a report which in the case of all accidents of the nature described in the explanation to rule 6 must be submitted in the form prescribed by sub-rule (1) of rule 9.

(2) The Agent or Manager shall forward, with his remarks as to the action it is intended to take in regard to the staff responsible for the accident, or for the revision of the rules of the system of working, a copy of such report -

- (a) to the Government Inspector for the section of the railway on which the accident occurred;
 - (b) if no enquiry or investigation has been made under rule 22 or if a joint or departmental enquiry has been held first, to the Magistrate or officer appointed under Clause (a) of sub-rule (1) of rule 19; and

21. A copy of reports of inquiries held on accidents not of the nature specified in section 83 of the Act, such as averted collisions, technical accidents, or breaches of block rules, shall be forwarded to the Government Inspector for the section of the Railway on which the accident occurred.

Duties of Magistrates.

22. Whenever an accident, such as is described in Section 83 of the Act, has occurred in the course of working a Railway the District Magistrate, or any other Magistrate, who may be appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, may, either -

- (b) depute a subordinate Magistrate, who, if possible, should be a Magistrate of the first class, to make such an enquiry; or
- (c) direct an investigation into the causes which led to the accident to be made by the police.

23. Whenever it is decided to make an enquiry under clause (a) or clause (b) of rule 22, the District Magistrate or other Magistrate appointed as aforesaid or the Magistrate deputed under clause (b) of rule 22, as the case may be, shall proceed to the scene of the accident and conduct the enquiry there, and shall at once advise the Agent or Manager of the railway and the Government Inspector by telegraph of the date and hour at which the enquiry will commence, so as to enable the railway administration to summon the requisite expert evidence.

the Magistrate should call for the opinion of the Government Inspector or other professional persons.

In summoning railway servants, the Magistrate will take care not to summon so large a number of the employees, especially of one class, on the same day, as to cause inconvenience to the working of the railway. In the case of very serious accidents it will generally be advisable for the Magistrate to obtain a report, from both the Government Inspector and the Agent or Manager of the railway, in regard to the accident, before finally concluding the judicial enquiry.

27. On the conclusion of any such judicial enquiry the Magistrate shall send a copy of his decision to the Agent or Manager of the Railway, and to the Government Inspector, and shall, unless in any case he thinks it unnecessary to do so, report the result of the enquiry to the Local Government.

31. (1) In every case to which rule 29 applies, immediate information shall be given by the Railway police to the district police, who, if so required, shall afford all necessary assistance and shall, if occasion arises, carry the investigation beyond the limits of the Railway premises. But the Railway police are primarily entrusted with the duty of carrying on the investigation within such limits.

(2) Subject to any provisions elsewhere contained in these rules, the further prosecution of the case, on the conclusion of the police investigation, shall rest with the Railway police.

32. The result of every police investigation shall be reported at once to the District Magistrate or other officer appointed in this behalf by the Local Government or the Agent or Manager of the Railway or other officer appointed by him, and to the Government Inspector.
